ICKES'S MEMO CALLS PAULEY PROPOSAL 'RAWEST EVER MADE'

SAYS CALIFORNIAN LINKED POLITICAL DONATIONS WITH TIDELANDS SUIT

Noted That Treasurer Told Him He Could Raise $300,000 From Oil Men if U.S. Did Not Press Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes this afternoon produced a memorandum to support his contention that Edwin W. Pauley had brought up the question of political contributions in connection with the Government's tideland oil suit.

The memorandum was dated Sept. 6, 1944, and in it Ickes said he had written of the Pauley conversation: "This is the rawest proposition that has ever been made to me."

Ickes appeared before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee to read from the memorandum a statement that Pauley, then treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, had said that he could raise $300,000 from California oil men if he could have a promise that the government would not seek to claim title to offshore oil lands along the United States coasts.

Pauley, who has been nominated for Under Secretary of the Navy, previously had told the committee that while he had discussed the proposed tidelands suit with Ickes, he had not linked it with any political contributions.

Pauley had said Ickes "must have misunderstood the purport of my remarks" and it was in this connection that Ickes was recalled before the committee today.

Ickes read three memoranda he said had been prepared "in the course of business" at the time, in connection with talks he had had with Pauley, a California oil man.

The last of these, dated Sept. 6, 1944, said that Pauley said he had talked with the late President Roosevelt about the tidelands suit, which subsequently was filed, and the President had referred him to Ickes. Pauley has said in his testimony that he publicly opposed filing of the suit, believing that

POLES REPORT FINDING 190,000 BODIES, SOME OF THEM YANKS, IN SILESIA

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP).

A POLISH press agency report said today that 190,000 bodies, including those of some American prisoners of war, had been found in mass graves near the Silesian city of Landinowicze (Landsdorf).

The dispatch said the bodies were believed to be those of British, American, French Moroccan and Russian prisoners of war and a large number of Polish civilians.

United States military authorities expressed keen interest in the report because numerous Americans still are unaccounted for from German prison camps. The Americans are seeking further information on the report.

SURVIVORS AWAIT RESCUE FROM SHIP ON ALASKA ROCKS

50 of Nearly 500 Saved So Far—Coast Guard Doubts Report of 20 Missing From Yukon.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Feb. 5 (AP)—Three men, rescued after they were washed overboard from the wrecked steamship Yukon, were quoted by the Ketchikan Chronicle today as saying they believed 20 persons were unaccounted for when they left the Yukon. The three, landed at Seward by an Army tug, were among 50 survivors reaching that port. report.

The Coast Guard said it had no confirmation of any casualties and expressed doubt concerning the report from Seward.

The Yukon ran aground and broke in two yesterday with approximately 500 persons aboard in Johnstone bay, about 40 miles south of Seward. Forty-seven women and children were rescued yesterday by power boats from the Coast Guard cutter Onondaga, before the Yukon broke in two.

The Onondaga took them to Seward today. Some of them became hysterical after the rescue and it was decided to land them rather than stand by to assist in further rescue attempts.

Coast Guard authorities reported the Yukon's bow section, including the salon deck, was hard and fast on the rocks and all remaining survivors were believed to be aboard that section.

Coast Guard headquarters in Seattle said that the cutter Cedar was attempting the removal of passengers from the Yukon today while other vessels were standing by in gradually subsiding seas awaiting their turn at rescue attempts.

The three survivors taken to Seward by the Army tug were reported in good condition, although they had been washed against a cliff by heavy seas before the tug crew rescued them. They were identified as Sgt. Jack Reinhold, Charles D. Schrivener, junior purser of the Yukon, and Robert D. Bassette, the Yukon's storekeeper.

The Yukon, in addition to other passengers and a crew of 125, was carrying some 195 officers and men from Fort Richardson, bound home for separation. The ship was enroute from Seward to Seattle.

In addition to the Cedar, at or near the scene were the Army transport Brig. Gen. M. G. Za-

TOBEY CHARGES OIL MAN PLACED HIS 'POCKETBOOK ABOVE THE PUBLIC'

Asserts 'That Alone Is More Than Enough to Disqualify Pauley From a Position of Trust in the Government.'

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—When the Senate Naval Affairs Committee today resumed its hearings on the fitness of Edwin W. Pauley for nder Secretary of the Navy, Senator Charles W. Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, bitterly denounced assertions of another committee member that there was nothing wrong or improper in Pauley's activities on oil matters while a high officer of the Democratic National Committee.

He had reference to the statement at yesterday's session by Senator Millard Tydings (Dem.), Maryland, that the inquiry was leading nowhere, that the evidence merely indicated Pauley had expressed his views on subjects of interest to him as a business man, and that he had every right to do so.

"I want to clear up my position before we proceed any further," Tobey said, for once shouting down Senator Tydings, who hasn't missed a session and has fluttered about in protection of Pauley like a distraught mother hen.

"I wish to state now," said Senator Tobey, standing and talking in a strong, sure voice, "as forcefully as I can, that I think the weight of evidence here will show that Mr. Pauley did do everything in his power to prevent the United States Government from seeking an orderly, judicial determination of the valuable tidelands, and that, when the suit was filed despite his efforts, he did everything he could in furtherance of legislation that would prevent the court from ruling on the matter—although he said again and again he would be 'delighted' to have the court make a ruling.

Pauley's Activity "Improper."

"I want to say as emphatically as I can that I believe with all my heart, and I think the American people will agree with me, that it was highly improper and wrong, very wrong, for a highly influential Democratic politician to seek to prevent the United States Government from filing that suit and to try to prevent the court from deciding it, once it had been instituted, through passage of the quitclaim legislation.

"Mr. Pauley has said frankly that his motivating influence in these activities with respect to tidelands oil was 'self-preservation,' or at least he later said he had a very personal and selfish interest in it.

"It is my sincere belief that the preservation of the oil resources of this great country should be given precedence by any high, influential Democratic politician or anyone else over their own admitted selfish interests of self-preservation in business matters.

"I do not believe that any of my colleagues here would place their own party affiliations or party interests above the public interest, and I think the overwhelming evidence here is that

Woman on Sitdown in Hotel Lobby; Won't Talk, Won't Eat, Won't Move

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Miami Beach's one-woman "sit-down strike"—by a Brooklyn visitor who refused to be ousted from the Essex House, a hotel—entered its third day today with the woman still cool and poised and the manager a baffled man.

The woman maintained her silent vigil through the night, camping in the lobby and ignoring all questions.

"I don't know, but I think she's outsmarting us," was the comment of Irving Herrmann, the manager.

Smartly groomed, about 37 years old, the visitor arrived in Miami Friday night and obtained a one-night reservation at the hotel. Hermann said she registered as Mrs. H. Epstein of Brooklyn.

Saturday, when the hotel informed her that she would have to move elsewhere, the woman moved her bags into the lobby—and sat.

William G. Mechanic, the hotel owner, said the woman refused food when it was brought to her and threw it on the floor.

"The police said they couldn't do anything unless I signed a warrant. I didn't want to do that," Mechanic said. "I called a rabbi, and he tried to reason with her. She wasn't interested. When I asked her if there was anything I could do, she replied, 'Nothing.'"

Herrmann said he had been trying for two days and nights to reach the woman's home in Brooklyn by telephone, but had failed to get an answer.

"She just sits there," he said, and added, "If she's happy, I guess we're happy, too."

WHITE HOUSE AID PREDICTS CHANGE IN PRICE POLICY TO SETTLE STRIKES

Announcement Expected by Tomorrow—Bowles and Snyder Reported Nearer Agreement on Controls.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—An Administration decision that the nation can afford to pay some higher prices in return for industrial peace and all-out production appeared in the making today.

A high Government official, who cannot be identified further, predicted the White House would issue an announcement today or tomorrow, detailing changes in the present "hold the line" price policy.

Although the modification will be aimed primarily at settlement of the 15-day-old steel strike, this official said, its terms will apply also to other major industries involved in wage disputes.

Key figure in any such revision of President Truman's wage-price orders is OPA Administrator Chester Bowles, who presumably outlined his position to the President in a 50-minute conference yesterday.

Bowles, Snyder Disagree.

Bowles, it is understood, argued for an across-the-board policy change, as against "flexible" price control advocated by Reconversion Director John W. Snyder. Bowles and Snyder reportedly were assigned by Truman to work out a steel price formula which would enable the industry to settle its wage dispute with the CIO.

Bowles has contended that any special concession on prices for the steel industry would start a series of "emergency" concessions which would threaten OPA's whole system of price controls.

There were indications that Bowles was beginning to win Snyder over at least in part to his views. One White House official told a reporter Snyder now is "inclined favorably" to Bowles's argument and that the two men seemingly have reached a working agreement.

This official, who said he expected the approaching White House announcement to represent a "substantial revision" of the wage-price policy, added that its net effect should not be drastic.

Collet Approval Required.

The point was made that Stabilization Director John Caskie Collet still will have to pass on requests for many price rises and that these requests will be screened carefully.

In this connection, one official in a position to know said Collet recently had made known to Snyder that he was lined up with Bowles on the matter of prices.

STATE AUTO LICENSE PLATE DEADLINE SET FOR FEB. 25

Last Day for Purchase of St. Louis City Stickers Will Be Feb. 15.

Monday, Feb. 25, will be the last day for the purchase of state motor vehicle license plates, Secretary of State Wilson Bell announced today. Drivers must obtain 1946 license plates by midnight of that date. License Collector Frank A. Britton announced the deadline for purchase of city license stickers will be midnight Feb. 15.

License sales to date are ahead of the corresponding period last year, enabling the Secretary of State to fix a comparatively early closing date. The records of the motor vehicle department are in condition to assure purchasers of prompt service, Bell stated.

Car owners are urged to buy licenses at once, to avoid a last-minute rush. The downtown office is at 420 North Fourth street; the St. Louis county office at 20 North Central avenue, Clayton.

MAKER OF NYLONS URGES WOMEN TO AID IN SHORTAGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Roy E. Tilles, president of Gotham Hosiery Co., said the stocking shortage in nylons and rayons would continue for at least another year unless women undertook a voluntary conservation program.

He said every woman must limit herself to one pair a month and refuse to patronize "hole-in-corner sources" for nameless hosiery at exorbitant prices.

He added the full-fashioned hosiery industry currently was working at about 60 per cent of capacity with about 30,000,000 pairs a month being made against the 48,000,000 pairs bought by the public before the war.

UNION REFUSES REQUEST TO TURN IN KEYS AND PICK UP PAY CHECKS

15 AFL Locals to Discuss 'Co-operative Action'—Three of Schools Which Were Open Yesterday Closed Today.

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine)

More than 70,000 of St. Louis's 90,000 public school students remained without educational facilities today as the strike of 392 custodians and matrons spread to more of the city's 137 public schools, most of which closed yesterday.

Prospects of an early settlement of the wage dispute between the AFL Custodians' and Matrons' Union and the Board of Education were dimmed today when the board flatly rejected Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann's offer to appoint a conciliation or arbitration board. The union accepted the offer.

Charges and counter-charges continued to be hurled by both sides, the board contending the main issue is whether "the people or a labor union shall rule the schools" and the union asserting the board is attempting to "bust the union."

New Closings of Three Schools.

All but three of the schools which were closed yesterday remained shut today, principally because of lack of heat, while three of those which held classes yesterday closed their doors today—two because they were without heat, and the third, Roosevelt high school, because sanitary facilities apparently had been "sabotaged" by students.

It was announced this afternoon by the Board of Education that Roosevelt and Beaumont High Schools will resume classes tomorrow.

Building Commissioner Joseph P. Sullivan said 38 schools "have their doors open" with at least a matron on duty, but classes were being held in only 21 elementary and special schools and eight high schools.

About 200 members of the custodians' union voted at a special meeting today to ignore a request contained in a special delivery letter from Mervyn E. Wienthaupt, secretary-treasurer of the school board, to pick up their salary checks at the Board of Education offices today and turn in their keys to the school buildings.

Union officers said they viewed the request as a "union busting" move because a school board rule provides for termination of employment when keys are surrendered. They instructed the custodians to telephone the board and ask that their checks be mailed to them.

By noon, however, about 20 custodians called at the board for their checks, and seven head custodians turned in keys.

The union approved also the action of officers in accepting Mayor Kaufmann's offer to arbitrate.

Position on Arbitration.

In a telegram to the mayor, T. J. Dwyer, vice president of the AFL Building Service Employes' Union, with which the custodians' union is affiliated, stated the board "should not fear arbitration if their position on the issues is as sound as contended."

"We, like yourself, deplore the present situation and necessity for its creation," his telegram continued. "The strike was resorted to only after the issues were denied just consideration and our members subjected to coercion, intimidation and belittlement by officers of the board, paid publicity drafted by professional experts."

He said the Mayor's offer to appoint a chairman of a three or five-man arbitration board, with the other members selected by the union and board, was acceptable.

ALDERMEN DROP OWN RESTAURANT BILL FOR MAYOR'S

Committee Decides to Support Measure Providing for Grading of Eating Places.

The special restaurant sanitation committee of the Board of Aldermen has decided to abandon the clean restaurant bill prepared by it and back a new bill proposed by Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, which will be introduced in the Board of Aldermen Friday, it was learned today. Committee support of the administration measure, which is modeled on the standard ordinance recommended by the United States Public Health Service, should assure its passage.

After viewing the Post-Dispatch photograph of rats feeding at Gallina's Italian Restaurant, 1700 Chestnut street, Dr. Joseph F. Bredeck, city health commissioner, pointed out that under present city ordinances the owner could only be "asked to co-operate" in cleaning up this menace to health. Health inspectors were sent to the restaurant today, he said, to request that the infestation of rats be ended.

Under the Mayor's proposed clean restaurant bill, Dr. Bredeck said, the restaurant owner could be ordered to clean up the prem-

DOWNTOWN AREA SHUTTLE BUSSES PROPOSED BY P.S.CO.

Straight 5-Cent Fare Would Be Charged for Service to Garages.

The Public Service Co. today filed application with the Board of Public Service for permission to establish two bus routes in the downtown area to provide service for customers of outlying parking lots and garages to the business district.

The company proposed that a straight 5-cent cash fare be charged both adults and children. No transfers would be issued or accepted, and none of the passes issued by the company could be used on the special service busse. Seven green-painted busses would be put in operation between 7:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

Routes of the new bus lines would be comparatively short. The north-south route would have its southern terminus at Twelfth boulevard and Walnut street. It would go north to Market street, east to Eleventh street, south to Walnut, east to Seventh street, north to Delmar boulevard, and west to Fifteenth street. The east-west route would extend from Seventeenth and Chestnut streets north over Seventeenth to Locust street and east on Locust to Fourth.

Milton M. Kinsey, president of the Board of Public Service, today asked the company to investigate the possibility of instituting bus service on Natural Bridge road to Lambert-St. Louis Field.

NEW TRUCK TIE-UP THREATENED BY HANDLERS' STRIKE

'Unauthorized Holiday' Starts, May Hit 93 Long-Haul Firms—Peace Effort Goes On.

A strike of union freight handlers, voted today, threatened to tie up 93 long-haul motor freight firms, which resumed operations Jan. 25 following settlement of the 18-day truck drivers' strike.

The freight handlers and dockmen, members of AFL Teamsters' & Chauffeurs' Local 600, voted the strike in support of a demand for a wage increase of 10 cents an hour at a meeting at union headquarters, 4111 Forest Park avenue. Men who attended the meeting voted not to return to their jobs and those not in attendance will be notified of the action.

The union originally demanded a 25-cent hourly wage increase but reduced its request at a conciliation meeting this morning. The operators' committee rejected the lower figure, it was understood.

A check of some of the trucking firms disclosed that in some instances only part of the freight handling crews had gone to the union meeting and those men remaining behind were still working. At other firms the freight crews were missing and it was presumed they had attended the meeting.

Long haul operators agreed that the strike would definitely halt their operations. "We had not begun to dent the accumulation of freight, which piled up during the

DROP IN TEMPERATURE TO 25, WIND, RAIN ON WAY TO CITY

Snow Likely Tonight, Weather Man Says—Cold Moving in From Montana.

Woolen scarves and ear muffs will be in order again tomorrow, for the temperature is expected to drop from the 60s to about 25 degrees by tomorrow morning, Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said today.

The approaching cold spell, due to a high pressure area with a cold air mass moving down from Montana, will probably be accompanied by high winds and a rainstorm which may change to snow late tonight, he added. The thermometer is not expected to rise above the freezing point tomorrow, although it may climb to the lower 40s again by Thursday afternoon.

A dust storm, reminiscent of the storms of the last decade, swirled through Kansas and parts of western Missouri today in advance of the cold wave, the weather bureau reported.

Charges Club Women Are Duped To 'Pour the Heat' on Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—America's women's clubs were described by Representative Shafer (Rep.), Michigan, today as "important cogs in the New Deal's great propaganda machine."

A majority of the members are "unaware of the fact," he said in a statement, adding that "phony charges are generally used to stir the women into action."

"Whenever the Administration desires to 'put over' any highly controversial legislation, 40 or 50 members of the Committee on Women in World Affairs are summoned, entertained and instructed," Shafer said.

"A few days following such schools of instruction letters demanding support of the Administration's proposal pour over the desks of Congressmen in Washington."

Shafer said Congressmen "are anticipating a deluge of mail" from club women as the result of a meeting here between Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson and representatives of 12 national women's organizations, representing more than 1,000,000 members. He contended Acheson told the women to "pour on the heat" in support of the proposed $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain.

Shafer said he was opposed to the loan.

Strikes in Brief

Schools—Striking St. Louis public school custodians and matrons accept, Board of Education rejects Mayor's offer of arbitration of dispute which has closed most of city's 137 public schools.

Shipping—Federal seizure of tugboat operations in New York harbor forecast as striking AFL workers reject Mayor O'Dwyer's settlement program.

Steel—Announcement expected from White House, high government official says, detailing changes in present "hold the line" price policy, aimed primarily at settlement of steel strike.

Automotive—General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers plan to resume discussions; Federal mediator says union's wage demand may be topic for talk, along with other controversial issues.

ICKES SAYS "NO OIL MAN SHOULD BE PARTY TREASURER"

the states own the oil in question.

With Pauley sitting nearby, Ickes read from the memorandum a statement that Pauley has said he could raise $300,000 from oil men with interests in the tideland, if they could be promised that no suit would be brought. Ickes said in previous testimony that Pauley had suggested the money be raised for the Democratic party campaign fund.

Ickes's memorandum said that he had protested that a "scandal" might arise if he did not push the suit and attempt to obtain title for the Government.

At that point Ickes read solemnly:

"This is the rawest proposition that has ever been made to me. I don't intend to smear my oil record at this stage of the game."

When Chairman Walsh (Dem.), Massachusetts, asked if this was Ickes own comment, as part of the memorandum, the Cabinet member said it was.

The memorandum went on to say, Ickes continued, that "no oil man ought to be treasurer of the Democratic National Committee."

Wants Sinclair Questioned.

A short time earlier, Senator Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, demanded that Harry Sinclair, New York oil man, be requested to appear before the Naval Committee in connection with its consideration of the Pauley nomination.

Tobey, who has been questioning Pauley two days, explained he wanted to question Sinclair about Pauley's "fitness or unfitness" for the Navy post. He asked that Sinclair appear with any records in his possession concerning political campaign contributions by himself or members of his family.

FEDERAL SEIZURE OF TUGS EXPECTED IN NEW YORK TIE-UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — Government seizure of strike-bound tugboats in New York harbor was forecast for today by city and federal spokesmen unless a last-minute accord was reached to halt the tieup of commercial shipping in the world's busiest port.

Members of the striking United Marine Division of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association last night rejected a settlement program offered by Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Meanwhile, on another section of the city's labor front, the greater New York CIO Council, which claims to represent 600,000 union members in the New York metropolitan area, called a two-hour work stoppage for Monday of all CIO members in the city except those engaged in "vital" services.

The demonstration was called in support of the month-old strike of the CIO American Communications Association against the Western Union Telegraph Co. Exempt from participation are CIO members engaged in light, heat, power, transit, newspaper, news service and health occupations.

MRS. ROOSEVELT REFUGEE PLAN MEETS RUSSIAN OPPOSITION

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, on behalf of the United States, proposed today that the United Nations Organization's refugee program be referred to the Economic and Social Council. She urged that it include a recommendation that "no uprooted persons, if they object to returning to their country of origin, shall be compelled to do so."

This provision met Russian opposition and Mrs. Roosevelt, at a session of the Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee, agreed to the chairman's proposal that a subcommittee try to reach a compromise.

PARIS TERRIFIED BY RADIO HOAX ON ATOMS GONE WILD

Realistic Account of Wave of Disintegration Crossing Ocean Causes Alarm.

By PAUL GHALI

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1946.

PARIS, Feb. 5—The resignation of Claude Bourdet, young chief of France's official radio network, is demanded today by an indignant Paris press.

Bourdet, the son of the playwright Edouard Bourdet and a hero of France's resistance movement, is held responsible for the radio hoax which last night reduced Paris to a state of acute terror.

Numerous cases of sudden death, madness and serious accidents resulted from the radio-induced panic which afforded a totally conclusive test of the state of nerves to which the French people have succumbed.

The hoax, which had the realistic gruesomeness of Orson Welles's famous "invasion from Mars" broadcast in America in 1937, concerned experiments with atomic disintegration reputedly made on the Pacific coast of the United States. The professor carrying on the experiments was said to have lost control of his apparatus and the French were warned that a wave of atomic disintegration, rolling over the Atlantic Ocean, was coming toward France.

Such was the realism of the broadcast that the speaker ceased to talk for a few seconds as if he had fallen victim to distintegration himself.

When the silence was broken, the announcement came that the whole thing was a joke and that its perpetrator was Jean Nocher. Subsequent announcements every quarter hour, however, failed to bring the agitated listeners out of their cellars or to stop the mad telephoning to the radio center or the police stations.

An irritated mob invaded the Paris boulevards, shouting indignantly against the authorities, and radio station headquarters on the Champs Elysees had to be protected by the Army.

PROBATION FOR THREE BOYS IN SCHOOL VANDALISM CASE

Three boys who were committed to Bellefontaine Farms Friday for their part in wrecking classrooms of the Fremont School Jan. 6, were placed on probation yesterday by Circuit Judge Michael J. Scott.

Judge Scott said his action was taken after a juvenile court probationary officer had worked out a program of rehabilitation for the boys. Those committed to Bellefontaine Farms were the 13-year-old leader of the vandals, together with a 14-year-old and a 15-year-old.

The two youngest boys have been paroled to the Rev. Edward J. Donahue, St. Agnes Catholic Church, 1933 Sidney street; the eldest to the Rev. F. W. Welch of Nazarene Church, 2800 Salena street. Each will be expected to report to Parole Officer Joseph Hugge over a period of a year. Five other boys who helped destroy the school property are being held at the House of Detention.

TRUMAN AND CABINET MEET; GRAIN FOR EUROPE DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman met for an hour today with his Cabinet at a session an aid said was largely devoted to the critical need for wheat and other grains in liberated Europe. The entire Cabinet had lunch with the President.

Assistant Press Secretary Eben Ayers told reporters the Cabinet discussed food for Europe among other things, but said he didn't know what else was discussed.

Asked specifically about the steel strike and Administration efforts to formulate a price for steel, Ayers said he could not say whether that subject was discussed.

TWO ST. LOUISANS TO GREET BRITISH WIVES HERE TODAY

British wives of two St. Louis former service men will be reunited with their husbands this afternoon, following arrival by train from New York where they arrived yesterday aboard the liner Argentina.

James M. Little, 2727 Russell boulevard, will greet his wife, Betty Doreen Little, and their 15-month-old son, James M. Jr. Little, a railroad yard clerk, met his wife when she was a nurse in a British Army hospital. They were married shortly before he went to France in the invasion. He was wounded in action, spent 13 months in hospitals, and last saw his wife a year ago. Members of Little's family will be on hand with him at Union Station. Little is a former private first class.

Arriving on the same train with Mrs. Little and son will be Mrs. Jeanne DeOmar Bender, wife of Arthur H. Bender, 6452 Alamo avenue, Clayton. FRENCH VOTE EMERGENCY POWERS FOR BUDGET CUTS

PARIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Constituent Assembly gave President Felix Gouin's Government emergency procedural powers today for effecting huge budget reductions as part of France's "battle to save the franc."

The action followed a cabinet meeting at which agreement was reached in Finance Minister Andre Philip's program to lop 100 billion francs from the nation's 1946 budget to help meet a 300 billion franc deficit. (Under the new exchange rate, 119 francs equal one dollar.)

The assembly voted 414 to 108 for a procedure whereby a budget slash can be made by recommendation of the Assembly Finance Commission if agreed to by the cabinet. The government equally can make recommendations which would become effective on acceptance by the Finance Commission. In case the two disagree, the assembly will decide.

1675 JOBS LISTED IN WEEK; 922 FOR WOMEN, 753 FOR MEN

Job orders for 1675 workers were received last week, it was reported by the United States Employment Service office in St. Louis today.

The increase over 1304 new job openings reported during the previous week was attributed by USES officials to the "Jobs for Veterans" campaign in which volunteers are making a canvass of job openings in St. Louis and St. Louis county. The new job openings, however, represent more opportunities for women than for men; 922 are for women and 753 for men.

Job placements during the week totaled 865, as compared to 807 for the week before. Referrals to 3078 job openings were made by the USES during the week. The USES reporeed it still has 5840 unfilled job openings on file.

ICKES ASSAILS COASTAL OIL BILL; ATTORNEYS GENERAL

By GEORGE H. HALL

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Vigorous opposition to pending legislation which would renounce federal claim to oil-bearing tidelands was expressed today by Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes.

Appearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Ickes attacked the action taken by 46 state attorneys general in supporting quitclaim legislation which already has passed the House.

He said sarcastically he had no doubt most of the state attorneys general "are thoroughly learned men," but "I should think that the Congress, as well as the courts, would be suspicious of a legal argument conducted along the lines of a bathing beauty contest."

18 Resolutions, All Alike.

"And I certainly think," Ickes continued, "that it should be wary when some 18 resolutions, in identical language, are presented to it and when the press has reported that the man who so busily drafted and peddled this legislation is being paid not only by the State of California but by the oil companies."

Ickes was the first witness as the hearings opened in the ornate District of Columbia committee room. The graceful marble mantel, before which Chairman Pat McCarran (Dem.), Nevada, was seated at the head of a long table, and the huge crystal and silver chandelier suspended from the vaulted ceiling, were a contrast in their dignity beside the throng of spectators who pushed and shoved into the chamber.

Ickes, who read a statement, was interrupted once by McCarran, who rapped for order with an ash tray and said: "You'll have to desist from audible language back there," referring to the crowd in the doorway.

Suggests Amendment.

Ickes recalled that he had been accused of "all sorts of sinister designs to capture harbors and port facilities," and offered an amendment to the legislation which, he said, would remove all possible apprehension by the inland states and port authorities, and would leave to the Supreme Court the issue of the submerged coastal lands, which is now pending before it.

"If the committee really believes that I am determined upon a conquest of the inland navigable waters, then I am quite content for it to go ahead and quitclaim to the states and their grantees all submerged lands beneath navigable rivers, streams, lakes, harbors and bays," Ickes said.

Following the reading of his testimony, Ickes made his way out of the room in time to avoid cross-examination by Senator Wherry (Rep.), Nebraska. Wherry arrived late. When he had read a copy of the statement as far as the suggested amendment, he declared that what Ickes really was doing was offering a compromise, that he was contradicting himself, and that his position should be clarified. Ickes was not called back.

Oil Man Appears.

McCarran asked if there were any other witnesses who wished to testify against the proposal, and Robert L. Jordan, a California oil man, presented himself with the complaint that after traveling 3000 miles to get to the hearing the room was so crowded he was unable to get his portfolios through the door.

"Make way for Mr. Jordan," McCarran said, and while the Californian went out to get his documents, his lawyer, Orin DeMotte Walker of Washington, D. C., took the stand.

Walker read a lengthy and involved brief, attempting to prove that the Government holds title to the tidelands at the present time by reason of the manner in which California was admitted to the union.

"The Government neither accepted nor rejected the Constitution of California," Walker said.

"What did we do?" asked Wherry.

"We just let 'em in," Walker replied.

"Well," broke in McCarran, "maybe California isn't a state. If it is not, we'll certainly extend the lines of Nevada to include it."

When the ensuing laughter had subsided, Walker completed the reading of his statement and said that the joint resolution, as passed by the House, "seeks to favor certain states to the damage of other states."

McCarran said the committee would permit Jordan to talk for an hour, despite his plea that he had so much material with him he "could consume a week."

Refused a Lease by Ickes.

Jordan is one of two persons who applied to Ickes for leases off the California coast on the theory the Government now has title. Ickes refused, and the applicants took their cases to the courts. The courts declined to interfere with Ickes's decision.

Ickes mentioned this matter in his testimony, stating he defended the suits because "until the title issue was decided in an appropriate judicial proceeding, neither I nor anyone else could say whether the Federal Government or California owned the lands or the oil in them."

In his statement, Ickes defined the tidelands as generally the area from mean hightide oceanward to the three-mile limit and estimated there were proved reserves of 150 million barrels of oil in this area which should be preserved for possible use in a war emergency.

Citing doubts as to the true legal ownership of the tidelands, Ickes said he reversed his earlier position based on the theory of state ownership and began to press for a judicial solution.

Explaining his change of front, Ickes, who seldom looked up from the pages he was reading, said he had taken an oath to do his duty, and had not sworn to be always right or to refrain from changing his mind. He never attempted to resolve the question of law, he said, but simply refused to renounce any claims the United States might have.

"It has always seemed to me to be a legal question, not appropriate for either legislative or executive decision, but exactly the sort of question which the federal courts were created by the Constitution to decide," he said.

Ickes noted that the "obvious purpose" of the state attorneys general in their campaign to put over the legislation was to evade a decision by the Supreme Court. He said that if the lands are given to the states, California, as history indicates, will use it up as fast as it can be produced and will not save any for the future.

"I for one," he said, "am not prepared ever to say that it is wise to allow oil companies to extract submerged oil, in the avid pursuit of this year's profits, when the obvious and highest use of that oil is to hold it as a reserve for the incalculable, and perhaps desperate, defense needs of the future."

VARDAMAN FACES SENATE INQUIRY ON RESERVE POST

Banking Subcommittee to Hold Hearings on St. Louisan—Delay on Allen Appointment.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—An inquiry into former business and banking activities of Commodore James K. Vardaman of St. Louis, President Truman's naval aide, was voted today by the Senate Banking Committee.

Vardaman has been nominated for a 14-year term as a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System. The inquiry was requested by Senators Donnell (Rep.), Missouri, and Taft (Rep.), Ohio, and was supported by a 7-to-4 vote.

A subcommittee to be named later will conduct the closed-door investigation.

The full committee delayed action on appointment of a second presidential adviser, George E. Allen, to a two-year term as a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Donnell Suggests Hearing.

When the nomination of Vardaman was reached, Donnell, who is not a committee member, stepped forward and said that "certain matters" had reached his attention which should "cause a hearing to be held" and asked if acting Chairman Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, desired a statement then.

Taft broke in to say the Vardaman nomination was the "most important" on the long list because it involved a 14-year-term at $15,000 annually. He said the charges involved "five or six witnesses in St. Louis" and suggested that the subcommittee be appointed to look into them in detail at "executive hearings."

"The charges may be wrong or right," Taft said, adding that the closed hearings would "avoid publicity."

Hearing in St. Louis Objected To.

Donnell said the hearings "would involve perhaps 10 witnesses with most of them located in St. Louis."

He suggested that a subcommittee could go to St. Louis for the hearings but this brought an objection from Senators Bankhead (Dem.), Alabama, and Barkley.

Taft and Donnell said the charges involved the Vardaman Shoe Co. and the Tower Grove Trust Co., both of St. Louis.

"The full committee may not wish to look into all these details, including the receivership of the Vardaman Shoe Co.," Taft said.

Barkley then called for a show of hands on the proposal for an executive subcommittee session and announced the vote as 7 to 4.

"I'll appoint the subcommittee later," Barkley said.

Vardaman, who was present at the hearing, is a former president of the Tower Grove Trust Co.

Tobey Says Pauley Put 'Pocketbook Above Public'

this nominee, Mr. Pauley, did place his pocketbook above the public welfare.

"I believe that alone is more than enough to disqualify him for a position of trust in the Government, and that for this reason it is incredibly cynical for anyone to say, 'Where is this inquiry leading to, and what does it matter?'

"Also Mr. Pauley's initial testimony has been contradicted by a number of witnesses in whose integrity I believe, and this raises the important point of Mr. Pauley's personal veracity. I'm sure that all of my colleagues agree with me that the question of his veracity, his truthfulness and trustworthiness is most significant in this matter of his confirmation."

During the interrogation that followed this statement, Pauley, who resumed the witness chair, declared once more that his attempts to put over a deal with Mexico for oil production were motivated solely by patriotic impulses. The project was ultimately blocked by the State Department because it did not provide for competitive bids, because some of its terms were considered harsh, and because it did not conform to departmental policy.

"Project Very Close to My Heart."

"That project," Pauley said, "was very close to my heart."

"Your heart?" Senator Tobey asked, as the packed committee room broke into a loud laughter. Tobey previously had said the Pauley project was very close to Pauley's pocketbook.

Pauley conceded, under further questioning, that in his trips to Moscow and Tokyo as United States reparations commissioner with the personal rank of ambassador, he had taken with him a number of oil men "because I knew them and valued their advice." He also said his company was financially interested in various oil projects in association with the Standard Oil Co. of California.

One of the men he took with him to Moscow, J. Howard Marshall, was identified as onetime member of the Los Angeles law firm that represents Standard Oil.

Pauley was asked by Senator Tobey to tell the committee now, having promised to get the facts last week, how much he paid for the Colinga Nose tract of land in California which he later sold to Standard for a million and a half dollars. It has been charged at the hearings that about the time he sold the land he switched his position on a state conservation bill from opposition to support, in conformance with the position of Standard.

"I'm sorry," said Pauley. "I still haven't been able to find out how much I paid for the land originally or how long I held it. I'll have the figures for you tomorrow."

Morse Helps in Questioning.

Senator Wayne Morse (Rep.), Oregon, took an active part in the questioning, a task that previously had fallen almost solely on the shoulders of Senator Tobey. In the calm, scholastic manner which characterizes his conduct in the committee room, Morse outlined what he considered to be the issue:

Did Pauley, in raising funds for the Democratic party, when he was treasurer of the National Committee, serve a double purpose in fattening his own purse as well as the campaign chest, by leading California oil men to believe that he could protect their interests in the tidelands oil?

Pauley, who has been a cool, collected witness, took this line of inquiry with deep and obvious concern. He chewed vigorously on the ear pieces of his glasses. His naturally ruddy complexion took on a more crimson hue. He glanced to his left where Senator Tydings was sitting. If he sought from Tydings a clue on the tactic to be adopted, he didn't get it.

Tydings, whom Tobey had accused of "protecting" the witness, gazed fixedly at the ceiling .

This phase of the examination wound up ultimately with a suggestion from Tydings that the committee get from official sources a statement of contributions made in 1940 and 1944 to the campaign funds of both the Democratic and Republican National Committees. Pauley said he was having such a statement prepared.

Pauley has an attorney present at the hearings to advise him, Max O'Rell Truitt, former St. Louisan and a son-in-law of Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley. During recesses Pauley and Truitt often consult in Barkley's office near the committee room.

TRACK REMOVAL FOR RIVERFRONT AREA FEASIBLE, ENGINEER FINDS

S. B. May Suggests Some Major Changes in Third Street Plan as Tentatively Agreed on by City and Terminal.

A $15,000,000 plan for removal of elevated and surface railroad tracks from the riverfront memorial area and construction of an intricate system of tracks and highways along Third street was pronounced "entirely feasible" from an engineering point of view in a report submitted today by Samuel B. May, consulting engineer. May, who was retained by the city and the Terminal Railroad, has had the project under study since September 1944.

Tentative agreement on the plan, which would solve the long-controverted problem of eliminating the unsightly elevated tracks along the riverfront and pave the way for development and beautification of the Jefferson Memorial site, was reached between the city and the Terminal in August 1944.

A main condition, however, on which the Terminal based its approval was that the proposal be found practical from an engineering standpoint Appointment of May followed. He is senior partner of C. E. Smith & Co.

Modifications and Costs.

May's study, while approving the plan as a whole, offers several major modifications, "in order to perform all the functions contemplated in the preliminary plan, and also to provide for standard railroad operating clearances and reasonable railroad grades."

The cost estimate of $15,000,000 is reduced to $12,750,000 on the basis of May's study of the original plan. However, with modifications suggested in the survey, the over-all cost would rise to a maximum of $19,335,000, of which $14,985,000 would be for rail construction and $4,350,000 for highway construction. The cost without the proposed modifications would be $9,900,000 for rail construction and $2,850,000 for highways.

It was pointed out that costs could range anywhere between the high and low figures, depending on which of the various modifications, if any, are finally adopted.

In a covering letter to Milton M. Kinsey, president of the Board of Public Service, May suggested that his report be studied by parties concerned, after which a conference should be held at which a definite selection could be made on proposed modifications.

The basic plan, approved by the engineer, calls for a three-track railroad tunnel under Third street and an adjoining through highway tunnel which would connect with three interregional highways to the north and south, planned by the Federal Bureau of Roads.

Main Suggested Alteration.

May's principal suggestion with respect to this part of the proposal is that the railroad tunnel be under the east side of Third, rather than the west, and that the highway tunnel be under the west side. He points out that the railroad tunnel, necessarily deeper than the highway tunnel, would obstruct important sewer lines from the downtown area to the river. The shallower highway tunnel would not interfere with this drainage.

Construction of the tunnels would be simplified by removal of the Old Cathedral from the northeast to the southwest corner of Third and Walnut streets, but removal of this landmark is not essential to the plan, the report states.

On the north, trains would connect with the new tunnel by a new elevated route, running from First and Carr streets to a point east of Third street and Washington avenue, where it would cross the Eads Bridge rail line at grade. There would be connections from this new route into the old Washington avenue-Eighth street tunnel, both from the north and south.

May suggests a change in the crossing at Eads Bridge, by which the tracks would go under the rail line into the tunnel rather than at grade. While costing considerably more, this change would expedite rail traffic both east-west and north-south, and also would make more feasible later construction of a passenger station on the north-south line at Olive street or Washington avenue.

On the south, the new rail tunnel would curve from Third and Spruce streets to a point just east of Broadway and south of Poplar street, and continue from there west in an open cut, along Poplar, to a connection at Eleventh street with lines to the Eighth street tunnel, to MacArthur Bridge and to Union Station.

The highway tunnel under Third street, on the north, would start to rise at Pine street and would cross above the Eads Bridge approach, continuing north on an elevated structure. On the south it would start to rise at Spruce and would connect with two overhead routes. There would be ramps near each end of the memorial area connecting the elevated highways with Third street above the tunnel.

Other conditions on which Terminal Railroad approval of the plan is based are that Federal, state and city governments and the railroads agree on type of construction and character of materials to be used; granting of permanent rights to the railroads to use streets and other public property, and distribution of cost of the railroad relocation among interested parties on the basis of benefits to each. No decision has been reached with respect to these conditions, most of which hinge on engineering approval of the basic plan.

After Auto Hit Three in Safety Zone

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

Police and an ambulance driver prepare to remove three persons who were struck by an automobile in a safety zone at Olive street and Twelfth boulevard.

Men's Clothing Makers Gaining, But Need Year to Meet Demand

Record 28 Million Suits Expected in 1946—OPA Relaxes Average Price Rule in Move to Relieve Shirt Shortage.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—The men's clothing industry is gradually working itself out of one of the greatest shortages in history.

"More men will get more clothing from here in, but it will take at least 12 months to catch up with demand and rebuild inventories," the International Statistical Bureau said today.

Suit deliveries have picked up steadily since the beginning of 1946, industry sources agreed. They estimate present output at 1,500,000 to more than 2,000,000 suits a month and expect to turn out about 28,000,000 this year, more than in any previous year.

Normally it takes 21,000,000 suits annually to clothe the men of the nation. Currently the demand is estimated at twice that number because of the needs of returning veterans, depleted inventories and increased purchasing power.

While demand has mounted progressively, production dropped off during the war from a record output of 24,400,000 suits in 1941 to about 14,000,000 in 1945. Because of that, the bureau's survey said, inventories were reduced by more than 7,500,000 suits before the start of 1945 and have been falling rapidly ever since.

Two factors described by the industry as "aggravations" remain. Some suit makers are holding up shipment of all or part of their production in the hope of more favorable prices in the next 30 days. At the same time distribution of materials is being slowed while mills await clarification of priority ratings.

The Office of Price Administration relaxed yesterday its maximum average price regulation in a move to relieve the shortage of men's shirts. At the same time the agency said "only a very small percentage of shirt manufacturers have let themselves get into difficulty by failing to make enough low-priced goods to balance their higher-priced production."

The revision of the regulation applies only to shirt production. The OPA said the effect would be to permit manufacturers to deliver a somewhat larger proportion of higher price line shirts. The new order does not change existing price ceilings for shirts.

THREE IN SAFETY ZONE HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

One Injured Seriously—Driver Arrested After Pursuit by Policeman.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, early today when an automobile being driven west on Olive street went through a safety zone at the northwest corner of Olive and Twelfth boulevard. Two other persons standing in the safety zone were unhurt.

The injured, who were taken to City Hospital, are Gus Jameson, a waiter, of 3941 Lindell boulevard; Theodosius Dubis, bus boy, 4107 Waldbridge place, and Naum N. Doias, waiter, 3828 Humphrey street. Jameson, who suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and cuts and bruises of the scalp, remained at the hospital. The others were treated for minor cuts and bruises and released.

Patrolman Harry Larigan, of Central District, who was standing in the safety zone when the accident occurred, reported he hailed a passing motorist and ordered him to pursue the automobile.

The driver of the automobile involved in the accident was stopped at Fourteenth street and returned to the scene of the accident. He said he was Donald D. Haig and lived at 4851 Maffitt avenue. Haig told police he thought someone in the safety zone stepped in front of his machine but did not say why he failed to stop.

He was held suspected of felonious wounding and leaving the scene of an accident and was charged with careless driving.

FLAGS BEING DISPLAYED HERE FOR ANNIVERSARY OF MEXICO

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the 1917 Constitution of Mexico was observed today in St. Louis with many buildings and business houses, including the Post-Dispatch, displaying the flag of Mexico.

Known as Mexico's Revolutionary Constitution, the 1917 document resulted in widespread social changes in that country, including the elimination of abuses by workingmen of the right to strike, elimination of the old feudal system and the reconciliation of the church and state.

The 1917 Constitution has been praised by students of political science because of the success with which it achieved the social justice demanded by the exploited masses without sacrificing either the structure or the spirit of democratic government set up by the Constitution of 1824, which established the United States of Mexico as an independent nation.

U. S.-Belgium Airlines Pact.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The State Department today announced an interim air agreement with Belgium, granting landing rights in Brussels and New York to authorized Belgian and American airlines. Under the pact, Pan American Airways will be able to use Brussels as an intermediate stop on its route to India.

SCHOOL STRIKE SPREADS; PLAN OF MAYOR REJECTED

In rejecting the Mayor's offer, Dr. Herbert O. Winterer, board president, issued the following statement:

"No one deplores more than the Board of Education the fact that the custodians have chosen a policy of rule or ruin and thus forced the closing of schools.

"The union's suggestion to Mayor Kaufmann for arbitration now is not only belated but it continues to ignore the fact which the board has repeatedly stated, namely, that this is not merely a dispute as to wages but a serious question of principle.

"The question is—shall the people or a labor union rule the public schools?

"We have refused from the first to grant the wage increases because the custodians are already receiving more than the prevailing rate of pay for similar workers in other school systems, public buildings and city institutions.

"To grant such an increase when it is obviously wrong would be a violation of the trust reposed in us by the public. To yield under the pressure of a strike would be a retreat from principles of fairness, reason and public responsibility to which we cannot and will not agree."

Lack of Food.

Lack of lunchroom supplies resulting from refusal of union delivery truck drivers to cross custodians' picket lines made it necessary to dismiss classes at 1 p.m. in some of the eight high schools operating today.

High schools that were open included Blewett, Central, Cleveland, McKinley, Soldan, Southwest, Vashon and Hadley Vocational. Furnaces in those schools are tended by men who belong to the AFL Firemen's and Oilers' Union, who reported for work despite picket lines.

Meeting of Other Unions.

A general meeting of members of the Firemen's and Oilers' Union and of 14 other AFL unions whose members are employed in buildings operated by the Board of Education was called for this afternoon at the Central Trades and Labor Union headquarters to discuss "co-operative action" in the strike.

Students at Sumner, Beaumont and Blow Branch High Schools and Booker T. Washington School who appeared for classes today were given home-work assignments and sent home, either because the buildings were without heat or because insufficient numbers of students appeared. Only about 600 of the 2500 pupils showed up at Beaumont, which was closed yesterday.

Harris and Stowe teachers' colleges also remained closed today.

Among elementary schools open today which were shut yesterday were Roe, Charless and Long, while Wade and Busch, which were open yesterday, were closed today.

Children Picket Strikers.

Two youngsters appeared today at Gardenville grade school, 6651 Gravois avenue, and picketed the pickets there, carrying signs which read: "We want to go to school." The boys, students at the strike-closed Walnut Park school, said they were paid $1 each by a stranger to carry the signs.

At a meeting of school principals yesterday, Superintendent of Instruction Philip J. Hickey said that the planned broadcasting of school lessons during the strike would be ineffective unless the pupils can get books in locked-up schools. He ordered teachers and principals to report twice daily at all closed schools, but advised parents to keep children at home or take them to places where some educational programs are offered.

Hickey announced also that there would be no further community use of school buildings until further notice. Adult education classes in school buildings have been discontinued also.

Assistant Superintendent of Instruction J. S. Nants said adult education courses, in which about 10,000 students are enrolled, would be resumed when the strike ends and that the regular 13-week period for the courses would not be shortened.

George A. Thompson, acting superintendent of recreation for the city, announced today that the nine community centers operated by the city would be kept open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. daily for the duration of the strike for the convenience of the children from the closed schools. The centers are usually open from 2 to 10 p.m.

A mass meeting of parents of school children and other interested citizens, to which school board and union officers were invited, has been called for 8 o'clock tonight in the board's assembly room to attempt to find a solution to the dispute. The meeting was arranged by Herbert F. Hahn, an attorney and president of the Sherman School Parent-Teachers' Association.

ONE OF 3 FOUND RANSACKING HOME SHOT AND KILLED

Companions Held — Police Called by Neighbors of Sisters Absent From House.

Emory Albert Turnbough, 28-year-old steel worker, was shot and killed last night by Police Sgt. August S. LaTour, who surprised him and two companions as they ransacked the home of Miss Edna Roeder and her sister, Mrs. Laura Viles, at 3258 Copelin avenue. Miss Roeder and Mrs. Viles are visiting in Hollywood, Calif.

Turnbough, who suffered a bullet wound of the abdomen, died at City Hospital half an hour after the shooting. His companions, who gave their names as Edward Emmett Elder, former convict, of 1918A Oregon avenue, and Clyde Eugene Lawrence, shoeworker, of 2754A Park avenue, were being questioned by police today. They were booked suspected of burglary.

Sgt. LaTour said he fired one shot at Turnbough when he attempted to attack the officer with a pocket knife.

Neighbors of Miss Roeder and Mrs. Viles, who knew the sisters were in California and that they had closed their house, called police when they saw three men loitering about the place. When Sgt. LaTour and Probationary Patrolman Robert Downard arrived at the house, they said, they found the front door ajar.

With revolvers drawn, Downard went to the rear of the house and LaTour went in the front door. In the light from his flashlight, LaTour said he saw a small safe, the door of which had been broken off. It was in the reception hall.

Turning from that, the sergeant saw a man advancing toward him. The blade of a knife reflected light. When the man did not stop at LaTour's order, the officer fired. The man fell to the floor.

LaTour then flashed his light up a stairway. At the top another man stood in the beam of light. At LaTour's order he came down with his hands above his head. This man was later identified as Elder.

By this time detectives and other policemen arrived at the house. After Turnbough was taken to the hospital, the officers started a search of the place. They found Lawrence hiding behind a sliding door.

At the Magnolia Avenue Police Station, Lawrence and Elder were questioned. Police said they found a necklace, earrings, bracelet, bar pin and a ring in Elder's possession. Harold Roeder, 425 Tuxedo boulevard, Webster Groves, brother of the sisters, identified the jewelry, police said.

Elder told police that he, Lawrence and Turnbough had borrowed the automobile of his wife, Mrs. Inge Elder, and had toured the neighborhood earlier last evening. When no one answered the doorbell at the Roeder home, he said, they decided to come back later and enter the place.

Shortly before 9 p.m., he told police, he attempted to enter the house by climbing up a rainspout. It broke under his weight and he fell to the ground. He then climbed a fence and managed to get from it to the roof of a sunporch. He entered the house by breaking a bathroom window. He said he admitted the others by the front door.

At the hospital police found $57 in Turnbough's pockets. Records showed that he had been arrested several times for investigations of robberies and burglaries. Elder served sentences for burglary at the Missouri State Penitentiary, records showed, and Lawrence has been arrested for investigation of holdups and burglaries.

Man Found Looting Service Station Shot by Police.

William Thomas Cooper, 32-year-old Negro, was shot in the left arm last night when he attempted to elude special officers who discovered him looting a service station at Twentieth and Market streets. He lives at 2116 O'Fallon street.

Cooper, an ex-convict, was shot by Special Officer Clarence Underwood as he tried to jump through a broken window at the station after Special Officer Oliver Wahl had ordered him to surrender. He was taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

NO VETERAN HOSPITAL IN PARK, WARNS MAYOR

Kaufmann Renews Suggestion For Site Opposite Riverfront.

Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann served notice on federal authorities today that a Forest Park site is not to be considered for the new Veterans' Hospital which it is proposed to locate in St. Louis. Instead, he renewed his suggestion that a site west of Third street, opposite the riverfront National Park and convenient to the projected Third street superhighway, be selected.

The Mayor wrote to James E. McMurrer, field supervisor for the Veterans' Administration, who had made a report to the Director of Construction in Washington, recommending that the present site of the soldiers' weekend tent camp, in southeast Forest Park, be considered for the hospital.

"When the city permitted a rest camp for military use to be erected there,' the Mayor wrote, "there was no intention ever to surrender it for permanent use. It was originally dedicated to public use as a park. Many locations for a hospital are more desirable from the city's standpoint, and from that of the veterans." He then recited the advantages of a site adjoining the riverfront park, which he said would give impetus to the permanent development of the park.

GRAIN SHORTAGE; LESS WHISKY

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Continued government restriction on use of grain for beverage distilling and a severe shortage of cooperage has prevented rebuilding of depleted whisky inventories, a report issued yesterday by the Allied Liquor Industries, Inc., said.

Distillers have been able to add only 5,000,000 gallons to aging whisky inventories from August to December, although average monthly withdrawals exceed that figure, the report said.

HOMMA TESTIFIES HE LOST POST FOR BEING PRO-BRITISH

Jap General Also Declares He Angered Tojo by Opposing Him for War Minister.

By WAYNE RICHARDSON

MANILA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma took the stand at his war crimes trial today and testified that he was removed from his Philippine command in August 1942 because of pro-British tendencies and because he disagreed with former Hideki Tojo.

"Roughly speaking, there were two groups in the army," said the defendant, who is charged with responsibility for the deaths of 67,000 Americans and Filipinos.

"One was pro-German and the other pro-British. The latter, fostering liberal ideas, was in great minority. I was supposed to head the latter group since I was the most senior officer. This was so, I believe, because I had my training in England and my association with the British people gave me a broad outlook on life."

Homma said he had incurred the disfavor of Tojo by objecting to the latter's appointment as Minister of War. He said that when Tojo was War Minister, there remained no liberal-minded officers on the Japanese general staff or in the War Department.

He said Tojo "was trained in Germany and headed the pro-German group.

"I maintained that if he were chosen War Minister he would lead the army anywhere. I objected to this and he has disliked me ever since."

Homma pictured himself as an army chief who was not informed of all incidents under his command, did not appoint his staff officers and did not have authority to remove them.

It was obvious the defense was seeking to absolve him from his subordinates' actions.

Homma testified that one of several secret United States military maps captured by the Japanese in their Philippine invasion enabled him to defeat the Filipino-Americans' first attack on Bataan.

Finding the map with the original American positions marked paved the way for a Japanese break-through after his troops once had been stopped cold, the General said.

Preceding discovery of the map, Homma testified, "American artillery was very powerful and accurate and we suffered great casualties" at Bagac. We met very stiff resistance and couldn't advance."

SYRIA AND LEBANON RAISE NEW ISSUES BEFORE U.N.O.

Levant States Demand British and French Troops Leave—Russia Threatens to Use Veto in Dispute Over Greece.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP) — Syria and Lebanon handed the United Nations Security Council a new explosive issue today, asking for withdrawal of all British and French troops from the Levant. The latest development came while the Council still sought to unravel the tangle resulting from a Russian attempt to use the veto power in the Soviet-British disagreement over Greece.

The veto issue, raised for the first time before the 11-nation Council, blocked action on the Greek question. It also required the Council to decide whether Britain and Russia could vote on the question of whether British troops in Greece were endangering world peace, as charged by Russia. The British have demanded complete exoneration of their actions in Greece.

The selection of a U.N.O. site was advanced another step when the 13-member interim committee approved a recommendation to put the organization's permanent home in the Stamford-Greenwich-Westchester area of Connecticut and New York. The recommendation, made by a site inspection group, will be presented tomorrow to the full 51-member committee on headquarters.

Levant States' Complaint.

Syria and Lebanon, former French mandates, in their complaint to the Council contend that British and French troops have remained in their territories "many months" after the end of the war with Germany and Japan. They charge that "some of these troops have been a constant menace to the peace and security in this region."

French authorities estimate about 5000 French troops and 20,000 British troops are in the Levant.

Referring to a joint evacuation agreement drawn up by the British and French last Dec. 13, the Syrian-Lebanese note said the agreement imposed conditions "which were inconsistent with the spirit and the letter of the United Nations charter." The note quoted the agreement as providing "maintenance of sufficient forces to guarantee security until such time as the U.N.O. has decided on the organization of collective security in this zone (the Levant). Until these arrangements have been carried out, the French government will retain forces regrouped in Lebanon."

Progress toward carrying out the initial withdrawal from Syria was deadlocked by a disagreement on where the British troops were to be sent. The French wanted the British forces to regroup in Palestine, a British mandate. The British wanted to go into Lebanon with the French.

Issue Over Veto Power.

The veto issue was raised by Soviet Foreign Vice Commissar Andrei Vishinsky after seven members of the Council said last night in a heated debate that Russia's charges against Britain were unfounded. Vishinsky's action immediately plunged the Council into a maze of technical discussion which blocked action on the Greek question.

The question in the present case involves a clause in the United Nations charter which says nations must refrain from voting if they are a party to a dispute.

Council Chairman Norman J. O. Makin of Australia pointed out that the case had not been referred to as a "dispute" by any of the Council members up to the time the veto question was raised. Should the Council rule that the Greek affair is a "dispute" both Britain and Russia would be barred from voting and, therefore, neither could exercise the veto. If the issue is declared a "situation" both parties would be entitled to vote.

Pending settlement of this question, a resolution offered by Egyptian delegate Mambouh Riaz clearing Britain of the Russian charges of endangering world peace was held in abeyance.

During the six and a half hours' debate, the United States, Poland, Australia, Egypt, China, France and The Netherlands all expressed the belief that there was no basis for the Soviet charges. Facing such opposition, Vishinsky backed down "in the interest of international harmony" on his demand that the British withdraw from Greece "immediately."

Vishinsky said he would accept instead British assurances that the troops would be evacuated "as soon as possible." He insisted, however, that he could not agree to any statement saying that peace was not threatened. Bevin refused to accept Vishinsky's suggestion and demanded from the Council "a clean bill."

It was then that the Egyptian resolution was offered and Vishinsky injected the veto issue by announcing that he would vote against the proposal.

Recommendation on Site.

The report of the U.N.O. site inspection committee recommending the Greenwich-Stamford area which the interim committee approved previously had been submitted to the General Assembly. The report recommends that persons living in the zone be allowed to continue residence, unless there is immediate need for their buildings and land.

The report showed that Soviet delegate G. F. Saksin had asked that Massachusetts be ruled out as a possible site. Two sites in Massachusetts as well as Hyde Park, N. Y., were suggested by the committee as alternatives.

The Russian delegate said a speech made by Judge John E. Swift of the State Supreme Court at a Boston meeting showed the Bay State did not have the necessary political atmosphere for the United Nations.

Judge Swift, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, said in his address that "although the U.N.O. has banished even the name of God from its deliberations, we offer it our humble prayer for success." He asserted that "the veto power insisted on by Russia" was responsible for these conditions.

"Godless Russia has torn the Atlantic Charter to tatters and enslaved millions of our fellow Catholics," he said. "By one shameless appeasement after another we have failed to uphold our American ideals. Yet we are now asked to recognize and ratify the so-called 'realism' of the facts of international robbery and unblushing enslavement of whole nations."

THREE ROBBERIES REPORTED IN DAY, TOTAL OF $251 TAKEN

Three robberies were reported to police yesterday, in which a total of $251 was taken.

Bernice Ruddy, clerk at a package liquor store at 4124 Easton avenue, told police a Negro armed with a revolver took $91 from the cash register there. Bernie Blacklidge, who lives at the Claridge Hotel, said he was robbed of $85 by two Negroes armed with knives, as he was walking in the 1800 block on Pine street. Hershel Goforth of 3953 Wyoming street, said he was robbed of $75 by an unarmed Negro in the 3900 block on West Belle place.

SENATE PASSES BILL SETTING UP NEW PENAL DEPARTMENT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5—The bill creating the new department of corrections, placing management of penal and reformatory institutions on a scientific basis, was passed by the Senate today. It will now be sent to the House.

The measure is designed to substitute a system of correctional treatment of convicts and juvenile delinquents for the old system which had punishment as its principal purpose.

The department will consist of three divisions, penal institution, under which will come the State Penitentiary, Women's Prison and Intermediate Reformatory; a board of training schools, under which will be placed the reformatory at Boonville and other institutions for younger prisoners and delinquents, and a board of probation and parole.

MOVE TO RESTRICT CHOICE OF HEALTH DIRECTOR FAILS

Missouri Senate Defeats Proposal to Limit Field to Medical Men, Bar Osteopaths.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5—An effort to limit the field of selection of the proposed state director of health to doctors of medicine and to eliminate osteopaths and those practicing other healing systems failed when the bill was taken up for perfection in the Senate late yesterday. The position was left open to physicians "of recognized professional and scientific knowledge and graduates of reputable schools of the healing arts."

The Missouri Medical Association's position for the control of the Department of Health and Welfare by a single director instead of by a commission was upheld by the Senate and the bill was perfected with the provision for a single director.

The only two issues which provoked debate were those involving the qualifications of the health director and the type of control of the whole health and welfare department.

Senator Michael Kinney of St. Louis submitted the amendment desired by the Medical Association to limit the health directorship to the medical profession. He sought to require that the director should be "experienced in public health administration." Under questioning he said that the purpose of the amendment was to exclude all except medical practioners, the thought being that no others had had experience in health administration.

The defeat of the amendment could not be construed as Senate support of other healing schools rather than of the medical schools, the real reason being that it was the belief of Senators that the amendment was too restrictive, even as to medical men. It was pointed out in the debate that there was comparatively few doctors who had had experience in health administration.

Immediately after the defeat of the Kinney amendment Senator Ralph Erdwin of Concordia submitted an amendment to provide for a bi-partisan commission of six members with staggered terms to head the whole department. This was in line with a vigorous fight which has been made by the League of Women Voters, osteopathic and chiropractic physicians and many professional organizations.

Representatives of the medical association had opposed the commission plan as unworkable, taking the position that, with a board of six, the Governor in making the appointments would be under pressure from groups from the different schools to appoint a representative of each. They contended that with such a board there would be continuous conflict and that it would be virtually impossible for agreements to be reached on matters of policy.

Senator W. H. Robinett of Mountain Grove, chairman of the committee which reported the bill with the provision for the single director, defended the bill as setting up the only workable plan. By a vote of 16 to 6 the Senate voted for the single director.

While on the whole the bill is considered good, it contains the weakness of division of authority which can become troublesome. In setting up three divisions in the department — health, mental diseases and welfare—it authorizes the Governor to appoint not only the director of the whole department, but also the directors of each of the divisions. While it is known that in practice all such appointments are made at the direction of the Governor, usually they are given the appearance of being made by the head of the department. Under the bill, however, there will be no direct feeling of responsibility by the divisional directors to the chief director.

This could result in friction, and could cause much embarrassment to a Governor.

All employes of the department below the rank of director and assistant director will be chosen under a merit system, the exact form of which is yet to be worked out by the Legislature.

In the new department will be concentrated all the functions of the existing State Health Department, the State Board of Eleemosynary Insitutions and the Social Security Commission.

SENATORS ARGUE ON COLOR LINE IN EATING PLACES

Guffey Says White and Negroes Should Use Same Room, Eastland Disagrees.

WASHINGTON Feb. 5 (AP)—Disagreement over joint use of rest-rooms and eating places by white and Negro government workers marked Senate debate today on hte fair employment practices bill.

Senator Guffey (Dem.), Pennsylvania, a supporter of the anti-discrimination measure which has caused a filibuster for 14 sessions ove four weeks, told the Senate:

"Equally of economic opportunity is the sole objective of this bill and the issue of social equality has been dragged in as a red herring to confuse the gullible."

Senator Russell (Dem.), Georgia, a leader of the bloc of southern Senators fighting the bill, interrupted to say that a wartime Fair Employment Practice Committee set up by the late President Roosevelt had "brought pressure" to have white and Negro persons use the same rest-rooms and dining rooms in government agencies and industries having government contracts.

Russell asked Guffey whether he would consider it an "unfair practice" under the proposed bill if separate rest and dining rooms were set up "for whites and colored persons."

"I do," Guffey replied.

"You would consider that discrimination?" Russell asked.

"I do," said Guffey.

"That's the whole difference between supporters and opponents of this bill," Russell told the Senate. "It is not a fight for economic equality as much as a fight to force social equality and intermingling of the races."

Guffey h adobtained the floor to make his speech for FEPC when Senator Eastland (Dem.), Mississippi, one of the filibuster leaders, consented to yield with the understanding he would regain control.

Guffey said establishment of a permanent FEPC "is long overdue." He said President Truman asked for a permanent FEPC because he was a "protector of all our people."

When Eastland asserted that FEPC is "an attempt to export the governmental philosophy of Harlem over the nited States," Senator Mead (em.), New York, broke in to contend that Eastland had violated a Senate rule against making "offensive remarks aganist a state."

Senator Bankhead (Dem.), Alabama, presiding at the time, ruled that Eastlands' remarks were not offensive.

Senator Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, told the Senate he planned a speech against the bill htat "will last 30 or 40 days."

SURVIVORS AWAIT RESCUE FROM SHIP ON ALASKA ROCKS

linski; the steamship North Haven, a freighter en route from Whittier to the Aleutians; the Navy salvage ship Curb, and two minessweepers. Gen. Delos Emmons, commanding the Alaskan Department, ordered all Flying Fortresses with power rescue boats to aid the rescue efforts.

Wireless and telephone communications were improving today as the storm center moved off southeastward.

The after part of the broken ship was still afloat, washing about as it wallowed in the heavy seas.

A specially-equipped first aid train was to leave Anchorage this morning for Seward, some four hours distant. The train was loaded with Army food, clothing and medical supplies, with a first aid crew of some 200 persons aboard. An Army transport plane carried doctors and nurses to Seward, in the event of arrival of survivors from the wreck.

The Yukon, built in Philadelphia in 1899, had been in the Alaska service for some 20 years. It went aground on the rocky shore early yesterday. As soon as its distress calls were heard — about 6 a.m. Pacific time (8 a.m. St. Louis time) yesterday—all craft in the vicinity weer ordered to its aid. The Onondaga reached her shortly before 3 p.m. (5 p.m. St. Louis time).

The captain, Christ P. Trondsen, messaged at 1:45 p.m. that the liner was breaking up and that its engine room and No. 3 hold were flooded. It withstood the pounding of the seas, however, until darkness fell and until the Onondaga's two power boats removed 47.

A list of the Yukon's passengers included the names of Mrs. Lucille Ginger, 1443 Burd avenue, and Stephen Reynolds of St. Louis. Residents at the Burd avenue address said Mrs. Ginger was not known there. Reynolds was not listed in the telephone book or in any directories of the St. Louis area.

The passenger list also included the names of Miss Ann Whitaker of Bunceton, Mo., and Miss Fay Shores of Norwood, Mo. Bunceton, in Cooper county, is in the central, and Norwood, in Wright county, in the south central part of the state.

Killer of Three Hanged.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Feb. 5 (AP)—Woodrow Wilson (Whitey) Clark, convicted killer of two women and a man, was executed in the state penitentiary today. Death was by hanging. Clark was convicted March 19, 1944, of killing T. P. Dillon and his wife, and of criminally attacking Mrs. Jane Staples, whom he also killed with a hatchet.

WHITE HOUSE AID PREDICTS CHANGE IN PRICE POLICY

Collet previously had shied away from throwing his weight behind either faction.

Emphasizing the necessity for quick action is the fact that Bowles must testify Thursday before the House Banking Committee on a bill to extend price control beyond its June 30 expiration date. Administration advisers contend he must be in a position to discuss any change in wage-price policy.

Of more compelling importance, however, is the fact that the effects of the steel tie-up are hitting industry hard.

Another indication that Bowles might be winning out in his fight against making an exception only for steel came from his remark on leaving the White House yesterday. Friends of Bowles have said he might resign if he were overruled by Truman. Replying to reporters' questions, Bowles said he still was working for the Government. Then he added with a smile:

"The pay is good and the working conditions are lousy."

100,000 Now Idle in Industries Dependent on Steel Supply.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 5 (AP)—The number of workers laid off as a result of the shortage of steel swelled to 100,000 today, with indications that many thousands more will become idle this week.

George Romney, general manager of the Auto Manufacturers' Association at Detroit, said 50,000 "is a reasonable figure" of the number of men idle in the auto industry. This includes approximately 30,000 laid off by the Ford Motor Co.

The Spicer Manufacturing Co. at Toledo shut down today, making 4000 idle, due to the steel shortage.

At Columbus (O.) the Lilley-Ames Co. closed its metal division making swords and casting roads, making 110 idle and the Armstrong Furnace Co. announced it was ending its Saturday work, putting 300 employes on a five-day week.

The Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N.Y., cut working hours in two metal fabricating departments. The Rochester Telephone Corp. reported construction halted on its new $500,000 building.

Ainu Candidate for Jap Diet.

TOKYO, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Ainu aborigines on Hokkaido island, who have been subject to anthropological research by the Japanese and other nationals, soon may have their first honorary seat in the Diet. A candidate in the March 31 elections, Tokuemon Ohkawara, announced he was representing 17,000 Ainus.

GROUP CONSIDERS EXPANDING AID ON LABOR RELATIONS

Plan Put Before Directors of Associated Industries of Missouri at Meeting Here.

A proposal to expand labor relations services to its 1200 members was presented today to directors of the Associated Industries of Missouri by Theodore J. Krauss, executive vice president.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the board of directors at the Missouri Athletic club, Krauss said it was not planned to extend the service to the proportions of the Employers' Council of San Francisco, which negotiates labor agreements, but he was hopeful of obtaining approval of an expansion of the association's present labor-management facilities to member employers.

"Our program, which is limited to our state membership, at present includes a periodical summary on wage policies and related information, labor agreement bulletins and occasional discussion groups," Krauss explained. "It is our plan to expand the discussion program, conduct more labor-menagement conferences and generally exchange specific information by which employers may be guided in their relations with their employes."

The summary on wage policies has been issued since 1941 to members willing to participate to the extent of furnishing information on their individual policies. The information covers schedule of hours, number of employes, shifts, wage structures and differentials, vacation plans and extra remuneration plans.

At present 163 firms, all in St. Louis, participate and receive copies of a wage survey manual, which is valuable as an information source in contractural dealings with employes. A more extensive use of this service is expected in the future, within the association membership.

Under the direction of O. L. Allman, labor relations expert for the Associated Industries, a series of 15 labor agreement bulletins have been issued since last June. About 800 member firms received the bulletins, indicating the extent of the interest in suggestions on labor problems, Allman pointed out. The bulletins cover grievance procedures, arbitration, job classifications, principles of collective bargaining, the check-off, the closed shop, veterans' rights, management's responsibilities and kindred subjects. Associated Industries groups in several other states have requested copies of the information for the guidance of their members, Allman said.

ises within 30 days or have his restaurant closed.

Following a meeting of the special committee yesterday in the office of Albert L. Schweitzer, president of the board, Schweitzer announced that the committee had voted to "defer action on the restaurant legislation pending in the committee until the Mayor's bill is introduced." He declined to comment further, but it was learned the committee decided "to go along on the Mayor's bill."

Decision on Speedy Action.

The committee decided also that speedy action should be taken on the measure, and the possibility of a special meeting being called to give the measure a second reading was discussed. Asked about this, Schweitzer said the bill could be passed in a week if a special meeting were to be called.

The Mayor's bill, prepared by the city counselor's office, provides for the grading of restaurants as either Grade A, B, or C, according to the establishment's compliance with regulations set out in the measure. A restaurant given a C grade by the Health Department would have to correct violations of the ordinance within 30 days or face suspension and possible revocation of its permit to operate. Appeals from the rulings of the Health Commissioner would be made to the Board of Public Service.

The bill proposed by the special aldermanic committee, which was booed at a public hearing at City Hall last week, did not provide for grading of restaurants, although Alderman Richard Nichols, committee chairman, said, after the Mayor announced he would sponsor a bill, that it would be amended to provide grading. The committee bill provided for appeals to be made to an appeal board to be appointed by the Mayor.

The Mayor's bill applies to all restaurants and taverns where food is sold.

Health Commissioner Bredeck, who criticized the committee's bill, expressed approval of the measure proposed by the Mayor, saying, "That's the kind of bill we've been waiting for."

'BUSTER' WORTMAN ASKED ABOUT HOLDUP, 2 KILLINGS

Frank (Buster) Wortman, former convict and Shelton gangster, was arrested yesterday by detectives for questioning in the $19,000 holdup of a dice game in University City last week and the killing of Lawrence Drewer on Jan. 4 and Robert J. Carroll on Jan. 7.

Wortman, arrested at Eighteenth and Chestnut streets as he started to drive from a garage, denied any knowledge of the holdup or the shootings but was held for further investigation.

G.M. NEGOTIATIONS MAY DEAL TODAY WITH PAY ISSUE

Previous Four Sessions Devoted to Other Questions—No Agreements Reported.

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (AP)—General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers negotiators met again today after devoting four consecutive sessions to issues other than wages.

Special Federal Mediator James F. Dewey, who indicated the union's wage demands might come up in today's discussions along with other issues, continued to show optimism that the conferences to settle the 77-day strike would be successful, but would set no time limit for an agreement.

"Ultimately we'll get this done," he said after yesterday's session, "but we don't know how long it will take."

No Agreement Yet.

Dewey said discussions yesterday were devoted to consideration of promotion of General Motors workers, union representation and other clauses of a proposed new contract, but added no agreement was reached on any of these issues.

Charging the corporation with "attempting to turn the clock back for wage earners," Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice president, said General Motors proposals made yesterday had been offered previously "and they were all turned down by the War Labor Board because they had no merit."

"The union has offered and is still willing to reinstate its old contract with General Motors," he added, "with the supplementary provision of a 19½-cent hourly wage increase."

Other Pay Talks Resumed.

General Motors, which made no comment on yesterday's talks, has offered a 13½-cent hourly pay increase as its highest proposal so far. The union, whose 175,000 workers walked out of General Motors plants Nov. 21, first asked an increase of 30 per cent, but officers have stated they would settle now for the 19½-cent compromise figure recommended by a Government fact-finding board.

Meanwhile, three smaller automobile producers resumed wage negotiations with the union. Officers of Hudson Motor Car Co. were expected to reply to the union's wage increase demand, at a meeting today, and the Packard Motor Car Co. and Briggs Manufacturing Co. also continued pay talks with the UAW.

Packard plants are shut at present because of a strike at supplier plants.

$82,610 Sale of F. D. R.'s Stamps.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—The first 291 lots in the auction of the personal stamp collection of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt brought more than $82,610 last night. Eight hundred persons attended the sale.

PUBLIC DEBT REACHES NEW HIGH OF $279,444,616,125

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The public debt rose again yesterday to a new high, reaching $279,444,616,125.28, or $287,296,835.19 more than the previous high.

The new high figure covered the debt through the end of January. Treasury analysts said the debt had increased by approximately $772,000,000 in January, chiefly due to issuance of $654,000,000 in new special Government securities issues.

Based on the nation's current population of about 140,000,000, the new debt total equals about $1996 per person.

VETERAN FUND BOOST URGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman recommended to Congress yesterday a $500,000,000 increase in the amount of funds available to the Veterans' Administration up to June, 1946, for payment of readjustment benefits.

An accompanying letter from Harold D. Smith, director of the budget, said the money would enable a reduction by the same amount in the total $2,148,387,000 recommended for the same purpose for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

GROUP TO PUSH DRIVE AGAINST EAST SIDE SMOKE

Area Committee Meets to Elect Executive Committee and Formulate Plans for Control.

The Area Smoke Committee met this afternoon at the First National Bank at East St. Louis to elect an executive committee and formulate plans in the campaign to rid metropolitan St. Louis of the East Side smoke nuisance.

Formed Jan. 18 at a meeting in the office of Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, the area committee is composed of representatives of municipalities and of civic and industry groups on both sides of the Mississippi river interested in smoke elimination. Arnold C. Johnson, president of the First National Bank at East St. Louis, is permanent president of the organization, and W. Philip Shatts, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Plan Association, is secretary.

Those attending the meeting included:

Scott R. DeKins, representing the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Leo Sauget, president of the village board at Monsanto; Horace Dillard, trustee of the Monsanto village board; Louis Richter of Clayton, representing the St. Louis County League of Municipalities; Theodore Pfroender, alderman at Granite City; John S. Swan, fuel conservation engineer for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co.; Aubrey Moore Sr., East St. Louis boiler and elevator inspector, representing the East St. Louis city government.

M. R. Noack, president of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Charles F. Spilker, secretary of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Robert A. Barracks, managing editor of the East St. Louis Journal; W. Phillip Shaats, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Plan Commission; J. H. Gore, superintendent of schools at Venice; Mayor Stephen Matras of Madison; Alderman Harry Cook of Madison; E. F. Wagner, president of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce, and Roy S. Rauschkolk, secretary of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce.

The smoke elimination campaign, designed to complete the job of clearing smoke from the air in the metropolitan district, was initiated in December by Mayor Kaufmann, who called on 40 industries and 14 railroads on the East Side to take voluntary smoke action. Almost unanimous support was pledged in replies to the Mayor's letter, which pointed out that East Side smoke is blown across the river into St. Louis.

James L. Ford Jr., former head of the Citizens' Smoke Elimination Committee of St. Louis, has expressed the hope that "the greatest civic improvement ever undertaken on either side of the river" will develop from the campaign. Ford, forced by ill health to resign from active participation in the program, is serving in an advisory capacity.

East Side communities pledging support included East St. Louis, Belleville, Madison, Venice, Granite City, Nameoki, Brooklyn, O'Fallon and Dupo. St. Clair, Madison and St. Louis counties are represented in the program.

drivers' strike," one operator commented.

James Ford, a business agent of the union, said the membership had taken "an unauthorized holiday." Ford said the meeting was called for the purpose of voting full authority to a negotiating committee, which has been meeting with employers.

The business agent said he warned the men that the walkout would not have the approval of the Teamsters' International Union. He said that between 400 and 500 freight handlers were involved. He emphasized that local drayage men were not affected.

Ford said he had called another meeting of the membership for 10 a.m., tomorrow, at which time he will attempt to get the men to return to work.

The wage demand, over present scales of 78 cents and 83 cents, is being negotiated for the freight handlers by representatives of both sides, meeting through the United States Conciliation Service. Negotiations so far have resulted in offers byb employers of paid vacations and time and a half for Saturdays and holidays. The men work 48 hours a week, the same as truck drivers.

Long haul operators said there were backlogs of freight throughout the areas they serve, due to the accumulation during the drivers' strike.

TRUMAN ORDERS CIVIL SERVICE BACK ON PEACETIME BASIS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman today ordered the civil service appointment system shifted from a wartime to a peacetime basis. This provides for discontinuance of war service appointments, which, generally speaking, have been the only kind made in the civilian federal service since March 16, 1942.

The Civil Service Commission will hold examinations leading to regular civil service appointments. Pending these examinations, appointments will be on a temporary basis, with preference given first to disabled veterans, second to non-disabled veterans, and third to displaced federal workers.

Persons under war service appointments who fail to pass the regular civil service examinations will be replaced by persons from the top of the regular civil service lists.

DENIAL OF YAMASHITA APPEAL LEAVES FATE UP TO M'ARTHUR

TOKYO, Feb. 5 (AP)—The United States Supreme Court's rejection of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's death-sentence appeal leaves the final decision up to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Allied headquarters officers said today MacArthur had had the records of Yamashita's trial in Manila for some days. There was no indication when he might act, and he has made no comment.

Whether defense counsel planned any further moves on Yamashita's behalf was not immediately learned. Yamashita himself has been held incommunicado since his conviction of condoning wholesale atrocities by his troops.

RUSSIANS SAVE 17 OF CREW WHEN AMERICAN SHIP SINKS

GREENOCK, Scotland, Feb. 5 (AP)—Seventeen survivors of the 60-man crew of the American Liberty ship William H. Webb, which foundered Jan. 3 with the loss of two lives on the Murmansk run, were landed here today after being rescued by a Russian patrol vessel.

The 7176-ton ship, built in Baltimore in 1943, broke in two and sank quickly in an Arctic gale. Three lifeboats got away from the wreck. Two were picked up soon afterward by the Russians. The third, whose occupants included the skipper, W. R. Schlining of Baltimore, was swamped in the surf of an uninhabited island.

After 24 hours on the island they attracted the Russians' attention by burning a hut. The captain said some of the men were taken to a Murmansk hospital for emergency treatment.

"Wonderful little address book. Tells me where I can get a Calvert Reserve Manhattan in any major city!"

A wonderful book could be written about Manhattans made with Calvert Reserve. For this is the prewar quality whiskey that blends with – never overpowers – the other ingredients in mixed drinks. Gloriously "soft" in flavor, too... delectably mellow whether you take it in cocktail, highball, or "neat". Next time, be sure you specify Calvert Reserve..."the choicest whiskey you can drink or serve".

SHALL THE PEOPLE, OR A LABOR UNION, RULE THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS?

That is the real issue of the strike which today keeps 100,000 children out of their classrooms.

The Board of Education is one of the largest employers of union labor on a regular basis in St. Louis. Yet never before in the history of the public school system has any of these other unions resorted to a strike forcing the schools to close. Never before has any union, or any group of employes, sought to apply a policy of rule or ruin to enforce unreasonable demands.

Responsibility for this strike rests squarely upon the heads of the Custodians' Union . . . upon a handful of willful men acting with complete disregard of the public welfare.

The facts are clear. The question is not complicated.

The Board of Education is charged by the people with the responsibility of fixing the wages and salaries of its employes. It has been the policy of the Board to pay all employes the prevailing rate of wages. To pay less would subject the Board to the just complaint of the employes. To pay salaries unreasonably above prevailing scales would properly lay the Board open to public criticism.

Already Well Paid

In the case of the Custodians, the Board heard their demands for increased pay. In refusing to grant the increase asked for, the Board pointed out to Union Representatives—and to the Custodians—that the Custodians were already receiving substantially more than the prevailing scale of salaries.

If it is true—and the evidence is clear that these employes are already receiving more than the prevailing scale—then they have no right to demand more. And the Board cannot give them more simply because they insist upon having it.

To yield to this or any other unreasonable demand would require the Board to abdicate its responsibility to the people. It would require the Board to ignore its legal obligation to fix the salaries and wages of employes of the School System . . . and surrender this right, authority and responsibility to a labor union.

We do not believe that the time has come when the people of St. Louis want us to spend their tax money with a profligate disregard of sound business management. We do not believe the people want us to grant unreasonable salary demands even though they are backed up by the pressure methods and rule or ruin tactics being employed by the Custodians' Union in this case.

Nothing to Arbitrate

There is nothing to arbitrate that has not been arbitrated. The fact remains that the Custodians already get more than the prevailing scale of pay. The demand for more is unreasonable—the strike which closed the schools is unconscionable.

We have made public the salaries paid the school Custodians. We have shown that the lowest-paid Custodian in our schools gets more pay than the highest-paid Custodian in any of our neighborhood school systems . . . more than the pay of similar workers in public buildings and city institutions.

We challenge the Custodians' Union to prove otherwise.

The salary question in this case is clear.

The real issue is: Shall the people, or a labor union, rule the public schools?

KNOX AIDE SAYS HE NEVER HEARD OF WAR TIP-OFF

Adm. Beatty Testifies He Would Not Have Destroyed Files in a Pearl Harbor Blunder.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—R. Adm. Frank E. Beatty, aide to the late Secretary of Navy Knox, testified today that he never heard of any intercepted Japanese message giving a three-day tip-off that war was coming.

The Senate-House committee investigating the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor heard Beatty during an interlude in the questioning of Navay Capt. L. F. Safford, who insists such a tip-off was received in Washington Dec. 4.

Safford testified that he undertook a campaign to clear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel of blame for the Pearl Harbor attack, without the knowledge of the 1941 Pacific Fleet commander.

Representative Murphy (Dem.), Pennsylvania, recalled that Safford had said that at a previous Pearl Harbor inquiry Lt. Comdr. John Sonnett appeared to be acting as a "defense counsel" for Knox and Adm. Harold R. Stark, 1941 chief of naval operations.

Denies Knox Needed Defense.

Did Knox need any defense? Murphy asked Beatty.

"Absolutely not," replied Beatty.

Then, referring to Safford's testimony that there was an apparent "conspiracy" in the War and Navy Departments to cover up evidence of receiving the tip-off message, Murphy asked another question. This was whether any failure on the part of Knox to get additional warning word to Hawaii would have prompted him to have any part in destruction of naval files.

"Definitely not," was the reply.

Safford said he went to New York and saw Kimmel in mid-February, 1944. This was one month after he wrote a code letter to Capt. Alwin D. Kramer, saying that no one in the Washington naval high command could be trusted and that Kimmel and the 1941 Army commander in Hawaii, Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, had been "framed."

Sought to Enlist Halsey.

Safford has testified that he wrote Kramer on Jan. 22, 1944, urging him to win over Adm. William F. Halsey to "the cause." He identified this as a campaign to clear Kimmel.

Safford was questioned further about his assertion that he believed Sonnett was acting as "counsel for the defense" for Knox. In reply, Safford commented that he knew of nothing Knox had ever done to require himself "to be defended."

Murphy asked whether Safford now felt that Adm. Stark was "guilty of a frame-up" of Kimmel.

Thought All Prejudiced.

Safford withheld his reply for more than a minute, apologizing for the delay and then told the committee:

"It was my feeling at that time—if I have wronged Adm. Stark, I regret it. I thought everybody was so prejudiced against Adm. Kimmel that they would not treat him fairly."

Murphy brought up the so-called Japanese "winds execute message." This is one which Safford has testified was intercepted on Dec. 4, 1941, giving Washington a three-day tip-off that war was coming. Other witnesses have said there was no such intercepted message from Japan.

Murphy recalled that on Dec. 5, Army Intelligence asked Pearl Harbor whether it had heard of the winds message—"which was expected" — because Washington "hadn't heard anything."

Safford suggested that whoever sent the inquiry should be asked to testify.

NAZIS' ATTORNEY FAILS IN MOVE TO VOID TESTIMONY

Belgian's Account of German Vandalism and Massacre of Civilians Is Kept on Record.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

NUERNBERG, Feb. 5 (AP)—The international military tribunal rejected today a motion by counsel for the German general staff to expunge testimony relative to destruction of the Louvain library in 1940 and massacre of civilians in the Germans' 1944-45 Ardennes offensive on the ground that it was "hearsay."

"Production of such testimony does not lead to discovery of the truth," Attorney Hans Laternser declared in demanding that it be stricken from the trial record.

French Assistant Prosecutor Edgar Faure, who presented Prof. Leon van der Essen, a Belgian university historian, as a witness yesterday, told the court the professor was a member of the official Belgian War Crimes Commission and that his statements were based on facts uncovered by investigation.

Laternser particularly objected to the opinion expressed by Van der Essen that "as a historian I am convinced there existed an over-all plan for atrocities in the Rundstedt offensive."

Faure said he would willingly supply the German defense attorney with the affidavits of Belgian eye-witnesses describing the massacre of 140 civilians at Stavelot by S.S. panzer troops, which Van der Essen related yesterday.

He said S.S. troops, in blind revenge, killed men, women and children after their defeat in the Battle of the Bulge.

Van der Essen described a variety of crimes against Belgium.

He said university professors were used by the Germans as shields against patriot saboteurs by being forced to ride at the head of trains over lines suspected of being mined.

ACCIDENT AUTO DEATH VERDICT

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today at an inquest into the death of Andrew Wilson, a laborer, 6703 South Broadway, who died Sunday at City Hospital of injuries suffered Jan. 28 when he was struck by an automobile in the 6200 block of South Broadway.

The driver of the automobile, Mrs. James Laird, wife of an Army Air Forces officer stationed here, told police she was driving about 25 miles an hour. She said Wilson walked into the path of her automobile and she tried to avoid hitting him.

FINDS 500 HOMES FOR OTHERS BUT NONE FOR HIMSELF

Veterans' Center Housing Director 'on Borrowed Time' in Sub-Leased Rooms.

Kenneth A. Simpson, director of housing at the Veterans' Information and Referral Center, has found homes for 500 other veterans but hasn't been able to find one for himself. Simpson, who was discharged from the Air Transport Command last June, said he was living "on borrowed time," thanks to a friend who subleased a Manhasset Village apartment while in Florida.

"I've only got 23 days left in which to find a permanent place," Simpson said, "but I feel that the obligations of my job come first. Many of the veterans I interview appear to be in greater need than myself. But two or three rooms would certainly look like paradise to my wife and me."

During the last six months, Simpson said, 500 veterans have been directed to homes, but 4200 others still are searching. Now he's joined the hunt.

BRICKER FILES FOR SENATE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5 (AP)—Former Gov. John W. Bricker filed notice with the Secretary of State today that he would seek the Republican nomination for United States Senator in the May 7 primary.

Bricker, who served three consecutive terms as Governor, was the Republican nominee for Vice President in 1944.

TENANTS COLD, OPA HEAT ON, LANDLADY QUITS

Two Families Forced to Leave When She Turns Off Utilities.

Two families were forced to abandon their homes and take temporary lodging with relatives and friends Saturday, when their landlady, Mrs. Edith F. Perce, 5317 Vernon avenue, turned off all utilities and left the premises after the tenants complained of "too little heat" and the Office of Price Administration began an investigation of rents charged by her.

Victims of the "cold house treatment" are Mr. and Mrs. John Killoran and their 2-year-old son, John Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Esposito and their daughter, Jane. The former family is living with Killoran's mother, Mrs. Arbey N. Killoran, 6329 Bartmer avenue, University City, while the Espositos are staying with friends of the Killorans, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sack, 6335 Bartmer avenue.

Killoran, a veteran of both the European and Pacific war theaters, said today that, after he had filed a complaint with the OPA over the $16-a-week rent they were paying for a three-room apartment at the Vernon avenue address, Mrs. Perce refunded half of the 11 weeks rent they had paid.

"Then, quite suddenly, she told us Saturday she had sold the house and was moving to Kansas City," he said. "She left us cold."

Filipino Hero Accused as Spy.

MANILA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Marcos Abad, Filipino guerrilla captain, received a bronze star from Gen. Douglas MacArthur a year ago for helping the American Rangers liberate Allied prisoners from Cabanatuan. Yesterday, still in uniform, he appeared in People's Court to plead not guilty of being a Japanese spy and informer earlier in the war.

HOUSE REJECTS EFFORT TO BEAT BAR ON BOYCOTTS

It Later Agrees, However, to Reduce Penalty Provided in Strike Control Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The House today rejected the first major attempt to modify the strike control bill sponsored by Representative Case (Rep.), South Dakota. On a voice vote, the chamber turned down an amendment by Representative Landis (Rep.), Indiana, to eliminate a prohibition of the use of boycotts in labor disputes.

A short time later, however, the House agreed to an amendment by Representative Hoffman (Rep.), Michigan, denying courts the power of injunction to enforce the boycott bar. Instead, the penalty would be loss of bargaining rights for the employes.

Later the House rejected an amendment which would have, in effect, killed the Case bill. Members shouted down by an overwhelming voice vote a proposal by Representative Patterson (Dem.), California, to strike out all except the preamble of the Case measure.

Representative Howard Smith (Dem.), Virginia, called the Landis proposal "the first effort to sabotage, sterilize and caponize" the Case bill.

Representative Paul Stewart (Dem.), Oklahoma, said that "this is an atomic amendment which would blow everything the people want from the bill."

They said that unless the boycott bar was retained jurisdictional disputes would be condoned.

Opponents renewed efforts to head off the Case bill by offering less drastic substitutes.

However, the Case measure commands powerful bipartisan backing and tests of strength in voting on amendments indicate that substitute proposals will not get far.

The first alternative plan to be disposed of was one by Representative Adams (Rep.), New Hampshire. It would authorize the President to name fact-finding boards in labor disputes, but would not give them the subpena power, requested by Truman.

It would also set up a federal arbitration board charged with responsibility for improving and speeding conciliation, mediation and arbitration processes.

The Adams substitute would allow civil suits against either party violating a contract.

Compromises also have been offered by Representatives Voorhis (Dem.), Calif, and Hays (Dem.), Arkansas.

Voorhis wants to set up a conciliation and mediation division in the Labor Department and to name fact-finding boards only after the mediation division fails to settle differences. He would require unions and management to maintain working agreements while the boards acted.

Hays proposes a federal industrial relations board with broad powers to help mediate or arbitrate disputes. The board would ask for fact-finding groups if it thought them needed.

House leaders continued to say privately that when action is completed, probably tomorrow, a measure closely similar to the Case plan will be approved.

The Case measure calls for a national mediation board with power to step into major labor disputes and forbid strikes or lockouts for 30 days. It also would permit wider use of court injunctions against labor or management; outlaw violence in picketing or organized boycotts, and provide for civil suits against either side for breaking a contract.

The House yesterday:

1. Accepted 109 to 65 an amendment by Representative Landis (Rep.), Indiana, to give employe status to supervisory workers if they do manual, productive labor. Case's measure would have denied status to all supervisory employes.
2. Ruled out of order an amendment by Representative Bailey (Dem.), West Virginia, to prohibit tax refunds to corporations where strikes are in progress.
3. Rejected 37 to 16 an amendment by Representative O'Hara (Rep.), Minnesota, to permit discharge or replacement of any employe refusing to work during a cooling-off period.

KANSAS CITY MAN URGED FOR G.O.P. SENATE NOMINEE

James P. Kem Indicated as Likely Choice if St. Louis Organization Will Accept Him.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5—In advance of the annual Lincoln day banquet by Missouri Republicans in St. Louis Saturday, the occasion when candidates for office usually develop their strength or show their weakness, the indications are that James P. Kem, a Kansas City lawyer, will appear as the most likely candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

Kem is said to have been agreed on by virtually all the elements in the party in Kansas City, and will go to St. Louis with the expectation that the St. Louis Republican organization will accept the Kansas City leaders' decision.

It has been conceded generally that as Senator Forrest C. Donnell (Rep.) is from St. Louis and Senator Frank P. Briggs (Dem.), Macon, who probably will be renominated, also is from the eastern part of the state, the Republican nomination this year should go to western Missouri.

Indicates Willingness.

Although several western Missourians outside of Kansas City have been discussed for the nomination, the Kansas City organization has taken the matter in hand to get a Kansas City man. It considered several, among them Herman Langworthy, long active in state Republican politics, and Col. Manvel Davis, the senatorial nominee in 1940. Langworthy told the organization heads that for personal and business reasons he could not be a candidate, and, it is said, the choice gradually narrowed to Kem.

According to reports from Kansas City, Kem has told the party leaders there that if he finds the support he has been led to expect when he talks to leading Republicans at the St. Louis meeting, he will announce his candidacy.

Counsel for Oil Firms.

Kem could be classed as an amateur in politics, notwithstanding he was chairman of the Jackson County Republican Committee in the last campaign, a position for which he was drafted. He had shown organizing abilities in many civic movements in Kansas City, where he has practiced law for many years.

He is comparatively unknown throughout the state. He was reared in Macon and graduated from the University of Missouri. After practicing law in Kansas City for a time, he went to Wyoming but after a short time returned to Kansas City as vice president and general counsel for the White Eagle Oil Co., an independent, which sometime later was acquired by the Socony Vacuum. In the course of his general practice he has been counsel for the Kansas City division of Socony Vacuum.

He at one time was chairman of the Missouri Petroleum Industries Committee, an organization of oil jobbers, filling station owners and oil salesmen.

REPORT OF NAZI JAILBREAK PLAN AT NUERNBERG DENIED

NUERNBERG, Feb. 5 (AP)—The United States Army command at Nuernberg imposed a bar tonight on professional contact between all its personnel and the press following publication of a United Press report of a planned jail delivery of Hermann Goering and other high Nazis on trial here.

Earlier, Brig. Gen. Leroy H. Watson, formerly of St. Louis, commanding general of the Nuernberg-Fuerth enclave, described the jail delivery story as the "purest fabrication, irresponsible and without foundation."

PRAVDA ASSAILS INTERESTS SEEKING 'NORTHERN BLOC'

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP)—Pravda, Communist party organ, asserted yesterday that interests hostile to Russia were responsible for agitation for a "northern bloc" of nations—which presumably would include Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Finland.

Commenting on an article in the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet discussing the movement, Pravda said:

"History has proven that Swedish propaganda for a 'northern bloc' has usually been inspired from outside and is always distinguished by its hostility with respect to Russia. The new 'northernism' is following the same course."

Pravda expressed concern that the proposed bloc might include "a reconstructed Germany."

INTANGIBLES TAX BILL EXPECTED TO MEET OPPOSITION

Corporate Stock Owners Say Levy Is Too High —Measure Introduced in House.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5—Drafting of the general bill for taxation of intangible personal property in Missouri, at the constitutional maximum tax rate of 8 per cent of the annual yield of such securities, was completed today by the House Revision Committee on Taxation and introduced in the House.

The committee last night adhered to its original decision to fix the tax rate at the maximum of 8 per cent authorized by the new Constitution, with three exceptions, despite growing objections from some classes of security owners, particularly corporate stocks, that the rate is too high.

The 8 per cent rate on annual yield will encounter opposition when the bill is called up for perfection.

Separate intangible property tax bills also were introduced by the committee with lower rates or with substitute methods of taxation, for two special classifications applying to building and loan associations, and insurance companies.

Insurance Premium Tax.

The committee agreed last night to impose a levy of 2 per cent on the premiums collected by domestic and foreign insurance companies, to be paid in lieu of all other taxes, including the intangible levy. Insurance companies, which now pay a 2 per cent premium tax in lieu of all other taxes, have said that the yield on securities they hold is not large enough to enable them to meet their reserve requirements and pay an 8 per cent tax on yield.

There is a question as to validity of the 2 per cent premium tax as a substitute for the intangible levy, even among insurance company representatives who suggested the substitute but the committee decided to adopt it in an effort to provide a fair scheme of taxation.

The committee also agreed to fix a tax rate of 2 per cent on all dividends paid by building and loan associations on paid-up stock or contracts, the tax to be paid by the associations for their stockholders and contract holders. These associations heretofore have not paid state taxes, it was said. The yield from this proposed tax was estimated at $90,000 to $100,000 a year.

Bank Income Tax.

No agreement has been reached by the committee so far on the rate to be fixed in a bill on a bank classification, but a proposed draft of the bill for this classification calls for a tax rate of 7 per cent on the annual net income of banks. The committee, in drafting this bill, is attempting to work out an equitable tax for state and national banks, within the limitations of federal laws governing taxation of national banks, Acting Committee Chairman Murray E. Thompson said.

The general bill on taxation of intangible personal property requires the owner of such property to file an annual return with the director of the State Department of Revenue, by March 15 of each year, listing the securities owned and the dividends or yield received. The tax is payable when the return is filed and would become delinquent on June 1.

Yield is defined as the aggregate proceeds received as a result of ownership or beneficial interest in intangible personal property, whether received in money, dividends, credits or property.

The bill defines intangible personal property as money on hand, deposit or in transit; shares of stock and other evidences of interest; bonds, except those exempt from taxation by federal law; certificates of indebtedness other than capital notes issued by banks and trust companies; notes, debentures, accounts receivable, real estate and chattel mortgages, annuities, choses in action (recovery suits) conditional sales, and "any and all other obligations or evidences of indebtedness, whether such intangible personal property is secured or unsecured."

Provisions of the new Constitution, establishing the new method of taxing intangible personal property, were designed to require the return for taxation of millions of dollars in such property which was not reported under the old Constitution.

No Estimates on Collections.

No figures are available on the actual amount of such property in Missouri and the committee has been unable to arrive at any estimates on the probable tax collections under the proposed bills.

Tax research agencies have estimated that the tax paid under the old system, at the regular ad valorem rate, on the assessed value of such securities as were returned for taxation, was about $2,000,000 a year. It also was calculated that an eight per cent rate on annual yield under the new system would produce at least $4,000,000 a year. Acting Chairman Thompson said these figures on probable return were guesses, at best, and that only experience under the new system would determine the possible tax collections.

The Constitution requires that the intangible property taxes collected by the state shall be returned to the counties, municipalities and other political subdivisions from which it was collected, in the ratio of the local rates of taxation on property. The state is permitted to retain two per cent of the amount collected, to defray collection costs.

1946 HUDSON AUTO PRICES $55 TO $97 OVER 1942 LEVEL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Retail prices for new Hudson automobiles will range from $55 to $97 more than for comparative 1942 models, OPA announced today. The agency said the increases are "due largely to specification changes."

The 1946 prices include allowances for engineering equipment and additions for some items of optional appliances, such as bumpers, which were billed separately in 1942, OPA said. The new retail ceilings, exclusive of federal excise taxes, transportation and preparation and handling charges, as compared with 1942 prices are:

No. 51 series super six—Three-passenger coupe, $1085 in 1946, as compared with $1029 in 1942; two-door brougham, $1111 and $1057; four-door sedan, $1147 and $1085; six-passenger club coupe, $1145 and $1083. A price of $831 was provided for the Hudson chassis in this series. No 1942 price was listed. Commodore six—Three-passenger coupe, $1191 and $1107; four-door sedan, $1263 and $1173; club coupe, $1264 and $1167; two-door brougham, $1230 and $1144.

In line with policies for all automobiles, Hudson dealers' prewar discount margins will be trimmed by 2½ percentage points to prevent the full amount of price increase granted to manufacturers from being passed on at retail.

ESTATE OF GUY E. JURDEN

The estate of Guy E. Jurden, president of First National Bank of Wellston, who died Dec. 25, was valued at $242,363 in an inventory filed yesterday. The principal assets are bonds valued at $128,752; corporation stock, $90,000, and cash, $12,572.

Under the terms of his will the bulk of his estate was left in trust for his sister, Mrs. Robert O. Kennard, 11 Thornby place, who is to receive the income during her life. Ultimate equal beneficiaries of the estate are Washington and St. Louis universities. The St. Louis Union Trust Co. and Mrs. Kennard's husband were appointed cotrustees.

Grandson of Man Who Helped Keep U. S. Out of League Urges Strong U.N.O. and Atomic Control

Ex-Senator Lodge Tells Foreign Policy Group World Organization Is 'Our Only Hope'—We Must Have Efficient Working Arrangement With Russia, He Asserts.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 5

HENRY CABOT LODGE JR., former United States Senator from Massachusetts, grandson and namesake of the Senator Lodge who helped to prevent American participation in the League of Nations in 1919-20, spoke before the Foreign Policy Association here last night, stressing this point:

"Build up and strengthen the United Nations Organization."

His suggestion of an immediate task for the U. N. O. was:

"Effective control under the United Nations Organization, with thorough inspection and other safeguards, of the atomic weapon. This is a prime objective of foreign policy."

The other points of former Senator Lodge's speech, as he summed them up, were:

"An efficient working arrangement between the United States and Russia is of paramount importance to peace.

"The citizen in his approach to foreign policy must beware of gossip and rumor, avoid partisan politics and talk and think with restraint.

"America must be generous and help the distressed in other lands.

"America must be strong, especially in her Army, Navy and Air Force.

"Germany to be demilitarized.

"A constabulary recruited from stateless young men in Germany, to police Germany, could materially reduce the demand on the United States to furnish occupation troops and should be thoroughly, vigorously and promptly explored.

"U.N.O. Our Best Hope."

On the themes of the U.N.O. and American relations with Russia, Lodge said in part:

"Yes, building it (U.N.O.) up; it is our best hope. It is, as your distinguished citizen, Gov. Stassen, truly remarked, 'a vital beachhead,' in the battle for peace. It is an instrument which, as Mr. Bevin recently declared, if all nations resolve to use it, can establish a rule of law and prevent war.' He said further:

"'I say "resolve to use it" because to my mind here is the essence of the problem. Just as no system of inspection or control of weapons is to avail without good will, so no international organization, however carefully framed, will be of any avail unless the nations resolve to lay aside war and threat of war as an instrument of policy—unless they determine to establish between themselves such mutual confidence that war is unthinkable.'

"Indeed, in the words of the Scripture, 'the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life.' The abiding answer to the question of whether we shall have peace lies in the hearts of men. This spirit is stronger and more all-pervading than any organization, system or device. The Kingdom of Heaven is within you. Indeed systems and devices, to be successful, should follow closely the development of human nature and not try to act as a strait-jacket for human passions. The strength of the United Nations Organization lies in the fact that it is an honest document, corresponding to the sentiments of the times. We all hope that it will grow, because its growth connotes a growth in those spiritual values which are decisive in our quest for peace.

Not Out of Question.

"Let us be inspired by the thought that such a growth is by no means out of the question. In the war just ended we saw international unity on the fighting front. Gen. Eisenhower not only commanded Army, Navy and Air; he also commanded the troops of many different nations. I saw this international command at very close range in the extremely effective generalship of Gen. Devers, who had all French combat units in Europe under his orders. These international commands had elements of great difficulty, since war is always difficult. To take life-and-death orders from a foreigner is different from taking them from one of your own. Yet, in spite of these manifold opportunities for bitter feeling, we ended the war as friends with our Allies.

"May this partnership on the battlefield be the forerunner of successful co-operation in the larger field of international relations, so that the ordinary men and women of the world may live their lives and rear their children in peace.

"Maybe we cause the Russians disquiet. After all, they know us no better than we know them. Our philosophy about publicity may strike them as dangerous and excessive. They may be puzzled by our intense interest in countries so close to them. They may recall that, in the past, Americans have supported the White Russians in preference to the Bolsheviks, and that in the Russo-Japanese war we certainly appeared to be sympathetic to Japan. They may look at our Navy and Air Force with at least as much awe as we contemplate their huge ground army.

Russia and Atomic Bomb.

"We can perhaps get an idea of how they feel about our possession of the atomic bomb by asking ourselves how we would feel if Russia alone had the bomb and, having used it, refused to share it. In fact, we have each done much to insult, antagonize and thwart the other. In the past few months the loose talk has grown to proportions which to me seem dangerous.

"We want peace with them and I'm convinced that they want peace with us. We do not compete with each other—unless you see a competition in the realm of political ideas. There is no place today where our truly vital interests touch. We all know that, with the United States and Russia together, there will be international peace for all. Others may disturb the peace of the world; only we two can destroy it.

"We must have an efficient working arrangement with Russia. There is indeed, as the Catholic bishops of the United States recently said, a clash of ideologies, but, they continue, 'the frank recognition of these differences is preliminary to any sincere effort in realistic co-operation for peace . . .' There must be 'honest, promising discussion even on diverging plans.' Accordingly, 'our country acted wisely in deciding to participate in this world organization. It is better than world chaos.'

"'Better than world chaos.' That is the point. And chaos is what we may have unless we develop a working arrangement with Russia. This involves not only our diplomats; it imposes an obligation on all of us to think clearly and fairly and to speak with firmness and restraint."

'ANTI-WAR 'COLLEGE' TO STUDY DEFENSE, FOREIGN POLICY

High-Ranking Officers and State Department Workers to Attend Courses.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Government announced yesterday establishment of a new "college" of high-ranking officers of the armed forces and State Department to study "how not to have war" while learning how to wage it if it comes.

The permanent organization supersedes a smaller unit, the Army and Navy Staff College, which functioned the last two years of the war and which was concerned only with immediate operational problems.

V. Adm. Harry W. Hill, director of the new organization, explained to a press conference that the college would consider the whole problem of national defense, including not only military and naval aspects but the foreign policies of both the United States and other major powers. Included will be analyses of the role of air and sea and ground forces in future operations, joint intelligence, the atomic bomb and other new weapons.

Attending the college for 10-month courses, the first of which will start next June, will be men selected to represent the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and State Department. The college will be supervised by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Officers from the armed forces generally will be men with about 20 years' commissioned service. State Department representatives will have a corresponding level of service.

JAP PRISON CAMP GUARD GETS 30 YEARS FOR ATROCITIES

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 5 (AP) — Kitaro (the Bull) Ishida was convicted today of having committed atrocities against American prisoners of war and was sentenced to 30 years at hard labor.

Two Japanese previously had been sentenced to death, two to life imprisonment and one to 20 years in the Yokohama series of trials.

Ishida, a guard at Hirohata prison camp near Osaka, was convicted of "cruel, inhuman and brutal atrocities" against five captive Americans, and of personally using Red Cross food, cigarettes and other supplies. He was not charged with causing the death of any prisoners.

He was acquitted on two specifications of having beaten eight other Americans.

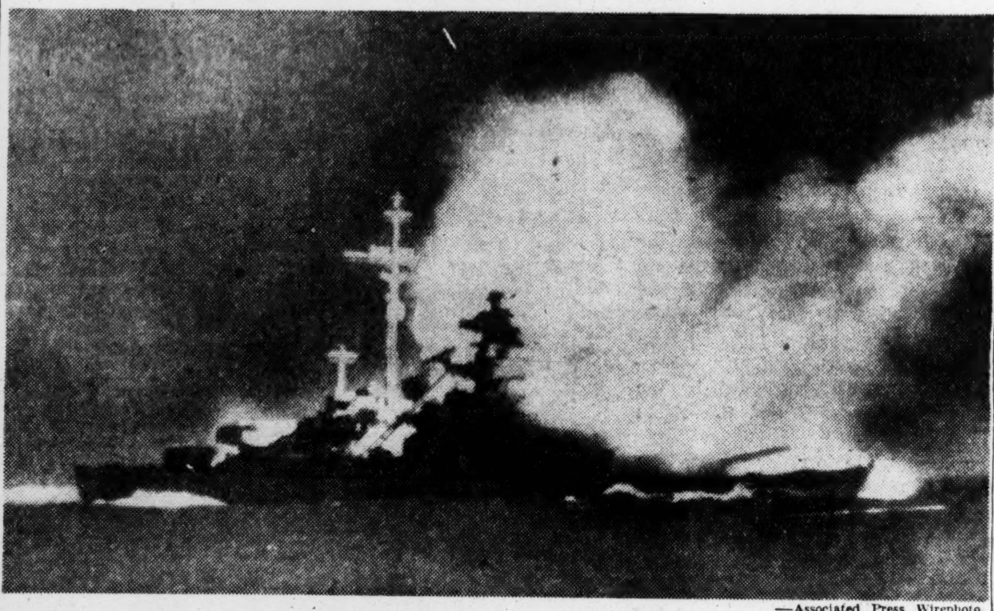
ARGENTINA DISAVOWS PERON ARMS CHARGE AGAINST U. S.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Argentine Government said last night it had no evidence that the United States was implicated in smuggling arms into the country.

It denied any responsibility for the statement made by Col. Juan D. Peron, presidential candidate. Peron said recently that the United States embassy was involved in smuggling arms to his political enemies.

The Foreign Office made public its reply given earlier to United States Charge d'Affaires John Cabot, who asked the Argentine Government either to disavow the Peron statement or furnish evidence of its truth.

Last Cruise of Battleship Bismarck



—Associated Press Wirephoto.

A direct hit blasts the 35,000-ton German battleship BISMARCK shortly before it sank in the Atlantic 400 miles west of Brest, France, after a 1750-mile chase from Bergen, Norway, by air and sea units of the British navy. This picture, which has just become available, was taken by Yeoman Fritz Bungert aboard the Nazi cruiser Prinz Eugen, which now is at Philadelphia preparing for a voyage to the South Pacific where it will be one of the targets in atomic bomb tests next May. Bungert says the picture was taken May 27, 1941, three days after the Bismarck, accompanied by the Prinz Eugen, sank the British battle cruiser Hood.

Several Factors Making Stock Speculation Hard to Control

Public Has Four Times 60 Billion It Had in '29; Strikes Delay Spending; Market Thin —Concern Felt for 'Uninformed.'

By HUDSON PHILLIPS
NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP).

A STRING of new highs since 1931 and some of the heaviest dealings in half a decade followed closely on the heels of a Government order placing stock market transactions on a strictly cash basis for the first time in history.

Federal Reserve Board action, effective Jan. 21, was designed to curb speculation and raised margin requirements on all security transactions to 100 per cent from 75.

Most of Wall Street had expected speculation to continue. Transactions had been virtually on a cash basis for some time. Financial men pointed to the bull market which roared through 1945 despite three margin boosts in a year's time. (In February, last year, margin requirements were lifted from 40 per cent to 50 and in the following July were again raised to 75.)

Behind the fast bidding was this: Most of the security buyers thought they foresaw a big business boom ahead as well as inflationary tendencies stemming from increases in both wages and prices as a means of settling far-flung labor strife.

Volume was slow in the first week of cash-and-carry stock transfers. But over that weekend Ford and Chrysler signed union agreements—first big break in the vast labor shutdown.

Prices vaulted to 15-year peaks several times in the second week and activity was fast. The market underwent profit-taking after the rises, but the general trend continued upward.

Federal Reserve officials admit their order had little, if any, effect on soaring stocks. Here are other factors difficult to control, but which are part of the total picture:

The American public has in its hands about four times the 60 billion dollars in cash and negotiable securities it held just before the historic market crash in 1929.

The paralyzing strike in the basic steel industry and its effect in other fields plus other labor disputes have further postponed the day when heavy production of consumer goods can balance supply and demand—or absorb some of this idle money.

Two factors have kept a lot of securities in lockboxes. Otherwise, they might have entered the market and helped loosen the jam.

1. Under the new ruling any profit a customer made had to be transferred to other "locked-in" stocks in his account to bring them from 75 to 100 per cent margins.

2. The capital gains tax discourages selling within six months of the purchase date. Even if a holder could make a good profit on a stock sale his tax levy is much higher than if he waits half a year.

The dearth of stocks available for purchase also resulted in a "thin" market—a condition in which prices frequently fluctuate in one or more points instead of fractions.

With more new customers in the market now than just before the 1929 crash, Government officials and responsible financial leaders are concerned about "uninformed" speculators, many of whom take "tips" from friends who pretend to be experts.

Most newcomers go for low-priced "cats and dogs" — stocks selling for a few cents or dollars. Many of these transactions are in over-the-counter shares instead of those listed on major exchanges.

New public offerings of stocks are snapped up by the speculators when the price is low. They also become active buyers of shares of well-known companies after stock split-ups which reduce the price in proportion to the number of new shares issued in exchange for the old.

M'ARTHUR FULFILLS PROMISE, CUTS FORCE TO 203,000 MEN

TOKYO, Feb. 5 (AP)—In less than the six months he had set, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has made good his plan to cut United States occupation forces in Japan to 200,000 men.

Since Japan's surrender five months ago, MacArthur has sent home under the discharge point system 324,829 Pacific veterans from forces in Japan. Headquarters figures show only 203,817 men remain in the occupation force.

MacArthur's Sept. 17 announcement that he expected to reduce the occupation force to 200,000 men in six months surprised Washington. President Truman said he had not known of it, but hoped it would speed discharges.

Five months of the occupation have passed without a single incident of resistance. Except for scattered military policemen, both officers and men go about unarmed.

BRADLEY'S LEGION POST VOTES FULL CONFIDENCE' IN HIM

Moberly Unit Against Inquiry Into Stelle's Position in Hospital Site Dispute.

MOBERLY, Mo., Feb. 5 (AP)—The Bazan-Bailey American Legion Post No. 6, of which Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans' Administrator, is a member, voted last night "full confidence" in the general whose administration has been criticized by John Stelle, national commander of the Legion.

The post rejected a resolution proposed by Redick O'Bryan of St. Louis, a member of the post, demanding a congressional investigation of Stelle's possible interest in land involved in a dispute with Gen. Bradley over the site of a veterans' hospital at Decatur, Ill.

John J. Casparotti, post secretary, said the concensus of members was that "Bradley can take care of himself."

A telegram expressing confidence in Gen. Bradley was addressed to the general, and also to Stelle, through Legion channels.

China Talking Of Concessions To Soviet Union

Discussions 'Informal,' Chiang Says —Again Hints at Retirement.

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNGKING, Feb. 5 (AP),

CHIANG KAI-SHEK told a press conference today that "informal" discussions looking toward economic concessions to Russia by China are taking place.

The Generalissimo also hinted that he might retire from active political life after a constitutional democracy is established.

Asked if he would be a candidate for president when elections are held under the projected new constitution, Chiang said: "I haven't thought of that. As far as I am concerned, as soon as the power of government is restored to the people I have finished my responsibility."

That was the second time within a week that Chiang had hinted he might not remain in office after the elections. Constitutional revisions are to be presented to the National Assembly May 5.

Chiang's acknowledgement that Russia was seeking economic concessions was made at a conference with foreign correspondents, who asked if discussions looking to concessions beyond published terms of the Chinese-Russian treaty were in progress.

Chiang at first replied that "no formal discussions are taking place between the Chinese Central Government and the Soviet Government."

However, Chiang replied in the affirmative when pressed to say whether this indicated informal discussions were taking place.

His statement followed renewal of rumors that Russia is demanding joint ownership and control of mining and other enterprises in Manchuria. These rumors were sharpened by the return to Chungking of Chiang Kiang-su, special commissioner for economic affairs discussions.

Chiang said Gen. George C. Marshall's activities would center on the question of reorganizing China's armed forces. These would involve political problems "in which he might render assistance."

Marshall, President Truman's special envoy who recently helped arrive at a truce in China's civil strife, conferred with both Government and Communist leaders dur-

Red Soldiers' New Individualism And Tastes of Life Outside U.S.S.R. Create Problems for Leaders

Norborg Writes That Soviet Union's Army Shows No Eagerness About Going Home —Rulers Reported Divided on Method of Handling Situation.

By C. SVERRE NORBORG
(Copyright, 1946.)
THIRD OF A SERIES.

ARTICLE 132 of the new Soviet Russian constitution proclaims military service to be "an honorable obligation of citizens of the U.S.S.R." The Red Army originally was organized by Trotsky as the arm and shield of the Communist revolution and the Communist party. By now, it has become the citizens' army of a self-conscious Russian Empire.

By its massive victories over the eastern part of the Nazi military machine, the Red Army serves as the cornerstone of Russian foreign policy in Europe and Asia. At the same time this military machine is posing one of the most delicate and fateful problems ever tackled by the rulers of the Soviet Union.

Wherever one goes in postwar Europe, one finds American soldiers have only one longing: to get home to the United States. Reports from all Russian-occupied areas indicate that nowhere is the Red soldier showing any such eagerness about his repatriation and demobilization.

A Red army captain in Warsaw, drinking his fifth vodka, exclaimed: "I love this army life. It is a man's paradise. It makes me forget the drabness of Omsk. This is the best form of collective living I've ever seen."

May Be Away for Years.

Hundreds of thousands of Red soldiers will not get home for months or maybe years. After demobilization their work will be needed in other parts of the Soviet empire.

Thousands of Red soldiers have deserted since V-E day. Their violence and banditry are bringing discredit to the Red army from the Vistula to Sofia and Bucharest.

Admittedly discipline is not an easy thing in any army of occupation, but the Red army battalion commanders are struggling with morale problems created by the Russian propaganda system itself.

First, Russian commanders are attempting to neutralize the gigantic hero worship by which Moscow, during the war, entreated each and every Red soldier to feel like a superman.

In a collectivist state it is obviously dangerous to install any excessive individual pride into citizen soldiers since heroes are not readily reconverted to the gray obedience of the orders of state supervisors of collective farms, factories, or labor gangs.

No one can envy the security police chief, Beria, his present job of neutralizing and controlling the proud spirits of 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 Red army heroes.

Disagreements Reported.

Moscow reports already have told of intense disagreements between Beria and Zhdanov, Stalin's adviser on the enforcement of strict security policies against Red army personnel.

Zhdanov is advocating comparative leniency in the treatment of soldiers' "individualism." In this fight he has the support of Marshal Zhukov, his friend and collaborator from the days of the Leningrad siege.

On the outcome, the future balance between a strict control and a growing democracy in Russia may depend.

According to best available estimates, 2,200,000 Red soldiers remain outside the Soviet Union. Unforeseeable developments may speed up Red army repatriation, but this will depend to a great extent on whether the Politburo decides that the Red soldiers have seen enough of the outside world. There is a growing feeling in Moscow circles that Russian eyes have seen too much already.

They have burned with flaming hate beside the ruins of the cities, factories and farms of Hitler's New Order. Looted and denuded, East Prussia, home of the Junkers, has now felt the total revenge of the Russians for the Ukraine and White Russia. And 1,200,000 cattle were driven

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Two Legionnaires on Stelle

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I seldom, if ever, attempt to express my views through the public press, but I am a Legionnaire of the 1917-18 vintage and this controversy over Gen. Bradley has aroused my ire.

John Stelle was elected National Commander by the duly elected delegates to the national convention. However, he was not given the authority by that election to put the Legion on record as an organization in supporting any controversial policy—such as the Bradley issue.

It may be possible that the Veterans' Administration is deficient in some of its activities. I cannot say. But it is evident that we have chosen as our Commander an impulsive man, who leans toward one-man rule. The Legion has prospered and grown for 26 years as a democratic organization.

If Mr. Stelle is using his position to improve his personal fortunes, I am convinced that our national executive committee should make a complete investigation. If they find him guilty, we of the rank and file will rise up en masse and demand his immediate resignation.

The Legion has meant much to us old-timers, who organized it and have struggled with its problems lo these many years. And we do welcome our World War II comrades. We do want them to take over in our stead and carry on the Legion's great traditions.

We of the old school and our comrades of the new school are not going to permit any one man to impair or smudge those traditions.

If, on the other hand, Mr. Stelle is accurate in his information, Congress should investigate and make its findings public. Most certainly, politics should play no part in giving our recent veterans their just dues.

CHAS. L. CONRAD.
Alton.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I just want to go on record to say that John Stelle does not speak for me, nor do I believe for the rank and file of other members of the American Legion, in his vicious attack on Gen. Bradley.

The egotism of some of the leaders of the Legion (including Stelle), has no bounds. To me, as a member, Commander Stelle's uncalled-for outburst is regrettable and embarrassing.

Unfortunately, delegates to the last national convention made a grievous error in their selection.

The Pauley Appointment

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I compliment you on your discerning editorial on the appointment of new-Democrat Pauley. It was copied in the Sacramento Bee of Jan. 29.

JNO. P. O'BRIEN.

First Things Second

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your excellent editorial supporting the Anglo-American financial agreement, including the loan to Britain, was very heartening to those Americans who know that economic co-operation and reconstruction are essential to peace. But it was most disturbing to read in a news item that Congress will delay its consideration of this vital measure, among other reasons, because Senator Barkley, acting chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, is "preoccupied as chairman of the Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee."

Just what should have congressional priority in an atomic age, muckraking in the disasters of the past war or building a world able to prevent another one?

Her Ladyship's Thanks

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

So Lady Astor thinks we should thank God there was a Great Britain. What for, only to mooch us out of more money and later on send more of our boys across the Atlantic to pull her out of the fire? I wouldn't think she would be so dumb to make such a remark. I think she should get down on her knees to thank God there was a United States.

PAUL A. ENDERS.

The Piano Player's Orchestra

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Let us put a stop to Kansas City politics in high places. First it was Hannegan, then Pauley and Vardaman. We are stuck with Truman for the present —thanks to Hannegan.

His incapability and poor judgment are growing clearer daily. If our democracy should ever crack wide open, it will not be caused by efforts of outsiders, but by unpatriotic actions of public servants in high places who destroy confidence in the American way of life as we should have it. I refer to little men who seem to think they owe loyalty to a few individuals and pressure groups rather than to the masses.

Every service man who fought to preserve American ideals should assert his indignation. It is time we inform our Congressmen of our views, as Harry Truman requested. Insist that they keep an eagle eye on Harry.

G. K.

Enough of Mr. Pauley

Exactly what Edwin W. Pauley expects the Senate Naval Affairs Committee to think from the mass of conflicting statements he has presented as the basis for its judgment of his fitness to become Under Secretary of the Navy, it is impossible even to conjecture. It must be a humiliating experience to President Truman to see his nominee, the man he is said to be grooming for Secretary of the Navy, making statement after statement which is contradicted by witnesses and which he is then forced to reverse.

Of Mr. Pauley's eagerness for the high public office to which he has been nominated there can be no doubt. In all his testimony he has displayed an embarrassing readiness to say whatever he believes at the moment will be most likely to gain him the confirmation. He didn't talk with the then Attorney General Biddle and Secretary Ickes about the tidelands case, and he did; he had the Mexican Government's formal approval for a refinery project that was highly favorable to Mr. Pauley and highly unfavorable to Mexico—and he hadn't; he would be glad for the Supreme Court to pass on the tidelands title, and he had used every influence in his power to prevent it. And so forth.

Mr. Pauley would have presented a more attractive picture of himself if he had stuck to his guns as a hard-boiled business man who was interested only in getting rich and who was using every political influence at his disposal to speed that pleasant process. However limited such a vision might have seemed, at least it would have shown the courage of conviction. He has instead displayed a certain lack of pride in the ruthless course he had followed, a timidity toward revealing it to the public gaze.

As a final inducement for the Senate to confirm him, Mr. Pauley now promises to be anything that is expected of him, to cherish in his heart as a flaming ideal any opinion that is expected of him, to do with the faithfulness of a true public servant anything that is expected of him. He admits that his point of view is not that of the Navy Department. While the Navy has been trying to bring tidelands oil into Federal sanctuary in order to conserve it for defense of the nation in time of war, Mr. Pauley has been trying to keep it under state control so that it can continue to be blindly exploited for private profit. But Mr. Pauley, the exploiter, is willing to become Under Secretary Pauley, the great conserver, at the drop of a hat. "My confirmation," he testified, "would automatically change my point of view not only on the tidelands issue but on anything else to make it conform to Navy Department policy."

For a man who aspires to public office, could there be a more shameful, more discrediting admission? Does the nation want as its Under Secretary—and shortly Secretary—of the Navy a man who says he has no principles he will not sacrifice for confirmation? If Mr. Pauley is so willing to change his mind about tidelands oil in order to satisfy his selfish desire for confirmation, why wouldn't he as readily change his mind again if, after being confirmed and taking office, he saw it to his interest to do so?

Mr. Pauley could more appropriately be nominated, and confirmed by suspension of the rules, to be a weather-vane. He has demonstrated conclusively, not once but many times, during his testimony to the Senate committee, that he is not the man for Under Secretary of the Navy or for any other public office. The Naval Affairs Committee should reject him without prolonging the agony further, or, more appropriately still, Mr. Truman, who is responsible for the egregious nomination, should withdraw his name.

'TO ERR IS TRUMAN.'
QUIP OF THE MONTH,
SUMS UP U.S. SPIRIT
By Mark Sullivan

During late January a "wisecrack" has been current about President Truman. It implied a critical estimate. But the essential spirit of it was humorous friendliness. The wisecrack, origin unknown, is "To err is Truman."—From the Washington Post of Jan. 27, 1946.

A Curb on Postoffice Censorship

The important fact about the Supreme Court's decision in the Esquire case is that it knocks out a large part of the unwarranted censorship that has been imposed by the Postoffice Department for many years. It does not fully abolish that censorship, but the way is open for Congress to do so.

The high court doesn't approve the character of the magazine in question, and few of its defenders in the long-drawn proceeding did so. The Justices saw the issue to be, not the quality of Esquire's illustrations and other contents, but the fact that the Postmaster General, on disapproving of the publication, ordered it classified in a category calling for increased postal rates. Congress, said the unanimous decision, "has left the Postmaster General with no power to prescribe standards for the literature or the art which a mailable publication disseminates."

So the court is saying that hereafter no such restrictions can be imposed by the Postmaster General, but its limiting of the finding to "mailable" periodicals leaves him still with the power to determine whether or not a publication is fit to enter the mails. This, too, is a form of censorship involving danger to freedom of the press. In fact, the Postoffice's continued right to bar a periodical from the mails is an even greater power than the now-abolished right to penalize it with higher rates.

Bills now pending in both houses of Congress would remove this power from the hands of the Postoffice and give it to the courts, where it obviously belongs. This was done some years ago with respect to imported literature, on which the Customs Service formerly made the decisions. Now that the Supreme Court has unanimously taken its stand against one-man censorship, as far as the Esquire case permitted it to go, Congress can finish the job by promptly passing the bills.

Why Not School Fact-Finding?

The issue that has closed most of the city's public schools, and imposed an educational blackout on some 90,000 children and 10,000 members of adult classes, is a wage dispute, pure and simple.

School custodians and matrons, members of an AFL union, demanded pay increases averaging $20 a month, on the ground that the present scale is inadequate to cover the increase in living costs. The Board of Education rejected the demand, on the ground that the custodians and matrons already are receiving more than the community's prevailing wage for similar work. The union disputed the board's figures on total working hours, as stated in newspaper advertisements. Arbitration was suggested by the union, rejected by the board and the strike was on.

If ever a case was made to order for use of a fact-finding board, this is the one. There are no complicating factors of prices or union rights or industrial policy such as have handicapped use of the device in some of the nation-wide disputes. Simple facts are at issue, facts about wages and hours and living costs. These are facts which any competent research panel should be able to assemble in a relatively short time.

Meanwhile, as the schools remain closed, neither party to the dispute is winning any credit for its behavior. Certainly the action of numerous custodians in pocketing the keys to school buildings so that they could not be opened yesterday morning was an indefensible tactic. And the Board of Education has gathered no laurels by its stubborn refusal to consider a concession, or even to accept conciliation. Whatever the ins and outs of the legalisms involved, it is incredible that the board cannot participate in one of the standard methods of settling labor disputes.

Fact-finding, however, should be acceptable to the board, and also to the union. Both sides ought to welcome a chance to get disinterested evidence into the record. The union members would win public appreciation by returning to work while the fact-finders gather their data, and the board would have a new chance to consider the issue open-mindedly.

What St. Louis wants above all is the reopening of its public schools. This is no time for stubbornness or petty pride on either side, while the city's school children are deprived of their educational opportunities.

Mystery of the Missing Woman

In poll after poll, year after year, the Women's National Press Club probably never named 10 more outstanding women as the outstanding women than in the 1945 honor roll, but for the first time, there seems to be a missing element here. The new list of feminine "makers of news and promoters of progress" lacks something or somebody. And since it would be unseemly, ungentlemanly and unwise to suggest that any of the 10 noteworthy ladies be removed from the list to make way for another, we suggest an amendment to the roll of honor. For where is Eleanor?

Another Kaiser Invention

Probably Henry J. Kaiser is not the first manufacturer to offer a workers' bonus based directly on quantity of production, but his offer of $5 per Kaiser and Frazer car produced will bring it to a center of attention it has hitherto lacked. Without a doubt, too, the bonus is a substantial consideration in the Kaiser-Frazer contract with the UAW, so it has implications for the GM strike.

In the most direct fashion imaginable, the bonus promotes higher production, the country's crying need, and it makes every man in the plant interested in every other man's performance. As Mr. Kaiser puts it, "there is no slowing down and no soldiering on the job when the men know they will be rewarded. This is a way for labor to improve its own living standards. . . ."

Production bonuses, of course, differ from profit-sharing, a devise recently adopted by Eric Johnston and others and discussed on this page as offering promise for peace in such affairs as the General Motors dispute. Bonuses are not intended to accomplish precisely the same ends in the same degree, so a comparison of their worth would lack substance. At least, however, as Ernest Lindley points out approvingly in the Washington Post, the production bonus is simpler and easier to understand; it is free of possible bookkeeping controversy; it cannot cause employes disappointment by managerial errors in which they have had no part, and it raises no questions over the ideology of who owns the profits.

The device is one, we believe, about which much more should and will be heard.

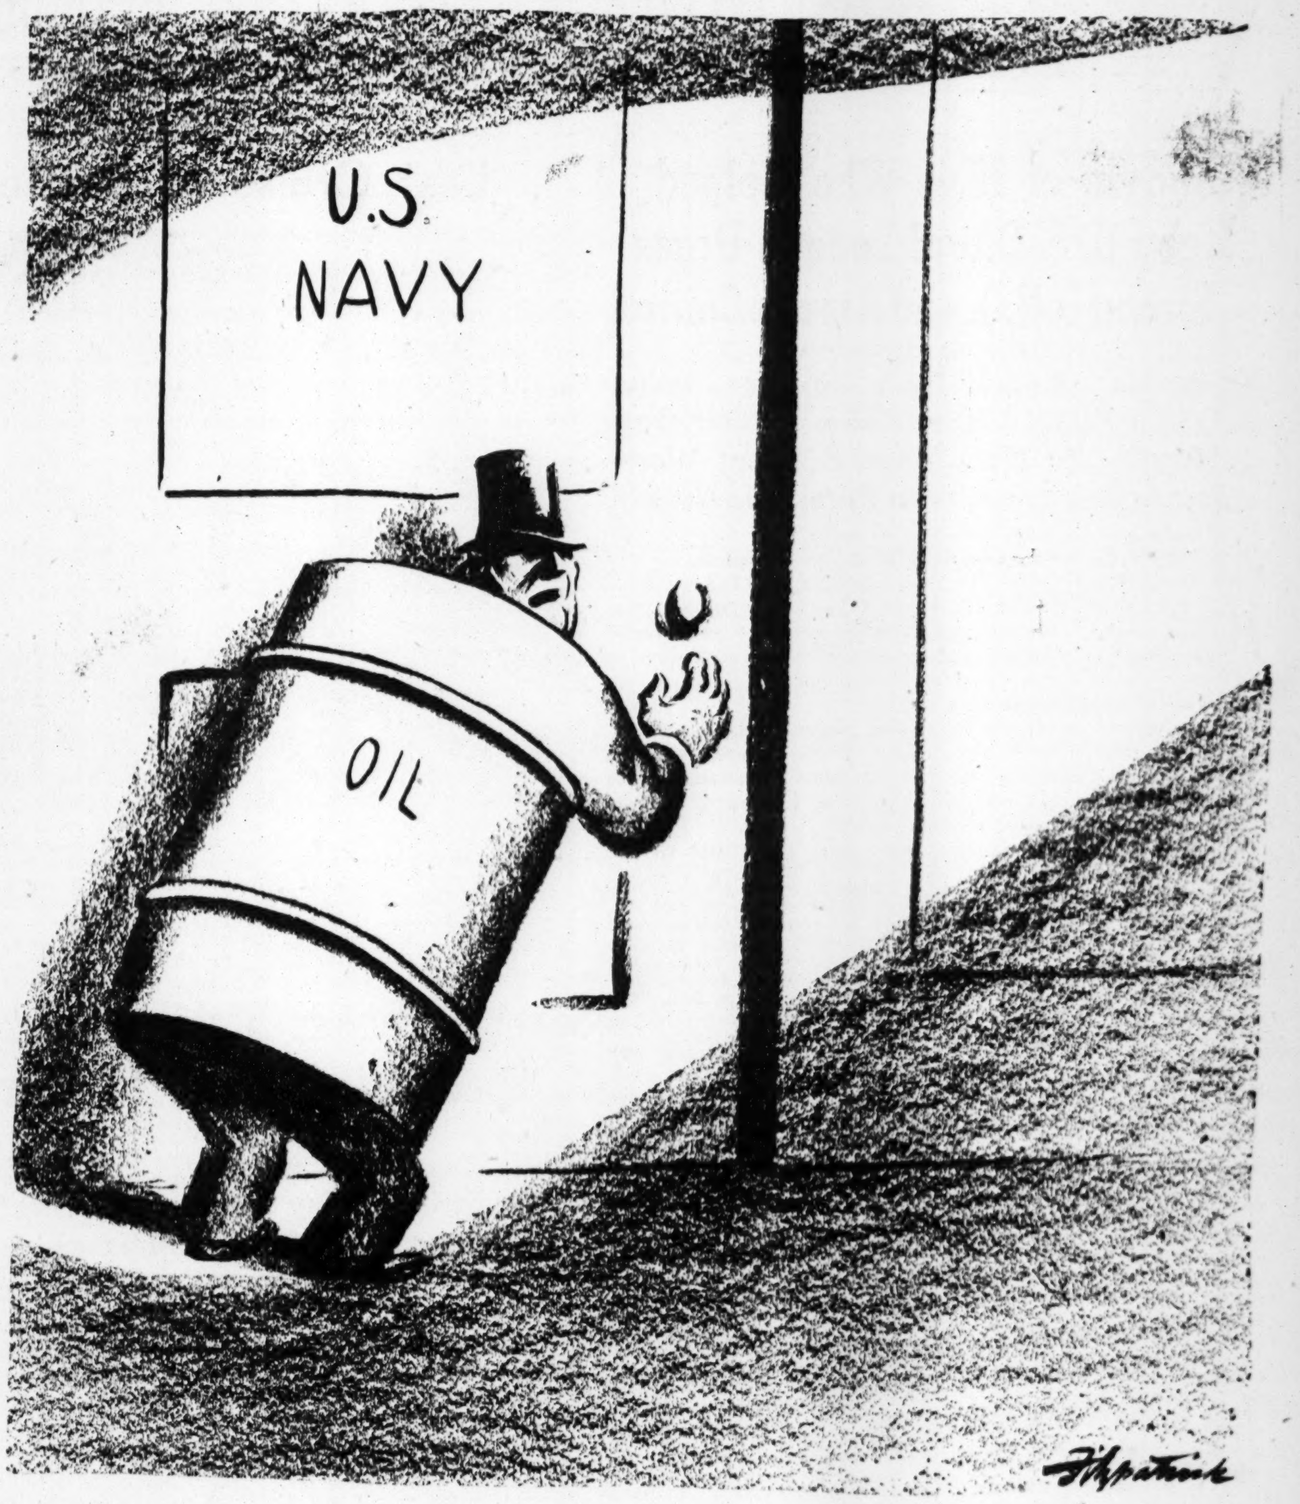
Every Man a Committeeman

Pedro Lopez, leader of the Philippine delegation to the United Nations General Assembly, cut to the heart of one of America's tribal superstitions—committee-worship—when he objected to the formation of an atomic commission responsible only to the Security Council. It was, he declared, as if "I, as a council, named myself as a committee to make an investigation so that I could report back to myself."

Mr. Lopez will find, on more leisurely examination of the committee method, that it contains many other fascinating anomalies as well. Committees are fine things, of course—the UNO, for instance, is simply a world-wide committee—but everybody who ever serves on one should bear in mind how vulnerable they are to becoming ridiculous.

Too many committees are made up of people who think that nothing more needs to be done once you have a committee for it. Too many are used to share responsibility—i.e., divide it into pieces small enough to be concealed easily about the person. For all their faults, though, committees have their place; and they certainly ought to be kept in it.



HALT!

The Price of World Leadership

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Fifty United Nations look to Uncle Sam to lead the way toward peace, writer says in open letter to readers; citizens must pay the cost of global security in understanding and personal sacrifice; failure to assume our responsibilities can lead to another war.

By Maj. George Fielding Eliot, Military Commentator

You want a peaceful world. You want security. You'd vote for that, wouldn't you? Whether you're a banker or a farmer, a cab-driver or a sales-girl, you'd be for that.

Fine. You can have it, if you really want it. But you can't have it for nothing. You can't have it without paying for it.

I don't mean just paying taxes—hiring somebody to do it all for you. I mean also in personal sacrifice, inconveniences, sweat and attention. You'll get the kind of government, and the kind of policy, that you demand—which means the kind you deserve.

This whole row about demobilization is a case in point. Every time I write anything about that subject, pointing out that the Army still has certain responsibilities abroad, I get a lot of letters telling me about how Johnny was double-crossed and is still in Austria or Shanghai or the Aleutian Islands when Johnny ought to be home.

The implication is that the writer doesn't care whether or not the Army does its job, just so long as Johnny comes back.

Big Role for United States

In a world which contains atomic bombs and long-range rockets, this doesn't make sense.

What has Johnny coming home got to do with the atomic bomb? A whole lot. If we are to have this brave new world, a world of peace and security under law, the United States has got to take a big part—indeed, the principal part—both in making and in enforcing the law: the law that there shall be no more total and global wars; the law that means life or death to civilized mankind.

That job isn't one that is far in the future. It's one that has already begun and will be with us from now on.

It isn't a job that is just being done by our State Department and by our representatives on the United Nations Organization, either. They deal with existing conditions; they deal with the changing problems of this ever-changing world. But America also has the responsibility of helping to make existing conditions better, of helping to prevent the growth of problems which if neglected may in the end prove insoluble save by war.

A Constant Guard for Peace

Have we not learned this from our bitter experience? Don't you remember that when Japan started on her march of conquest in 1931, she was isolated in the Pacific, relatively weak, and could have been stopped by vigorous joint opposition? Don't you remember that Hitler was once so weak and uncertain that he gave orders to stop his invasion of the Rhineland if the French so much as gave the preliminary order for mobilization?

Don't you wish that somebody had stopped those criminals then, when it could have been done without all the frightful tragedy and suffering through which we have just passed? Sure you do. So do we all.

Well, who do you think is going to look out for things like that in the future? Who is going to see to it that timely action is taken to prevent bad conditions from getting worse, to prevent little problems from becoming big ones?

You. That's who. You and 140,000,000 other American citizens. That is, if the job is done at all. Not alone, surely? Not without some help from the 50 other United Nations? No—they'll help, because all mankind is in the same boat now.

America Is the Spark-Plug

They are all looking to Uncle Sam to take the lead. America is the spark-plug of the whole machine. If we do our part, others will do theirs. But if we do not do our part, the machine just won't run at all. Every eye in the world is on us!

Every hopeful heart and every despairing heart in the world is waiting to see how America is going to act. Hope everywhere can be quenched by inaction, slothfulness or selfish indifference here. Despair everywhere can be lifted toward the light of hope by firm, determined, intelligent action on the part of the United States, which means, again, you.

If you don't care, your Government won't care, or won't be able to do anything, no matter how much the individuals in it may care.

If you do care, then you'll have to realize that caring effectively will cost you something. It'll cost you money—heavy taxes. It'll cost you time—your own time or the time of your sons and brothers and sweethearts, training to keep America strong or carrying on the necessary duties of world security in distant lands.

The Cost for Individuals

It'll cost you pains and trouble—keeping yourself informed, keeping up with what is going on in the world and with the policies of your Government, so that you can constantly apply the necessary pressures and give the necessary support to your public servants, and so that you can choose them wisely

You have just been through a war, and you don't want to think about wars any more. You don't want to be bothered. You want your dear ones back, and you want to turn away from the cruel mess the rest of the world is in and devote yourself to your own future. That's natural. But you won't have any future if you carry that line of conduct too far.

Presently the world will catch up with you again. Then you will say—if you have time to say anything—"Why didn't somebody do something about all this while there was still a chance?"

That's the chance you have right now. You can do something about it if you want to—enough.

ALARM CLOCK IDEA

From the Chicago Sun.

One of the nation's giant corporations proposes to produce new varieties of alarm clocks in 1946 that will awaken people "gradually and enticingly."

The idea should be put in cold storage to await the next Era of Good Feeling. This year the citizenry, both public and private, needs alarm clocks which clang with a loud, snarling note, irritating one and all into leaping from bed into full days of working and thinking hard.

Don't Trust the Japanese, A Veteran Observer Urges

"Key to Japan," by Willard Price. (John Day Co., New York.)

Willard Price does not trust the Japanese. He has noted their abject attitude after the surrender, their smiling compliance with Allied directives, their expressions of eagerness to reform, the statements of moderates who denounce the militarists, but still he does not trust the Japanese. This distrust is based on what Mr. Price learned about the character of the people in some 30 years of association with them, and what he learned of the Emperor system in a searching investigation that took three years, as related in the writer's previous book, "Japan and the Son of Heaven."

The Japs as Mr. Price knows them are a conceited, secretive, deceitful people. Honest in personal relations, they put no value whatever on treaties or pledges if their scrapping redounds to the greater glory of Nippon. They are also resourceful, inventive and determined. The late war was viewed as only the first stage in a 100-year conflict in which Japan, despite early setbacks, was ultimately to be victorious.

So, in this observer's view, the present campaign of compliance is designed for one purpose only: "to end the occupation as quickly as possible." This will permit secret rearmament, renewed commercial expansion, revived anti-white propaganda among the Asiatic peoples, all looking to a new try for conquest. Can they do it? Mr. Price thinks the Jap talent for dissimulation will make such a program readily possible if the Allies give them half a chance.

The possibility will be all the greater, he warns, if the throne is allowed to remain after the occupation forces withdraw. The militarists can use it again, he says, to awe the people into submission, suppress labor movements and inspire a new holy war of imperialism. Surrender came more easily because the Allies accepted Hirohito, but the long-term job of insuring permanent peace was made immensely more difficult by the decision. So he considers abolition of the dynasty to be "a most essential duty of the occupation."

The political chapters of the book, though the most important, occupy less space than the travelogue and biographical sections. These have their value, however, especially Mr. Price's account of his pre-war travels in the mandated areas, usually forbidden to Western visitors. There are also informed sketches of Jap leaders, historical data and many facts on the country.

In his program for dealing with Japan, Mr. Price emphasizes the need for a long occupation. This is vital, he says, in order to destroy the remnants of militarism, to smash the industrial overlords, to develop a new peace economy, to achieve political and agrarian reform and, above all, to allow time for education of a new generation. Despite the handicap presented by the long indoctrination of the Japanese in the ways of treachery and war, they are an adaptable people, and Mr. Price sees hope that "militarism will at last seem as pointless to them as it does today to the people of once militant Sweden."

'A Non-Technical Book on Plastics

"Plastics: What Everyone Should Know," by Bernard Wolfe. (Bobbs-Merrill Co., Indianapolis.)

The origins of the plastics industry, its processes and its tremendous possibilities are here set forth in a non-technical book. The author, editor of Mechanix Illustrated Magazine, presents a "parade of magical synthetics," which covers a range from nylon hosiery to airplane bodies, with a look ahead to plastic houses, draperies, shoe soles and furniture.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Our Pledged Words

THOUGH peace in the Pacific is still far away, we have made remarkable progress in clarifying and strengthening our own policy. We have made up our minds what it is we do not want and what it is we do want to have happen on the mainland of Asia, and we have, it seems, succeeded in persuading both the Chinese and the Russians that this is the best possible arrangement for them as well.

The main points in this development, which began in the autumn, have been a reorganization inside the State Department, the resignation of Ambassador Hurley, a thorough reconsideration of our own military position in China, the Far Eastern discussions at the Moscow conference of Foreign Ministers, a well-planned diplomatic action in Washington and in Chungking, the mission of Gen. Marshall.

What we decided we wanted is a political unification of China so that there might be no civil war in which China would become a gigantic Spain, the Russians backing one faction and we the other. It would have been only too easy to drift, and to be pushed and pulled, into a horrible mess. The Administration deserves the highest credit for seeing the danger clearly, and for acting swiftly, skillfully and sincerely to prevent it.

Our Own Confusion.

It is not, I think, too soon to say that they have prevented it. For while there is as yet no certainty that China is out of the woods, it looks very much as if the United States were. We have got free of entanglement as the supporters of one of the Chinese parties; we have recovered our historic position as the supporters of China as a whole, and therefore we are far better able to play our natural and proper role as friendly mediator between China and the Soviet Union.

The next big phase in the establishment of peace will come in the Southern Pacific—in Indo-China and in Indonesia. Though this region is not our primary responsibility, it seems clear that we shall in the end have to participate in the settlement.

The British, the French and the Dutch, separately and collectively, have not sufficient power and moral authority in this turbulent region to bring about a constructive settlement unless in some way or other it is also underwritten by the United States. We have the greatest strength within reach of the region and we have a different history in respect to colonies and empire.

But before we can contribute effectively to a settlement, we must clear up the confusion about our own claims in the islands north of the equator. Until this has been cleared, we can make no firm plans about our own armed forces. Moreover, our moral position will be weakened.

Twisted Moral Position.

It will not be easy to clear up our moral position. For we have got ourselves snarled up in a series of conflicting moral principles, thanks to our habit of proclaiming great and high-sounding generalities without stopping to think whether we mean them in concrete cases.

Thus we have the first two principles of the Atlantic Charter which, if they mean what they say, should debar us from claiming any new special rights—"no aggrandizement, territorial or other"—in any of these islands. We have all the principles of the trusteeship proposal. And we have our own claims, on the ground of national security and by right of the bloodshed to conquer the islands, to undisputed domination.

This is very embarrassing, and it does not seem to help much to have Sumner Welles tell us that the Government must "abide by its pledged word." As one who did a lot of the pledging, he should get off his high moral horse, and face the fact that we have contradictory pledges.

Hypocrisy or Sincerity?

For there is no use pretending that we can observe the spirit or even the letter of the Atlantic Charter, or the spirit of the trusteeship system, and at the same time make the same kind of arrangements in these islands which the Navy, the Congress and the public have been promised.

The best exit from this dilemma would be the wholly honest solution. It would be to say to our allies that these islands are not in the same class with the Philippines, Indo-China, Indonesia, Palestine. The problem of self-government cannot arise in any foreseeable time, and therefore the principles of the Atlantic Charter and of the trusteeship system do not really apply to them.

We should like, therefore, to annex the ones we are sure we need, and then to administer them in the spirit of the United Nations Charter and in order that we may be able to fulfill our responsibilities, which are very great, in stabilizing the peace of the Pacific.

This is not only what we want, it is what our allies are quite willing to let us have. It is what we shall in fact get. The only real question is whether this solution is to be effected hypocritically or sincerely.

For Less Double Talk.

The hypocritical solution is to annex the islands by drawing up deeds of trust which make it appear that we have not annexed them. Is there any advantage to anyone in such make-believe? If we get possession of these islands under a deed of trust which permits us to do anything and everything we would do if we had annexed them, I do not think we serve the cause of morality by pretending that we have not.

To be sure, it means that we must admit that general principles we have repeatedly proclaimed are not so general as we said they were. It is embarrassing to admit it, and tempting to hide it by inventing a formula which is just sheer double talk.

But in the long run it will be better to have fewer general principles and less double talk than the most resounding general principles and lots of double talk. For the way to abide by your pledged word is to pledge your word only when you know you can and know you mean to abide by it.

MARQUIS CHILDS

An Odd Maneuver by George E. Allen

WHILE the controversy over the appointment of Edwin W. Pauley to be Under Secretary of the Navy has made headlines, beneath the surface in the Senate another appointment has caused almost more stir. That is the appointment of George E. Allen to be chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The RFC is the biggest business in the world. The transactions which must be approved by the chairman involve billions of dollars. The question inevitably arises as to the fitness of the man appointed to such a responsible position.

Allen is a genial Mississippian who was in the hotel business until 1933. Then, thanks to his Democratic connections, he got the kind of political job which means a pleasant official life with only limited responsibilities. He was made one of the commissioners of the District of Columbia.

In this position he made many friends. One of them was Franklin D. Roosevelt. Allen had an unfailing fund of Southern stories, which he told with great good humor and skillfull mimicry.

Bank Experience Needed.

One of the friends Allen made during this period was Victor Emanuel, a highly successful promoter and financier who, at the age of 47, has a dominating interest in many corporations. Due largely to Emanuel's friendship, Allen was given directorships in several of these companies. He has been a vice president of the Home Insurance Co. of New York since 1938.

During his campaign as vice presidential candidate in the fall of 1944, Allen gave President Truman advice and comfort. It was not surprising, therefore, that the President, shortly after he entered the White House, should make his friend one of his close advisers.

It goes without saying that a man with experience in banking and business is needed to direct the vast affairs of the RFC. One question certain to interest the Senate is the extent of Allen's business experience.

But Senate liberals, both Democratic and Republican, are looking at the appointment from another angle. They recall an incident in which Allen played a curious part.

That was in connection with President Truman's request to Congress to expand the unemployment compensation program. The President asked for many changes, including a maximum payment of $25 a week, so that unemployment insurance would help the jobless get through the reconversion period with greater ease.

Supposedly, this was one of the cardinal points in the President's reconversion program. Yet, when the unemployment compensation bill was before the Senate Finance Committee, Allen appeared at an executive session with what he said was a confidential memorandum from the White House.

That Famous Memo.

In effect, the memorandum broke down the President's requested program into what was "essential" and what was "desirable." The "essential" part of the request covered a bare minimum, while included under the merely "desirable" were most of the expansion features,

This came at a time when Senator Robert M. LaFollette Jr., minority member of the committee, and others were trying to rally support behind the President's measure. The contents of the so-called confidential memorandum quickly became known in Senate and House. The effect was to pull the props out from under whatever support had been built up. The unemployment insurance bill has been bottled up in the House Ways and Means Committee for many months.

One explanation at the time was that Allen had got his White House signals crossed. But those who were angered by his maneuver could not accept this explanation. No one, they said at the time, could make a mistake about a typed memorandum presented by an agent of the White House.

Moreover, they point out, this same agent is now being rewarded with appointment to one of the most responsible positions in the Government. How, the liberals demand, does this square with President Truman's repeated appeals for legislation such as the expanded unemployment program?

While this may never come up in the debate over Allen's appointment, it is being very much talked about by an important element in the Senate

CARDINAL GLENNON'S CHURCH ONE OF OLDEST

Dates From Fifth Century or Earlier—Restored in 1850s.

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine)

St. Clement's Church in Rome, assigned to John Cardinal Glennon as the church from which he will take his cardinalitial title on his investiture Feb. 18-21, is one of the oldest and most famed of Christian temples. It dates from the fifth century or earlier, and is in the neighborhood between the Colosseum and the church and palace of St. John Lateran.

The Vatican Press Service, in announcing the assignment yesterday, spoke of St. Clement's as an Irish church, and mentioned the fact that Cardinal Glennon was born in Ireland. It was the titular church of the late William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. Its pastor is the Rev. Raymond Dowdall.

Explaining the reference to St. Clement's as an Irish church, Msgr. John P. Cody, chancellor of the archdiocese, said that it has been, since the 1850s, in charge of the Irish Dominicans, who directed the work of restoring the ancient lower church, after it had been buried for centuries.

San Clemente, to use the Italian form of its name, comprises an upper and a lower church, the latter discovered in 1858 after it had been buried and forgotten for centuries. Masonry, found below the courtyard of the upper church, led to an investigation.

Subterranean Basilica.

Abbot Mulhooly of the adjoining monastery of Irish Dominicans, with the support of Pope Pius IX, caused excavations to be made, and a complete subterranean basilica was laid bare, with a remarkable group of paintings, most of them well preserved. The Irish Dominicans have since been in charge of the church.

Historical research showed that in the year 1084, in wars of the Emperor Henry IV against Pope Gregory VII, all the region surrounding the church was laid waste, and the church suffered such damage that Pope Paschal II (1099-1118) found the task of restoring it beyond his means, and after removing the movable marble ornaments, the old church was filled with rubble and a new building was placed above it. The lower church is now the chief attraction to visitors.

St. Clement Third Pope.

St. Clement, whose name is borne by both the upper and the lower edifice, was the third Pope (91-100), and traditionally suffered martyrdom under the Emperor Domitian.

Red shoes, made on a special order for Cardinal Glennon at the Jefferson avenue factory of the International Shoe Co., will be worn by him on ceremonial occasions in Rome. Special lasts were used in making the shoes, which are on the pattern of old-style colonial pumps, with elastic gores instea of buttons or laces, and with gold-plated buckles. A pair of black slippers, also with gold-plated buckles, was made on the same pattern. The shoes were delivered yesterday, after being displayed in the company's showroom.

BRIGGS A. HOFFMAN DIES; INSURANCE FIRM OFFICER

Briggs A. Hoffman, vice president of the Lawton, Byrne & Bruner Insurance Agency, died of streptococcic meningitis at St. John's Hospital today after a four-day illness. He was 53 years old.

He had been connected with the insurance firm for 11 years. Before that he was in the insurance business with his father, the late Reinhold A. Hoffman. Active in United Charities fund-raising campaigns, he served in two drives as chairman of the special gifts division. Two years ago he was president of the Propeller Club, an organization of river pilots and others interested in river navigation. He was a member of the Missouri Athletic and Racquet clubs.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Paula Forster Hoffman, with whom he lived at 4954 Lindell boulevard; a son, Cpl. Briggs A. Hoffman Jr., who is on his way home from the European theater, and a daughter, Katherine, 12 years old.

Chaplain Burt, whose father, the Rev. Bates C. Burt of Pontiac, Mich., will perform the ceremony, assisted by the bride's brother, the Rev. Edward O. Miller of Christ Church, Cincinnati, has selected his attendants. His brother, Sgt. Alfred S. Burt, stationed with the Army at San Angelo, Tex., will be best man. The prospective bride's brother, Army Capt. Robert O. Miller, is expected home from Germany to serve as head usher. Other ushers will include William C. Norvell of Baltimore, brother-in-law of the bridegroom-elect; the Rev. Bradford Hastings of Overland, the Rev. Bayard Clark of St. Louis, Arnold Olena of Philadelphia and Capt. Kenneth Turner, U.S.A., of Pontiac.

ADM. RICHARD H. LEIGH DIES; COMMANDED FLEET IN 1932-33

LONG BEACH, Calif., Feb. 5 (AP)—Adm. Richard Henry Leigh, who was commander in chief of the fleet and chairman of the Navy board in Washington before his retirement in 1934, died yesterday. He was 75 years old.

He died at the naval hospital here. Following private funeral services this afternoon, he will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Adm. Leigh did not serve in World War II, but in World War I headed anti-submarine operations as chief of staff to Adm. William S. Sims.

He was fleet commander in chief in 1932-33. He later became Navy board chairman and resigned from that post in 1934 to retire because of physical disabilities.

He was born in Batesville, Miss., and was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis and the Newport (R. I.) Naval College, becoming an admiral in 1925.

CHURCH UNITY PLEA BY BISHOP SCARLETT

He Urges Action Looking to Merger of Episcopalians, Presbyterians.

Passage of a resolution urging that active steps be taken toward unification of the Episcopal with the Presbyterian Church was sought yesterday by Bishop William Scarlett in an address at the opening of the 107th annual convention of the Missouri diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The convention is being held at Christ Church Cathedral, 1210 Locust street.

"These are days in which the religious forces of the nation, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish should be drawing closer together," he said. "The things we have in common are infinitely greater than the things which separate us. If together we stand as a united community of faith for the great principles we hold in common, our common testimony and our united action would have great power."

Bishop Scarlett also called for religious support for world unity, racial equality and industrial democracy.

"A beginning of world organization has been made in the United Nations," he said. "From this we should push on as rapidly as is humanly possible toward real world government. To develop a sense of world community, which must undergird any attempt to organize the world politically, is the function of the Christian Church."

Discussing racial equality he said the first task in the United States is to grant equality of opportunity to all peoples. The problem underlying industrial democracy, he added, is one of giving every man status or importance, a feeling that he is needed and is a direct and useful contributor to the welfare of society.

Following a dinner at Bishop Tuttle Memorial, Bishop Stephen E. Keller of Minnesota, described the missionary work of the Episcopal Church and its Reconstruction and Advance Fund campaign for $8,800,000 to restore churches and missions destroyed throughout the world in the war.

FOUR PREVIOUSLY REPORTED MISSING NOW LISTED AS DEAD

Four service men of the St. Louis area who were previously reported missing in action were listed as dead today by the War and Navy Departments. They were:

Motor Machinist's Mate 2-C Raymond R. Walz, 32 years old, missing in action since July 5, 1944, when his submarine, the Golet, was lost off the coast of Honshu, Japan. He was the husband of Mrs. Dolores Walz, 3923 Lexington avenue, and the son of Edward Walz of Robertson, Mo.

Army Lt. Malcolm C. Paulett, 20, a Mustang fighter pilot, missing over Germany since last Feb. 23. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Paulett, 2621 Iowa avenue, Granite City.

Ens. Paul Marvin, 24, missing in action since Jan. 29, 1945, when his submarine, the Swordfish, failed to return from patrol off Okinawa. He was the son of Mrs. Emma L. Marvin, 438 West Essex avenue, Kirkwood.

Torpedoman 3-C William F. Devine, missing in action since Dec. 15, 1943, when his submarine, the Capelin, was lost in enemy waters. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Devine, Rural Route No. 1, East St. Louis.

MRS. JAMES ADAM FUNERAL SERVICE HERE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence Adam, former St. Louisan who died last Sunday in Minneapolis, Minn., will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Wacker-Helderle undertaking establishment, 3634 Gravois avenue. Burial will be in Sunset Burial Park.

Mrs. Adam, who was 67 years old, was the widow of James M. Adam, manager of the grain and seed department of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and vice president of the Merchants' Exchange at the time of his death in 1942. Mrs. Adam was chairman of the charity committee of the Women's Chamber of Commerce during the depression years. The family formerly lived at 2167 South Spring avenue.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Lucy Ellen Adam of Minneapolis, and three sons, Robert G. Adam, also of Minneapolis; James M. Adam of Kansas City and S. Fenner Adam, Oak Park, Ill.

SILAS H. STRAWN DIES, LAWYER, CIVIC LEADER

Chicago Man Former Head of American Bar Association, U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Silas Hardy Strawn, noted Chicago attorney and former president of the American Bar Association and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, died yesterday of a heart ailment. He was 79 years old.

A member of the Chicago law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, he headed the citizens committee which raised funds to get the Democratic and Republican national conventions for Chicago in 1944.

He was born near Ottawa, Ill., Dec. 15, 1866. He was president of the American Bar Association in 1927-28 and of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in 1931-32.

Strawn was chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward & Co. in the 1920s. President Coolidge named him in 1925 to serve with the American minister to China on a special conference on Chinese tariffs. He was a former president of the United States Golf Association.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Stewart, and two daughters, Mrs. James A. Cathcart and Mrs. Wesley M. Dixon, both of Lake Forest, Ill.

Strawn Delivered Addresses Here in 1928 and 1932.

Strawn spoke in St. Louis in 1928, when he was president of the American Bar Association, and again in 1932, when he was president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

In his 1928 address, before members of the St. Louis Bar Association, Strawn predicted that the age of giant industrial combinations had only begun. Congress and state legislatures in the future, he said, would not try to break up such combinations, but would strive to regulate them "so as best to serve the people."

In 1932 he addressed the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, urging that the national budget be balanced by adoption of a 2¼ per cent sales tax. He also deplored the declining international trade.

Gets Tuberculosis Society Post.

Edgar L. Roy, St. Louis stockbroker, was elected chairman of the executive committee of the Tuberculosis and Health Society yesterday. He lives at 7485 Stratford avenue, University City. Members-at-large, chosen to serve on the executive committee, were W. W. Butts, former president of the society; C. D. Crabbe and Mrs. M. A. Goldstein.

49 Knockouts in 159 Fights on Opening Golden Gloves Meet Program

Agopiou, Greek Welter From Sheppard Field, Impresses 6372 Fans

By W. J. McGoogan

A second-night schedule of 130 bouts is on tap for the eleventh annual Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament at the Arena tonight, with the first bout scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock. The fact that there are nearly 30 contests fewer than last night should mean that the customers will get home a little earlier.

The largest opening crowd in the history of the event, 6372, turned out and most of them sat through five and one-half hours, or from 7 o'clock until 12:30 to see three rings packed with action. Forty-nine of the contests ended before time, 27 on actual knockouts and 22 by technical knockouts, in a total of 159.

There were 103 decisions and only a few booes greeted the verdicts. Five boys defaulted, one was disqualified for pitching his opponent through the ropes and another forfeited his match.

Chief interest centered in the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command tournament being held in conjunction with the Golden Gloves. The winners will enter the Gloves semifinal round tomorrow night.

They Like This Agopiou.

This division may produce the outstanding boy of the tournament and the ringsiders last night were speaking highly of Eleftherios Agopiou, a soldier from Sheppard Field, Tex., who is of Greek extraction. Agopiou scored two victories, one when he stopped Robert Cowles, Chanute Field, in two rounds and the other when he knocked out Keith Senz of Chanute Field.

The Greek is short and stockily built and fights in the 147-pound class. He has a very fast left hand, which carries a sting and this appears to be his chief weapon.

A South Broadway A. C. favorite, however, contributed a knockout to the proceedings, too, as the tall long-reaching Ray Mastilovich dropped Lester Jones, Tandy Center, for the full count in the second round. Mastilovich is to meet Gene McGovern of East St. Louis tonight in a match which should prove exciting although McGovern suffered a cut eye in winning last night.

Another soldier to attract attention was Foo Yee, a Chinese youth from Sheppard Field, who knocked out William Grant, Sheppard Field lightweight, in a round. Foo Yee is slated to oppose Robert Rossado of Sheppard Field tonight.

You Can't Get Careless.

One of the knockouts, at least, and another near one were the result of a boy being far out in front in his match, becoming too eager and walking into a punch. The first of these was Jennings Fischer of the South Broadway A. C. who had the situation well in hand in his bout with Clyde Allen Price of Algoa Farms, but just as Fischer seemed ready to land a kayo punch, Price landed one on him.

This took place in the center ring and in the very next bout the same thing happened. Bill Bradley, St. Andrews, had just staggered Sam Alexander, Algoa, with a powerful righthand punch to the head. It appeared he was on his way to a kayo win. Then he walked into a right hand blow to the jaw which put him down for a nine count. He was on the floor again as the bell rang, ending the second round. He came out for the third in good shape, but Alexander, very smartly, coasted to the point decision.

The percentage of knockouts, however, was lower than in recent years and it seemed that, generally speaking, the contenders were in much better physical condition and better trained than during the war years.

Giles Green, East St. Louis welterweight, won his first round match from Paul Smith, University of Southern Illinois Normal in the novice division and hopes the ill luck which pursued him last year won't catch up with him again. He went to the final last year without winning a match and then was defeated for the title. He lost to his first opponent, but broke his jaw and Green was reinstated. He broke the ribs of his third opponent and then went to the final where he lost his fourth straight decision but broke the winner's ribs. Needless to say he's quite a puncher.

John Schultz, North Side Y. M. C. A., who lost his 100-pound sub-novice match to Charles Barnett, is a younger brother of Joe Schultz, Browns' catcher.

There was a near fight as an added attraction outside the ring when wrestler Kayo George Koverly, weighing more than 200 pounds took a seat in the press row for which he had no ticket. Jimmy Farasy, who fought as a 118-pound bantamweight some years ago under the name of Jimmy Dundee, asked Koverly to vacate the seat. Koverly grabbed Jimmy but finally let him go—and kept the seat.

Brooks Henderson of the Downtown Y. M. C. A. was rather badly punished and was bleeding badly in his match with Paul May of the South Broadway A. C. but he rallied to win.

Don Rothrock, veteran amateur of the South Broadway, knocked out Bill Peterson, Algoa, in a round. Someone asked Don before the fight if he planned to quit amateur boxing and Rothrock replied, "No, I like it."

Despite the size of the program, brought about largely because of the great number of sub-novice bouts, it ran off smoothly with hardly a hitch.

Tomorrow's program concludes with semifinals in all classes and the finals will be fought Friday after a day of rest Thursday.

Kansas City Man Secretary Of Commission

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5 (AP)—Thomas E. Walsh, Kansas City lawyer, has been named secretary of the State Athletic Commission, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly's office announced today.

Walsh, who succeeds Fred R. McMahon, Springfield, was selected at a recent meeting of the new athletic commission, of which Floyd Jones, Springfield, is chairman.

Walsh, 51 years old, has practiced law in Kansas City since the first World War, during which he served in the Army. He graduated from St. Mary's College, St. Mary's, Kan., and the Kansas City School of Law. He participated in sports as a youth and has long been a boxing and general sports fan. He has never before held public office or had official connection with athletics.

ROBERT COWLES (left), Chanute Field, turns away from a terrific storm of blows dealt by ELEFTHERIOS AGOPIOU, of Sheppard Field in their 147-pound A.A.F. bout, during the Golden Gloves program at Kiel Auditorium last night. Agopiou stopped Cowles in the second round.

"He-Threw-It-First" Robinson Says President Teddy Roosevelt God-Fathered the Forward Pass

By Robert Morrison

Graying Bradbury Robinson, twinkling amiably behind a pair of bi-focals, called time out from his medical convention visit to St. Louis today to tell the story behind the story of the forward pass he fathered.

The early-day St. Louis University halfback, now head of a medical clinic in St. Louis, Mich., recalled the birth in the year 1903, of the idea that made him the first of all modern pass throwers. The tale seemed to establish Robert M. LaFollette and Teddy Roosevelt as god-fathers.

Sinking easily into a hotel lobby lounge and taking a cigarette from his gold case, the good doctor fell into the yarn spinning with some relish. . . .

"I was raised in Baraboo, Wis., a town made famous by Ringling Brothers—and myself," he said, peering reflectively through the bi-focals into the dim, distant past. "In 1903 I won a letter in football at the University of Wisconsin. That year Robert M. LaFollette was Governor of the state. His wife was from my home town and our families were acquainted. In fact my father was politically very much anti-LaFollette. "So at the university football practices, where LaFollette used to come occasionally, he would often stop to talk to me. We got to know each other well, and the following spring he invited me to the executive mansion for dinner.

Robinson Suggests Pass.

"I couldn't imagine why until after dinner he showed me a letter from Teddy Roosevelt. There had been a lot of injuries in football and a movement was on foot to abolish the game. Roosevelt wrote that he did not want it wiped out and he thought it was an excellent game for character building, so LaFollette asked me 'what do you think can be done to spread the game out and soften it up a bit?'

"I had been reading a lot then about rugby and one of the ideas I gave him was to introduce forward passing into the game, not only shovel passes but forward passing which would open up the plays. LaFollette talked to the president about these things and came back and told me to develop the ideas, so that's how I began to work in earnest on passing."

Quits Wisconsin for St. Louis U.

The next year, after a fight with the school bully had caused his dismissal from the Wisconsin football team, Brad Robinson came to St. Louis to continue his medical education and, incidentally, to continue to play football. He had been practicing passing all that time and, when the tactic was legalized by the rules committee in 1906, he was ready. "I was probably the only finished passer in the country at the time," he declared.

He sold Eddie Cochems the idea, he recalled. Cochems wasn't enthusiastic at first but when Robinson and Jack Schneider began regardless to use forward passing, and with success, Cochems capitulated.

That record book 87-yard pass credited to Robinson in the Kansas game of 1906 had a "great carrying wind," the former footballer admitted. Newspapers of the day failed to record it. Not attempting to recall it exactly, Robinson said the distance was not established for the records by him but by Clarence (Pike) Kenney, a teammate, and Believe-it-or-not Bob Ripley.

"I know the ball was put in play on our 25-yard line and I must have been 10 yards back. I told Schneider to run for the goal and the ball would be there when he got there, and it was.

"I have thrown a ball 93 yards, so it wasn't impossible."

Tonight, Brad Robinson will meet old St. Louis friends at a dinner at the York Hotel—including two former teammates, Dr. H. B. DePew and Dr. Leo A. Will, both of St. Louis.

Mosconi Leads In Title Match

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Willie Mosconi, world's pocket billiards champion, today held a 250-to-174 lead over challenger Jimmy Caras in the first two blocks of a 10,950-point match which is to be played in 10 cities during the next eight weeks.

Mosconi, of Barrington, N.J., won both blocks. The two cue stars continue the match here today and tomorrow then proceed to Wilmington, Del., Thursday—Caras's home town.

Indiana, Second In Big 10, Plays Bears Tonight

By Bob Broeg

Basketball wasn't born in Indiana, but the great indoor sport grew up there, as the state university's court representatives probably will prove tonight out at Washington's Field House.

The Hoosiers, breathing down Iowa's necks in a torrid Big Ten race, will take time out from their conference chores to play a return game against the Bears at 8:30. High school coaches and teams of the St. Louis area have been invited as Washington University's guests to see basketball played the Indiana way.

The Indiana way means close to perfection, of course, for every hamlet of the Hoosier State teethes its young on the sport's round leather ball. Notre Dame, Indiana, Purdue, Indiana State, Butler and other institutions of higher learning in the state merely reflect that cradle-to-grave interest.

Home-Bred Boys.

Those Indiana schools make their basketball reputation with home-bred boys. Actually the unofficial seal of approval on a Hoosier hardwood product is such a high recommendation of ability that when Southern California sprang forth with a basketball powerhouse a few years ago, someone remarked facetiously, "Those Trojans must be Indianans."

The joke was on him—they were Hoosiers, the entire starting U.S.C. five.

Coach Harry Goods' current Indiana quintet, only a half game behind the Big Ten's leading Iowa team, which the Hoosiers already have defeated, has an over-all record of 12 victories and only two defeats. The Crimson cagers, beaten only by Minnesota and Purdue, have trimmed Michigan, Camp Atterbury and Chicago twice each and own single victories over Ohio State, Louisville, Cincinnati, Butler, Iowa and Washington (53 to 39).

Captain May Not Play.

Sophomore Forwards John Wallace and Al Kralovansky of the Indiana six-footers have set the scoring pace with 13.5 and 9.1 scoring averages. The Hoosiers' ailing captain, Dick Wittenbraker, may not play against the Bears.

For Washington one lineup change will be necessitated by the service call of bespectacled Art Miller, freshman guard, who left town Sunday. His place may be filled by curly haired Leroy Campbell, an Alton athlete just enrolled at the Hilltop, after playing with Camp Grant. Campbell scored eight points against the Oklahoma Aggies.

Tigers to Use New Players in Billiken Game

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 5—Three new but familiar faces will brighten the Missouri U. lineup tonight when the Tigers are hosts to St. Louis University basketball team.

Coach George Edwards has elevated Thornton Jenkins, Jim Austin and Kenney Bounds to the starting lineup to provide their experience and ruggedness. All three enrolled with the start of the new semester.

Well remembered, however, are the trio. Jenkins was All Big Six forward in 1943 and ranked second in conference scoring. Austin was a running mate at forward. Bounds played with Tiger freshmen that year. Since the 1942-43 season, all three have been in war service. Another veteran, Wilbur Volz, also a former Tiger athlete before war service, will be available as a reserve.

The probable starting lineups:

ST. LOUIS	Pos.	MISSOURI
Genetti	f	Jenkins
Schatzman	f	Austin
McCauley	c	Bounds
Raymonds	g	Stiegemeier
Miller	g	Witt

St. Louisan Kayoed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5 (AP)—John Donnelly, 187, Los Angeles, scored a technical knockout over Lowell Strong, 204, St. Louis, in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round here last night.

SHORT—WAVES

Two regulars and a first-string reserve on the Bradley Tech basketball team have dropped out of school. . . . They are PAUL RARIDEN, forward who had scored 156 points in 13 games; NELSON SCHIERBECK, a guard, and JAKE LOTZ, a substitute. Coach FRANKIE BOUCHER is continuing his shakeup of the last-place New York Rangers. . . . He sent Ott Heller, 35-year-old veteran of 14 National Hockey League campaigns with the club, to the St. Paul Saints of the United States Hockey League.

BOUCHER

Diminutive DAVID M. (DAVEY) NELSON, backfield mate of the Michigan football stars Tom Harmon and Forest Evashevski, will take the job of athletic director for Hillsdale (Mich.) College next Sept. 1. . . . Punahou High School of Honolulu, Hawaii, is the first official entrant for the fifty-second annual Penn relays April 26-27.

Maryland will play Michigan State College at East Lansing, Mich., next Nov. 23, it has been announced. . . . JOHN (BLONDY) BLACK, former Mississippi State halfback star, has signed with the New York Yankees of the All-America Conference.

An official report issued by JOE MASON, Miami city recreation director, shows the gross gate for the Holy Cross-Miami Orange Bowl game was $160,186. . . . JACK CHURCH, Boston Bruins' defense man, has been released from a Chicago hospital after X-rays failed to disclose serious injury from a spill in a Blackhawk game. . . . The Australian council of lawn tennis associations, host in the coming Davis Cup final, will ask representatives of challenging countries to meet in London between June 14 and July 31 to decide eligibility problems.

FRANK W. PATRICK, former Pitt and National League fullback, has been appointed athletic director of the College of Puget Sound. . . . GAYE STEWART, Toronto's ranking goal-maker, has moved into second place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race, but still is far behind the Hawks' MAX BENTLEY.

Alton Snaps Scott Field Streak at 17 Straight

The Scott Field Flyers were backing up for a new start today after having their winning streak snapped at 17 straight by the Alton American Legion team at Alton High School last night, 54-44. It was only the second defeat of the season for the Flyers while the victory was the ninth in succession for Alton.

Scott Field will participate in the A.A.F. Technical Command tournament to be held at Chanute Field (Ill.) Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Giesler Takes the Blame For Soccer Mix-Up; Didn't Dig Deep Enough in Rules

By Dent McSkimming

There are either too many or too few lawyers associated with soccer in this country. Games, won and lost on the field, are forever being reversed, replayed, protested and rehashed in the committee rooms.

St. Louis fans have had more than their share of these protested decisions but few have left so sour an impression as the action of the United States Soccer Football Association at its annual meeting last weekend when the national junior championship was taken away from the local Schumacher club.

As was told in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, this title won on the field last spring, was given to the Pompei Club of Baltimore and the Hornets of Chicago, as co-champions. Both, beaten by the Schumachers, had claimed the winners used ineligible players.

That Hidden Joker.

Trouble is, the rule prohibiting the use of "senior" club players on a "junior" team had escaped the attention, not only of Henry Lincks, manager of the club, but of Walter Giesler, chairman, and other members of the Missouri Commission and the National Junior Cup Committee. The law, buried away in RULE XXXII of the Constitution of the United States Soccer Football Association, and not in Cup Competition by-laws, reads:

"A Junior player shall not be permitted to engage for a Senior team or in any competition other than a junior competition . . ."

All three of the players "drafted" by the Schumachers (Gino Pariani, Pete Thompson and John Dooley) had played with senior clubs and in the National Open cup competition. They were all within the junior age limit.

"The Schumacher club should not be blamed for this failure to observe the rule," said Chairman Giesler when he returned yesterday from the national convention. "The oversight was mine. Before the games were played last spring, I was asked to pass upon the eligibility of the three players. I reached the rules governing the National Junior competition and could not find a paragraph covering this situation. So, I ruled them eligible. Not until recently did I find the subject is covered in the Constitution.

"The Council accepted my assurance the Schumacher management and players acted in good faith, upon my personal okay. But they voted according to the letter of the law. It's a bad rule, in my opinion, apparently written to stop Junior players from trying to compete with Senior class players. Notice it does not say: A player competing with a Senior club cannot play with a Junior club."

Trophy Never Turned Over.

Fortunately, the Schumachers had never received the National Junior trophy, and the medals they have are inscribed "National Junior Cup Competition," but the word "champions," is missing.

This incident, added to numerous similar disappointments, may result in a healthy study of the rules. If that would come the net result would be good. Team managers are always getting themselves tripped on a rule they never heard about.

The Chicago meeting was one of the most fruitful of years, Giesler said. Thirty-two delegates from midwest and east, and one from California spoke of a bright future for soccer.

"The proposed western division of the American Soccer League is closer to a reality," he said. "In fact, if we could only obtain a suitable park here the league would probably swing into action in a month or two."

There will be two and probably more teams from abroad here this summer, it was announced. Liverpool of the English League is a certainty; a team from Prague, Czechoslovakia, is all but assured; Central and South American clubs are only waiting for an invitation.

California is interested in the national championship competition and, if given an opportunity to file an entry next fall will make use of planes to eliminate the time and distance objections.

Chandler Has No Say on Prices, MacPhail Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankee baseball team, criticized Commissioner A. B. Chandler today for Chandler's view that baseball prices "ought not to be raised."

"If Commissioner Chandler has been correctly quoted regarding admission prices," MacPhail said at a press conference, "it is evident that the commissioner has failed either to study his contract with the major leagues or comprehend the scope of his duties and responsibilities."

On Saturday MacPhail announced an average increase of 7½ per cent in seat prices for games at the Yankee Stadium this year. In an interview Chandler was quoted by the New York Times as saying that "such a thing does not concern me officially, but I feel prices ought not to be raised. After all, the caliber of major league baseball during the past three years hasn't been so good and it seems to me the fans now ought to get the better brand we can offer them without paying more for it."

MacPhail asserted that higher operating costs made increased prices necessary. He disclosed the club grossed $922,480 last year from 887,082 paid admissions, with the net, after payments to the league and visiting clubs, $672,965. Player salaries, he said, aggregated $226,802 in 1935, jumped to $308,662 last year and will reach an estimated $360,000 for the 1946 season.

"I was the first to announce increased prices," MacPhail said, "but I know nine or 10 other clubs also plan to revise their prices."

MacPhail, regarded as one of Chandler's original supporters, declared that "it is not a matter over which the commissioner has jurisdiction of any kind. It is not the prerogative of the commissioner to criticize publicly either major league or its members in the exercise of their exclusive legislative powers."

MacPhail said the new stadium scale of prices, subject to revision, would be $2.50 instead of $2.40 for a box seat; $1.75 instead of $1.80 for a reserved seat; and $1.25 instead of $1.20 for general admission (unreserved seats in the grandstand).

St. Louisan Heads Power Boat Body

LINCOLN, Nebr., Feb. 5 (AP)—Preston Richardson, St. Louis, was elected commodore of the Midwest Power Boat Association at a meeting here yesterday.

Other officers elected by the association included Sam Herrick, Springfield, Mo., secretary, and Ernest Erickson, Chicago; Eddie Jones, Minneapolis; Al Williams, Marion, Kan., and Dee Eiche, Lincoln, all vice commodores. Marvin Breshears, Springfield, Mo., and Les Endres, Independence, Kan., were named to the association board of directors.

Kurowski, Cards' Top Hitter in 1945, Is a Holdout

Phils Buy Jurisich, Wyrostek

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — Whitey Kurowski, the St. Louis Cardinals' solid thumping third baseman, and speedy Luis Olmo of the Brooklyn Dodgers are the latest players to join the big league holdout brigade.

Kurowski, who was the National League's fifth ranking batter and his club's leading belter with a .325 average last season, shot back his unsigned contract to Owner Sam Breadon yesterday, remarking that the terms were anything but satisfactory.

Olmo, who hit .313 in 1945 and handled himself ably in centerfield, announced in Puerto Rico that he was dissatisfied with the terms Brooklyn offered and asserted that he would not leave for spring training until he came to an agreement with the club.

The veteran Dixie Walker, who played alongside of Olmo in the Dodger picket line, also is unhappy over the contract mailed out by Brooklyn prexy Branch Rickey, it has been learned. Dixie, who led the senior circuit with a .357 mark in 1944, slumped off to .300 last season.

Giants Have Troubles.

The New York Giants are having trouble getting Danny Gardella, the clowning first baseman-outfielder, to sign while Washington's Walt Masterson is said to have rejected his original offer.

Big Hank Greenberg, the Detroit Tigers' slugging outfielder, doesn't expect to have any trouble reaching an agreement with the American Leaguers although he said here yesterday that he had not yet received a contract from General Manager George Trautman. Greenberg added that Trautman was going to mail a contract within a week.

In good shape and ready to head for the Tigers' Lakeland, Fla., training camp, the former Army air forces captain indicated he would sign for around $65,000.

Phils Buy Two Redbirds.

Plenty of other diamond news popped up yesterday as the bulk of the major leaguers began packing for their jaunts to the sunny training grounds.

The Phils announced the purchase of Pitcher Alvin Jurisich and Outfielder John Wyrostek from the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed sum and also reported the signing of Southpaw Hurler Ken Raffensberger. . . . Cleveland's Indians announced the signing of 34 players . . . The Braves reported that Pitcher Johnny Hutchings and Shortstop Dick Culler were in the fold . . . Buddy Kerr, Giants' second sacker, received a neat raise for his work during the last campaign . . . And Cleveland's Bobby Feller said in Tampa that the New York Yankees again would be the team to beat in 1946 but that the American league race would be very close. . . . Lieut. Del Wilber, catcher-manager of service league baseball teams, was discharged from the service at San Antonio and said he planned to report in mid-February for a baseball tryout with the St. Louis Cardinals in Florida. . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates announced the signing of 1946 contracts by two pitchers just discharged from military service. They are Jack Hallett, six-four-four righthander, who pitched for the Navy in the Pacific area, and Southpaw Aldon Wilkie, who was an Army star in the European theater.

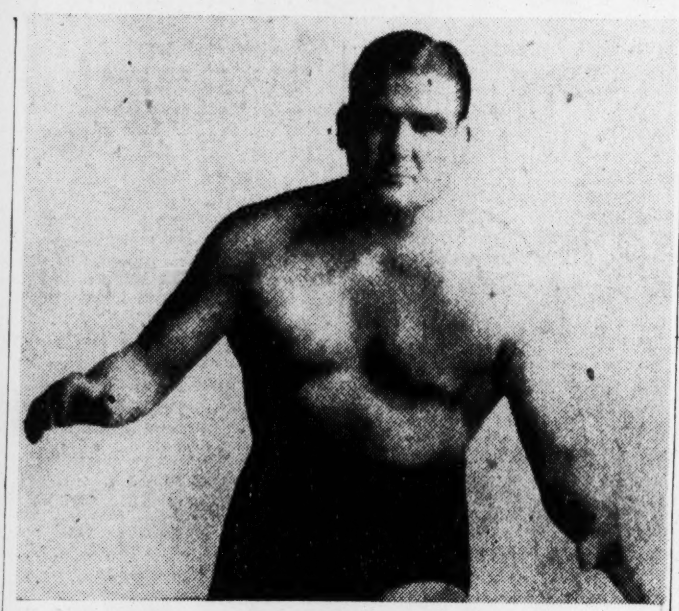
WRAY'S COLUMN

Perhaps Yvon Can Tame Wild Bill.



Wants Some of the Gravy

YVON ROBERT, Montreal wrestler, who is one of several "champion rasslers," who want to have a fling at Wild Bill Longson in St. Louis, now considered the gravy bowl of the mat world. Manager Eddie Quinn says Yvon's "dough" has been posted with the Missouri commission.

BILL LONGSON successfully defended his world (St. Louis version) rassling title against one of the perennial Duseks (Ernie this time) at the Auditorium last Friday. . . . It was his oompteenth success in local events. . . . It seems strange that although the title involves the wide "world", the Associated Press didn't send out even a mention of it.

In fact, the AP, which once flashed reports labeled "Last Night's Wrestling Results," no longer does so. . . It appears to have decided that the entire setup lacks credibility.

It's hard to know what to do about mat champions when there are eight or 10 such title holders in the North American zone alone, each "world champ" in his own little area. . . . The other night in Baltimore, Frank Sexton, another world wrestling champion, according to the Baltimore Sun, achieved the 108th successful defense of his title in nine months!

Frank is far ahead of Bill Longson in his claims. . . . Although William probably has a big lead in his bank account, to judge by local attendances. . . . Sexton's biographer in the Sun writes that he is 31 years old, weighs 239 pounds and has been wrestling 11 years. . . . During that time, so the narrator relates, Sexton has participated in more than 1800 bouts!

That is to say, starting to wrestle professionally at the age of 20, Sexton has competed in a match on the average of once every 2 1-5 days for 11 years! . . . Recently he has defended his title on the average of once every 2½ days, with the aforesaid total of 108!

And if you believe all that, Bo, you'll probably believe the United States will cash Confederate money at face value.

Canadian Wants to Meet Wild William.

IT'S possible that the championship scope of Wild Bill Longson will be widened. . . . Already one "challenge"—accompanied by money, it's related—has been forwarded to the Missouri commission by Yvon Robert, Montreal title claimant. . . . Others, like Sexton, may try to horn in on the wrestling Gravy Bowl of America, Kiel Auditorium. . . . A city that can turn out 11,000 rassling fans on the same night that 14,000 persons attended the Arena basketball doubleheader is worth the attenion of any mat specialist.

We have a letter from Eddie Quinn of Montreal, who is now head of the Robert steering committee. . . He says: "I am enclosing a pamphlet about Yvon Robert, the only wrestler I know of who has beaten Bill Longson in the past several years. . . . You will notice I have checked off on Robert's record 20 men that he has defeated, all of whom at one time have been advertised as or who have claimed title as world champions."

What Robert's manager doesn't mention is that most of the 20 also have beaten Robert—including Longson. . . . The records of wrestlers no longer are kept by a responsible authority. . . . Since their displays are mere exhibitions, where's the sense of records?

Robert is regarded as a pretty fair wrestler. . . . But whether he or any of these built-up heroes of rassling can really go places in a genuine wrestling bout, who knows? Probably only the athletes themselves.

But they all spiel a good talk. . . . For example, here's Quinn, broadcasting for Robert: "I am certain that Yvon can defeat Longson and he will then be ready to defend his UNDISPUTED title against any worthy challenger."

We might suggest that, in the bright lexicon of rassling, there is no such word as "undisputed." . . . In fact, everything pertaining to it is under dispute.

Shaughnessy Goes Back to Maryland U.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 5 (AP) —Clark Daniel Shaughnessy, football's man-in-motion, has moved again—this time back to the University of Maryland he left three years ago.

It was the fourth shift in seven years for the unpredictable grid mentor who went from Chicago in 1939 to Stanford to Maryland to Pittsburgh and now back to Maryland.

Shaughnessy quit his job as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh yesterday after a three-year stay in which his teams won 10 and lost 17.

Pitt, in announcing his resignation, said its faculty committee on athletics had recommended he be retained-provided he give up his professional football connections. This Shaugnessy refused to do.

For the past two years the tall, graying coach has been listed as an advisory coach by the Washington Redskins. Prior to that he served in a similar capacity with the Chicago Bears.

Lou Flyer Out As Opponent For Robinson

Lou Wallach, ambitious young fight promoter, who has been operating the Palace Garden fight emporium at 3924 Finney avenue, took a couple of hard socks on his fight outlook this morning and was probably still a bit groggy at noon time.

The first one came when William Herring, State Athletic Commissioner from Missouri, wired from Kansas City that Wallach's ambitious promotion for next Feb. 27, which matched Ray (Sugar) Robinson, uncrowned King of the Welters, against Lou Flyer, California boxer, in a 10-round feature, would have to be called off unless a more suitable opponent for Robinson could be found. Flyer's record, in the opinion of the commissioner, did not justify such a contest. Wallach had planned to hold this show at the Arena.

The second sock came later in the day when the Board of Public Service decided to refuse permits to hold boxing and other forms of entertainment at Palace Gardens on the ground that the building fails to meet safety requirements. This action had been recommended by Director of Public Safety Charles J. Riley.

Wallach had been staging shows at Palace Gardens under a temporary permit.

Wallach said today he would contact Commissioner Herring on the official's return from Kansas City and attempt to obtain approval for another opponent for Robinson on the same February date the fight was originally scheduled. Wallach said he did not want to discuss possible opponents until he had talked with Herring.

Speaking of the Charley Riley-Phil Terranova fight scheduled for the Auditorium Feb. 22, Wallach said: "In the latest Ring Magazine Riley is rated No. 53. Terranova is No. 3 featherweight. So it looks like I should get a fifty-third ranking boy to meet Robinson."

(Ring Magazine of February lists in order the first 13 featherweights, then includes Riley in the third paragraph of "Group One." The names are in alphabetical order so that no order of importance is intended. Flyer, incidentally, is not listed in any group of welterweights in the magazine's rankings.)

Pro-Amateurs To Compete in Seven Events

District amateur and professional golf associations, working in closer harmony than before, have arranged a program of seven pro-amateur events for the season, Secretary Jim Benson of the amateur association announced today.

"The entry fee for each meet has been increased to $5," Benson said, "but rather than trying to profit from the program we are attempting to make the events popular through more numerous prizes and a dinner following each occasion."

The schedule announced shows each pro-amateur on a Thursday—April 11 at Normandie, May 9 at Glen Echo, June 13 at Westborough, July 18 at Bellerive, Aug. 8 at Westwood, Sept. 12 at Meadow Brook, and Oct. 10 at Green Briar Hills.

Last year, pro-amateur interest reached a new low. Once only 16 entries participated. So Benson and Bob Cochran of the amateur group and Clarence Norworthy and Ben Richter of the professionals met to arrange the new program.

"We hope to have enough prizes to make everybody happy," Benson explained, enumerating cash prizes for professionals' low gross and low net and other prizes for amateur gross and net, attendance, booby and blind hole.

In other years the pro-amateurs have played as four-man teams with low ball winning. This season the pro will play with three amateurs and his score paired with any one of the three will count toward the prizes.

"Everyone on the team will have to keep his score," Benson said. "That way we hope to establish a more accurate handicap system than we had before."

Participants from municipal courses will be limited to six from each club to prevent an unmanageable number of entries from those courses, Benson said.

Pointer Victor In Free-for-All

SHUQUALAK, Miss., Feb. 5 (AP)—Saturn, a smart five-year-old pointer from the A. G. C. Sage Kennels at Albertsville, Ala., ran a heady heat here last weekend to win Shuqualak's annual field trial sweepstakes and become the national free-for-all champion for 1946. A $1000 purse went with the title.

The son of the 1942 free-for-all champion, Luminary, turned in a brilliant ground race and was on game four times in his three-hour run.

The nearest thing to stiff competition for Saturn was that supplied by the pointer female, Subsidy, owned by Daniel Gilchrist of Courtland, Ala. Braced with Lucky Air, from the kennels of Dr. William Johnson of Galesburg, Ill., Subsidy showed game on four of her six points and was strong at the finish. Lucky Air scored only one bevy find but finished well, although tired.

Saturn's clean-cut victory marked the eighth victory for the Sage kennels since the start of the Shuqualak test. Each of the winners was handled by the veteran Clyde Morton.

A busy year for long distance

Before the year is out, the Bell System will put in more miles of long distance circuits than it did during the five years before the war. Work on a new construction program is going ahead rapidly, and the year 1946 will be a busy one for long distance.

Meanwhile, there's every reason to believe the volume of calls will continue at a high level, and that some delays will be unavoidable. If some of your calls are a bit slow getting through, you'll know faster and better service is on the way.

COPPERS, STEELS, PACKERS, RAILS IN LATE PRICE RALLY

Buying Credited Anticipated Effects of Expected New Wage-Price Policy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — Coppers, steels, packers and assorted specialties led a selective upturn in today's stock market although many leaders remained indifferent.

Buying apparently was predicated mainly on the idea higher ceiling rates for metals and other durable goods would be approved in the Administration's new wage-price policy which was expected to be announced soon from the White House. All of this spelled inflation to bullish contingents in addition to providing means for widespread strike settlements. Soldout commitments, consequently, were reinstated in numerous cases. Skeptics still were plentiful, however, and these inclined to hold aloof.

The general comeback was negotiated after midday. Forenoon trends were lower. Dealings, previously sluggish, quickened as bids began to appear. Gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed near the close but a lot of minus signs dotted the ticker tape.

Transfers for the full session were 1,670,000 shares, compared with 1,660,000 shares yesterday.

The market broadened markedly, today's 1033 issues comparing with 977 shares yesterday. Of the 1033 issues traded in today, 506 were higher, 326 lower and 201 unchanged. One hundred twenty-four made new 1945-46 highs and three new 1945-46 lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up .4 of a point at 80.3. The rail group made a new 1945-46 high.

Among Better Performers.

Better performers included Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasca, Phelps Dodge, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Armour, Wilson & Co., Electric Boat, American Ice, Goodrich, Packard, General Motors, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and American & Foreign Power. Backward most of the day—some eventually stiffened — were Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, American Water Works, Southern Railway, American Can, Dow Chemical and Union Carbide. Fajardo Sugar weakened when the dividend was halved.

Trend on the Curb.

Propped in the curb were Colonial Airlines, Cessna Aircraft, Niles-Bement and Esquire. Southern Pipe Line dipped following a cut dividend.

On the big board Philip Morris hit a new low for the move. Atlantic Refining retreated in the wake of a net statement. A proposed 2-for-1 splitup lifted Loose-Wiles Biscuit.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—The bond market worked out a relatively steady price pattern today, although changes were narrow and there were backward issues on all major groups.

Ahead at the start of the final hour were loans of the Central of Georgia, Chicago Great Western, Rock Island and New Haven. Issues of the Missouri Pacific lost ground along with those of the St. Paul, Commonwealth Edison, Rio Grande Western and Hudson Coal.

The market continued narrow up to the close. Morris & Essex 5s came up a point in the final hour to end at 87 and New Haven 6s improved 1¼ at 82. Pennsylvania Central Airlines gave up 1¼ at 118½ and Wisconsin Central 4s lost 1¼ at 86⅛. A flurry of buying in Seaboard loans produced gains of around a point in several.

COTTON 5C UP TO 35C OFF

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—The cotton futures market turned reactionary in moderately active dealings today under pressure of commission house profit taking and hedging. Early gains and new seasonal highs were reached on mill and scattered outside buying. The possibility of another Government offering in the near future influenced some of the selling.

Late afternoon prices were 25 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher. March 25.37c, May 25.34c, July 25.32c.

Futures closed 5 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower.

Regular General Motors Dividend.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Directors of General Motors Corp. declared a dividend of 75 cents a share on common stock, payable March 9 to holders of record Feb. 14.

Also ordered during the directors' meeting was the regular quarter disbursement of $1.25 a share on the $5 preferred stock, payable May 1 to holders of record April 8.

The dividend on the common was at the same rate paid in previous quarters.

Stock Split Is Proposed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Stockholders of Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co., will be asked at their annual meeting March 25 to approve a two-for-one splitup of common stock and a change in name to the Sunshine Biscuit Co.

Another proposal to be submitted to the shareholders is the elimination of the authorized but never issued 58,000 shares of $5 cumulative preferred stock.

MAY RYE DROPS FIVE-CENT LIMIT ALLOWED FOR DAY

Increased Indications Wartime Food Subsidies, Price Controls, to Continue, Cited.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Dimming prospects that wartime food subsidies and price controls will be eliminated on their expiration date June 30, caused May rye to break the full 5-cent daily limit in early trading today. Following the break there was some short coverage, but ready rallying power was lacking.

Oats broke in sympathy with rye, but later developed some strength and were right around yesterday's close at the finish. Wheat, corn and barley held at ceilings in all deliveries.

At the bell wheat was unchanged at yesterday's closing figure, May $1.80½. Corn was unchanged at ceiling, $1.18½. Oats were ⅛c lower to ½c higher, May 81c. Rye sagged back to the day's low at the finish, 5 cents under yesterday's close, May $2.12. Barley was unchanged at ceiling, May $1.22½.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson told the National Canners' Association in Atlantic City that the danger of inflation has become so great and the demand for food so tremendous subsidies and price controls must be continued.

Earlier traders learned that Anderson has asked the Board of Trade to limit or discontinue trade in the May rye delivery.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Feb. 5.—There were no sales of cash grain made today.

Secretary Calls for Speculation Check.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson called upon commodity futures markets last night for aid in controlling speculation in grain, cotton and similar products.

"The purpose of trading," he said, "is to market commodities—not speculation apart from marketing. Speculation in a market where there is little need for hedging or merchandising is gambling."

Anderson said the people, speaking through congressional legislation, have said that "commodity exchanges are not a place for uncontrolled speculation. We as a nation can't afford to gamble with our food."

The Secretary's call for co-operation by the exchanges was made in a speech prepared for a dinner of the National Association of Commodity Exchanges and Allied Trades, Inc., a new organization of commodity futures markets.

DIVIDEND MEETING RESULTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—Common stockholders of Fajardo Sugar Co., of Puerto Rico will receive 25 cents a share in dividends for the first 1946 quarter compared with the usual 50 cents. Directors declared a dividend payable March 1 to stock of record Feb. 15, which together with a dividend declared by the Fajardo Sugar Growers Association amounts to 25 cents a share. Reason for the reduced payment was said to be the fact that no price has yet been set by the U. S. Government for the 1946 crop.

National Distillers Products Stock Plan.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—National Distillers Products Corp. announced the filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Philadelphia of a registration statement proposing issuance of 379,894 additional common shares.

The shares would be offered to stockholders at the rate of 1-7th of a share for each share held at a subscription price to be announced later. Glore, Forgan & Co., and Harriman, Ripley & Co., Inc., are named as principal underwriters.

Part of the proceeds will be used to retire $18,500,000 of notes payable to banks and the balance for general corporate purposes.

Secondary Distribution.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Mellon Securities Corp., announced completion of a secondary distribution of 20,952 shares of Rockwell Manufacturing Co., common stock at $17.50 a share less 62½ cents a share concession to dealers.

Store Sales.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—McLellan Stores Co., reported January sales of $2,796,537, an increase of 1.5 per cent over $2,755,107 reported for January, 1945.

DEAD on your FEET from FATIGUE?

Then read about this sensible, drugless way to guard against that tired feeling

It is surprising, and shocking too, how many people go along day after day so tired, so tuckered out most of the time, that they find it difficult to do their work and impossible to enjoy life. It isn't that they are sick. There's nothing organically wrong—just that awful fatigue!

Now, while fatigue may be due to a number of causes, it has been proved that in a surprising number of cases, fatigue is due to a lack of three factors in your daily diet—thiamine, essential for the normal functioning of the nervous system; riboflavin and niacin.

All three are factors in B Complex vitamins. All three are equally important.

The sensible, honest and inexpensive way to guard against B deficiency ... the way to help avoid that constant nagging fatigue ... is to supplement your diet with BEXEL. BEXEL is a remarkable product—an easy-to-take capsule which contains concentrated amounts of thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. If you will take BEXEL over a reasonable period and if, at the same time, you will follow the common sense rules of getting a reasonable amount of sleep, and eating a good diet, then ... well, you'd be amazed how many thousands of people have been helped to joyous vitality and radiant energy by BEXEL.

BEXEL contains no artificial stimulants that let you down. It is the new, modern way to insure against loss of energy and fatigue due to dietary deficiency of B Complex.

Get BEXEL today in your drug store. Or ask your doctor what he thinks of this wonderful preparation. Made by one of America's outstanding laboratories—McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn.

96,000 KILLED IN ACCIDENTS IN 1945; TRAFFIC DEATHS SOAR

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Accidents in the United States in 1945 cost the lives of 96,000 persons, injured 10,300,000 and the estimated economic loss was $5,200,000,000, the National Safety Council said today.

The toll was only 1 per cent above 1944, the council said, but that the comparison was misleading "because it does not accurately depict the seriousness of the current accident problem. The 1945 increase is as small as it is only because of a natural and drastic reduction in accidents to military personnel," the council said. "Actually, figures show that the nation celebrated V-J day by going on a prolonged traffic spree that hasn't ended yet."

In the seven war months of 1945 traffic deaths rose only 1.3 per cent over the same period in 1944, while from V-J day (Aug. 14) to the end of the year the traffic death toll shot up 36 per cent.

FEW HOME APPLIANCES HELD OFF MARKET, SURVEY SHOWS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration said yesterday a check of leading producers of refrigerators, washing machines, radios and ironers showed "no excessive inventories being withheld from the market."

The agency said it had checked the stocks of 34 major companies at the end of December.

Six plants had no inventories at all, it was said, although they had produced a total of 78,525 units of consumer products since the start of reconversion. OPA said that of a total of 526,047 product units made by 29 firms, only 47,350 were in inventory at the end of December.

ST. LOUISAN CELEBRATES 101ST BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Friends of William Wilson, who used to pick cotton as a slave in Tennessee before the Civil War, gathered yesterday at his home, 1156 North Euclid avenue, to help him celebrate his 101st birthday anniversary.

An ardent baseball fan, Wilson said he was looking forward to "listening" to another season here. He no longer can attend the games because of failing eyesight. "I'm still in fairly good health," Wilson said, "but I'm a lucky man to have a wife like mine around to lend a helping hand."

Wilson, who was a porter at the Merchants' Exchange for 55 years before his retirement in 1932, said he was born Feb. 4, 1845, in Moss Creek, Tenn., and remembers Sherman's army marching through Moss Creek on the way to Georgia. He came to St. Louis in 1872 after working for several years as a stable boy in Kansas City.

GIFT OF DECORATED TABLE GLASS TO ART MUSEUM

The gift of 30 pieces of decorated table glass by Mrs. Hugo Koehler, 5290 Waterman boulevard, to the City Art Museum in Forest Park, was announced today by Museum officials.

Mainly of Seventeenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth Century German origin, the collection also includes Dutch, Spanish, Venetian and English glass. Museum officials said the collection was a good example of European glassmaking over the last 350 years.

The collection formerly belonged to Mrs. Koehler's late husband, a member of the Museum's Board of Control from 1920 to 1939. It was given in memory of her daughter, the late Mrs. Virginia Koehler Hunt.

Mrs. Virginia Dempsey Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Virginia M. Dempsey, former vice president of the Catholic Women's League here, will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow from the Weick Bros. undertaking establishment, 2201 South Grand boulevard, with burial in Calvary Cemetery. Mrs. Dempsey, 84 years old, died Sunday of infirmities at her home, 4153 Castleman avenue. Surviving are a sister and two brothers.

MOST SHIPYARDS U. S. BUILT IN WAR NOT NEEDED NOW

Disposal of Greater Part of 99 Constructed at Cost of Billion Is Big Problem.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—There's no place in America's maritime program for most of the 99 shipyards built by the Government under a wartime expansion program which cost more than $1,000,000,000, the Surplus Property Administration asserted today.

Postwar decline in ship construction means, the agency said in a report to Congress, that "successful distribution of such property will constitute a very real economic problem."

In addition to $648,000,000 for new yards, the Government spent $365,000,000 in the war for expansion of 24 privately owned yards, the report said. This does not include additions to prewar Navy yards.

"It has already been made clear," SPA said, "that there is little prospect of usefulness of surplus yards in shipbuilding."

There is a possibility, the report said, that a few companies which managed Government yards may want to take over some of them, and that others may be used by fleet owners as oil terminal, storage, repair or conversion yards.

But even after these plans have been carried out and the Government has retained the yards it wants, "there still will remain a substantial part of the country's shipbuilding facilities that will not be disposable for their designed use," SPA said.

"It is improbable that a large fraction of the cost can be recovered when they are sold for other purposes," the agency added.

The Navy, the report said, is planning to hold in commission 25 new yards as well as facilities in 12 privately owned yards, while the Maritime Commission expects to retain four new yards and facilities in one private yard.

Of these, 24 are on the east coast, 11 on the Pacific coast and seven on the Gulf coast, SPA said.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS POSING PROBLEMS FOR RED LEADERS

through Poland last summer on the way to Russia.

But Russian eyes have beheld also the dignity of progressive Prague, the charred beauty of Vienna, the ruins of lush Budapest. They have stared with unbelieving admiration at the magnificent workers' apartment buildings in Copenhagen. Eighty-two thousand pondering Russians have gone home from the valleys and cities of Norway.

Basis for Comparison.

Thus Russian soldiers and refugees are returning home with a varied and disturbing treasure of impressions with which to compare things and ways at home.

Moscow is prepared to re-educate its returning people.

Comparatively the easiest group for the Russian secret police to handle and control will be the multi-national group of deportees and prisoners. These have been streaming into Soviet Union for more than a year now: 200,000 Estonians, 250,000 Latvians, 280,000 Lithuanians, 100,000 Ruthenians, 100,000 politically suspect Poles. In this group the German slave-laborers also belong; their total number has been estimated variously at 1,800,000 to 3,000,000.

There is nothing uncertain about the fate which awaits these 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 new inhabitants of Arctic Russia, the Ukraine and eastern Siberia.

In 1944, Malenkov, who as boss of Soviet heavy industries is spearheading the vast expansion of industrialization, suggested that these millions of "imported labor" be screened for industrial skilled workers, technicians and scientifically trained personnel.

Plan Dropped Under Pressure.

His suggestion was supported by Y. N. Voznessensky, young genius of U.S.S.R. state planning. But under pressure from the leaders of the Soviet labor reserve schools, the screening plan was abandoned, reportedly to the great satisfaction of the N.V.K.D. commissariat, which runs great projects and factories of its own by slave labor in Kazakh, Tadjik and Kirghis republics.

With the imminent return of Red Army soldiers and Russian prisoners of war, Shcherbakov, Soviet propaganda chief, and Beria argued there was no reason to multiply "obstructionist cells" and "unrest centers" throughout the country.

Political nonconformity, increased crime and the war-created threat of a spreading "individualism" promise to keep Russia's 2,200,000 secret agents busy enough during the next decade.

An immeasurably greater task lies in the rebuilding and reconstruction of the Russian system of state socialism.

Economic Life Devastated.

The economic life of Russia has been devastated by a ruthless enemy. Its huge manpower has for years been squeezed by the greatest burden of war which any great power ever faced.

Americans cannot even begin to understand what desolation and suffering hide in the fact that cities, farms and homes of 88,000,000 Russians were in the grip of Hitler's armies and his Gestapo torturers.

It is only too bad that Moscow never realized what disservice it did to its own cause by keeping Allied newspaper men from giving a full report on the heroism and the nightmares of the eastern front.

To heal the wounds of this war in the Soviet Union will, under the best circumstances, take many years. International uncertainty has prevented Russia, so far, from making any effective decision on an early, integrated program of national rehabilitation and reconstruction.

ing the recent political unity conference, and is a member of a three-man army reorganization commission.

The generalissimo expressed confidence that Marshall, with his "wisdom and experience will succeed in accomplishing his mission."

He said the question of initiating a United States military advisory group in China depended on consultations with the United States Government.

Asked if he had received any guarantees that the Communists would give up their private army, Chiang said: "We must achieve this objective. Gen. Marshall is exerting his efforts in that direction."

The Generalissimo said he still wanted to visit the United States and would go there with Mme. Chiang "when opportunity permits."

He agreed with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's policies in Japan and the measures taken there.

With civil strife in China ended, the question of sending Chinese troops to Japan is being reconsidered. China previously said it was not in a position to send an occupation force.

Japs Plan Unemployment Relief.

TOKYO, Feb. 5 (AP) — Unemployment relief for nearly 2,750,000 persons is planned in a new program mapped by the Japanese Government, the newspaper Mainichi said today.

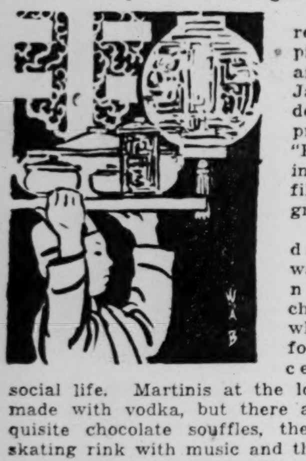
Peiping Restaurants Gourmet's Paradise

By William McGaffin

Chicago Daily News-St. Louis Post-Dispatch Foreign Service.
PEIPING, China, Feb. 4.

THROUGH wars, famine and pestilence, the picturesque restaurants of North China somehow have managed to hang on to their deserved reputations as a gourmet's paradise.



Old China hands returning to Peiping, finally freed after eight years of Japanese rule, are delightfully surprised to find the "Peking Club" turning out delicious fillets and mixed grills just as before.

Peiping was not damaged by the war and almost nothing has changed at the club, which now, as before the war, is the center of foreign social life. Martinis at the long bar are now made with vodka, but there are the same exquisite chocolate souffles, there is same ice-skating rink with music and there are even the same discriminating rules about lady guests.

Ladies must use the backstairs entrance. One bold American woman correspondent, who refused to abide by the rule and instead traipsed gaily up the broad front staircase, threw the British manager of the club into a violent case of jitters for days by this precedent-shattering gesture. "Why," he said, "we would not permit even Mme. Chiang Kai-shek to use the front entrance."

THE PEKING CLUB has only two real rivals in foreign food. One is the Y.M.C.A. off Hatamen street, which is always crowded with American service personnel drinking egg milkshakes and eating American-style fried chicken. The other is "Jimmy's Tavern," a little Greenwich Village-type cafe off Morrison street, run by an Italian and specializing in steaks, ham and eggs and spaghetti.

Foreign food is fine, but after awhile your nostalgia is sufficiently satisfied and you begin looking for Chinese chow for a change. And in this field there are endless possibilities.

At one colorful restaurant featuring "Peking duck," you pick out a fat fowl from several score hanging on hooks along the wall. Then you watch it roasted on a spit over red embers. Then you go to a private dining room and drink a toast to the duck in hot yellow wine as the waiter brings it in with a grand flourish. You eat it in approved Chinese style—picking up the pieces with chopsticks and making a sandwich with onion, sauce, and thin flat slabs of bread.

ANOTHER RESTAURANT has a big fish pond where you point to the live fish you want cooked for your dinner. Still another is popular with gadget lovers. This one's specialty is Mongolian "fire pot." In a brass pot above a charcoal stove, set in the middle of the table, water is heated to the boiling point. Then with chopsticks, you drop in raw pieces of mutton. When they have boiled sufficiently, you pluck them out and dip them in a sauce of many condiments, which you have prepared yourself. Sometimes you have indigestion all night—but it seems worth it at the time.

"Chicken velvet"—chicken cooked to smooth consistency with dough—is another popular dish. Then there is "Peking dust,"—a dessert of ground chestnuts, whose name was inspired by the dust which almost the year round blows in from the flat plains on which the city was built.

ONE OF THE most amazing feats of culinary skill is a hot soup, served in a baked dumpling, a feat accomplished by freezing the soup before it is put into the dumpling dough for baking.

In Tientsin, 80 miles away, excellent Russian restaurants such as Dalcontes offer such delicacies as "bortsch," "chicken kiev" and "beef stroganov."

About the only thing which cannot be found in north China is chop suey—which, you quickly discover, the Chinese have never heard of, since it is an American invention.

And one important thing here, which has changed with the years, is prices. They have gone up staggeringly. A good meal now costs at least two or three times what it would in America.

Match Lending

By Christopher Billopp

THE loan of a match seems a small way of obliging a friend. But when you lend a match, what happens?

Your friend asks for one match, but he really expects you to give him a whole box or packet of matches. He may protest your generosity, but he will be all too quick to accept your word when you tell him you have more matches or know where to get them.

Furthermore, from then on, your friend will mark you down as a man with matches. Every time he needs a match he will think of you, and his anxiety will instantly be relieved.

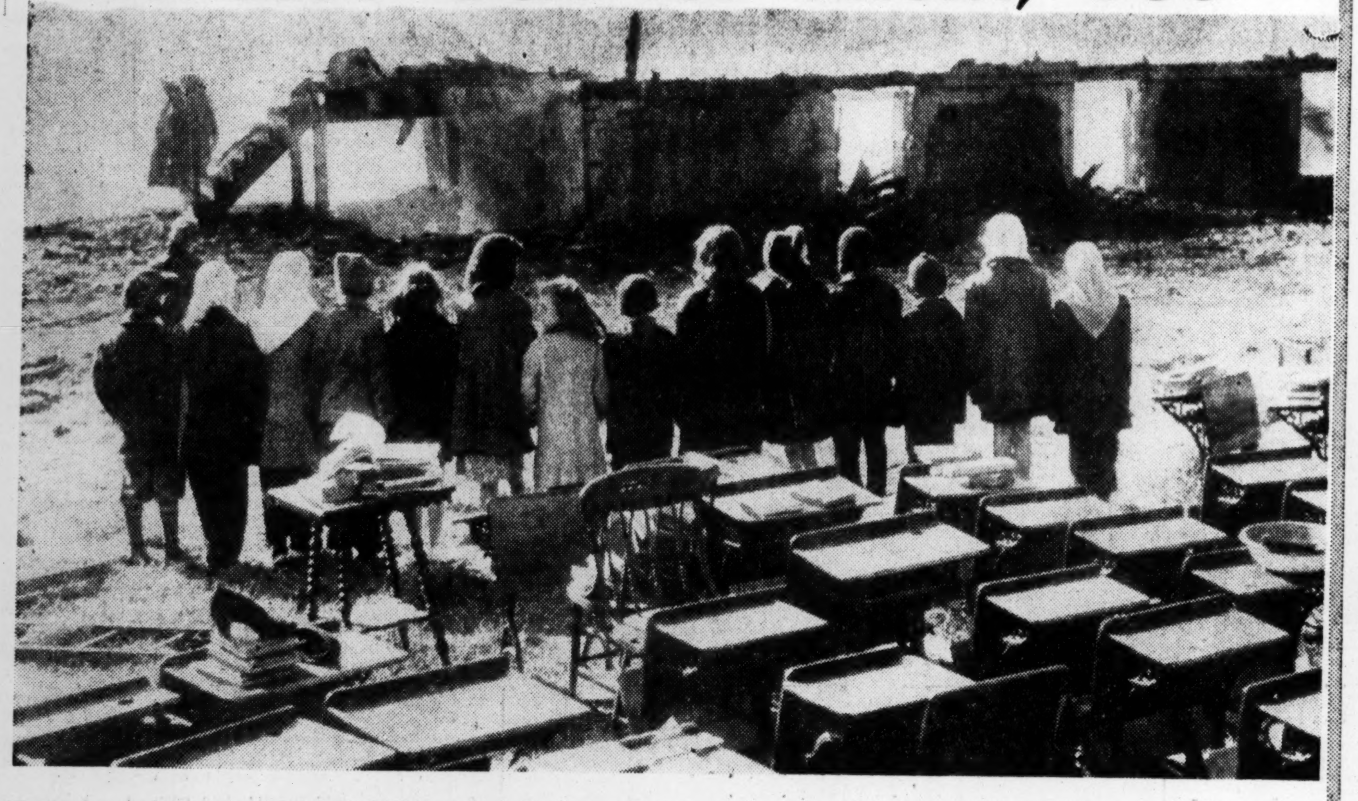
Knowing that you have matches, he will grow more and more careless about maintaining his own supply. He will no longer bother to accept packets of matches offered him when he buys tobacco, or to filch the packet from the table where he has his lunch.

The habit of borrowing matches will grow to the point where he will ask you for a match before he has searched his own pockets. No doubt later he will discover matches of his own that he could have used, but he will say nothing about it on the ground that it is too insignificant to mention.

Not only that, but when friends of his come to him with requests for matches, he will politely pass them on to you. Before long you will acquire an enviable reputation as a man who has matches. From then on everybody with anything to light will beat a path to your door.

If you yearn to be a benefactor of mankind, accommodate the first friend who asks for a match. Otherwise, it will be to your advantage, without searching your pockets or looking into your top desk drawer, to reply, "I'm sorry, but I don't think I have one."

School's Out for Them, Too



Viewing the charred ruins of their Bethel Township school near Chester, Pa., are some of the 34 children who escaped unharmed from the burning building. Unaware that a real fire was raging, the youngsters filed out in orderly fashion when a teacher sounded the alarm for a routine fire drill.

LINER YUKON AFTER PREVIOUS WRECK

This picture of the liner Yukon, which went aground and broke in two on the Alaskan coast after sailing from Seward for Seattle, was made when it was damaged previously in a collision in Puget Sound in 1938. Forty-seven women and children of the nearly 500 persons aboard were taken off by a Coast Guard cutter before the ship cracked. Three men who were washed overboard were rescued.

One-Woman Sitdown Strike

For three days and nights, this woman visitor from Brooklyn has been keeping a sphinx-like vigil in the lobby of the Essex House, a Miami Beach (Fla.) hotel, ignoring all questions and spurning food since being ousted from her room Saturday night. She had obtained the room Friday for one night only. Irving Hermann, hotel manager, said she registered as Mrs. H. Epstein.

WELCOMING G.I. WIVES TO U.S.

To the strains of "Here Comes the Bride" from an Army band, English wives of American soldiers and their babies debark in New York from the liner Argentina, after a stormy Atlantic crossing. The vessel, which docked yesterday, brought in 456 women and 170 children bound for new homes in 44 states.

CARDINAL GLENNON'S TITULAR CHURCH

Exterior view (left) and interior (above) of the ancient Church of San Clemente, Rome, assigned to John Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis as his titular church upon his investiture Feb. 18-21. Views show the upper and newer church, dating from the twelfth century; the lower church, excavated in 1858, was built in the fifth century or earlier. San Clemente, or St. Clement's, is in charge of Irish Dominicans and previously was assigned to the late William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston.

BROADWAY

By WALTER WINCHELL

Notes of an Innocent Bystander

THE THEATERS: Theatrically the week was a seven-day intermission. The lull was broken only by the sound of money tinkling in boxoffices. Shows are thriving a la Wall Street. . . . According to Variety—even the plays which attracted so-so notices are in the bonanza division. . . . Boston sentinels went on a posy-tossing spree for Mary Martin in "Lute Song." It is due here Wednesday. . . . This has been a peak season for revivals. Four oldies returned and all are hits. . . . "The Magnificent Yankee" is packing them in. It gives the mind something to nibble on long after you leave the theater.

THE CINEMAGICIANS: A John Bull contrib, "Madonna of the Seven Moons," records the heartbeats of a taut and throbbing drama. The cast showcases some of England's top greasepaint dazzlers. . . . "Pardon My Past" is a gaggy slice of lunacy with Fred MacMurray tossing chuckles like confetti. . . . "Getting Gertie's Garter," the farce, manages to retain some of its old gleam. Giving the garter its snap, Marie McDonald has the type of figure that invented the wink. . . . "People Are Funny" is a tidy little musical brushing moths out of hoary routines, featuring Jack Haley's sprightly pranks. . . . "Six P.M." is an inept Russian product. A third rater.

O, MY GOODNESS DEP'T: Lynne Young, proofreading a recent col'm, reports that Lord Byron (not La Rochefoucauld) auth'd "in her first passion woman loves her lover, in all the others all she loves is love." . . . The lines, she adds, come from the poem, "Don Juan" Canto the 3d. . . . "My goodness," writes Lynne, "corrrect it quickly! Or some guy in B'klyn will clip and send it to that picturesque speech dept., and poor Byron will twitch in his grave."

THE RADIORACLES: Senator Pepper mowed down his opponents with cold facts as usual. This time via the American Forum. One of the few Southerners who has his country at heart, not the Confederacy in mind. . . . Have a howl: Radio Station WQAM (Miami) has banned Count Basie's recording, "Queer Street." The darn thing doesn't have a lyric! . . . Barry (WOR) Gray was phoned by a woman listener who complimented him for his remarks on tolerance. Later she phoned again to tell him he was not so good because he praised a fellow she doesn't like. . . . WJZ's Janet Flanner paddled the squat-spots of jumpy Americans who hop on chairs at the sight of the word communism. Make Democracy so efficient and attractive, Miss Flanner admonished, that it will give the commies sleepless nights.

THE PRESS BOX: A New York evening newspaper published a rebuke to the organizers of a recent rally at the Garden. The rebuke came from one of the backers, the Rev. Wm. J. Smith of Brooklyn. Father Smith (in his weekly newsletter) blamed "someone for sabotaging" the rally. He cited two speakers, who "turned their hand to rabble-rousing." . . . That's exactly what this reporter charged several times only to be attacked by some who yelled we were against them all. . . . Father Smith also confirmed us when he said a rally speaker turned out to be the author of a violently anti-Catholic pamphlet. . . . The New York newspaper also disclosed that Gerald L. K. Smith, "who for years traded on anti-Catholicism and anti-Semitism," took credit for the event with these quoted (Smith) words: "America Firsters supplied the strategic key men who organized that rally." . . . That's what we kept warning—only to be accused of trying to smear it!

Clare Luce: It's such a scarey feeling to see wrinkles creeping in—time's little mice. . . . L. Brown: You can't draw from sweet memories unless you make regular deposits. . . . B. D. Gibson: The beach displayed a wide variety of feminudity. . . . Anon: A career is all right for a woman, but she can't run her fingers through its hair.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A WEDDING present of small coffee cups was obviously an unfortunate choice for the reader who writes me this letter: "I have a beautiful coffee service that was given to me for a wedding present. We are just ordinary people who never serve formal meals, so when and how can I use this set? The men in my family all like breakfast-size cups of coffee and the cups to this coffee set are very small. Could I serve afternoon coffee in them? It is such a beautiful set, I would like to be able to use it."

If neither you nor your friends like strong black coffee, the cups will be useless. But it is quite possible, however, to serve both kinds of coffee after meals—very strong in the little cups and ordinary strength in the big and perhaps, you will be pleasantly surprised to find that many like the little cups of coffee of double strength. This last is essential.

DEAR MRS. POST: When should one draw the line in sending engraved invitations to distant relatives and friends? In our case there are a great many more relatives and friends who can't come than there are who can. Therefore, we are being married in the chapel of our church with perhaps 50 or 60 guests at the most. However, in view of the fact that were the circumstances different, we would have our wedding in the big church, does this make it proper to send all these absent ones formal invitations to the chapel?

Answer: Positively yes! Remember that an invitation means "we wish you could be present"; an announcement means "a marriage took place to which you were not invited."

DEAR MRS. POST: Are there any occasions when it is better form to spell out "Reverend" and prefix it with "The"?

Answer: "The Reverend" spelled out is in unquestionably best taste but it is rather too formal for ordinary usage. "The Rev. Henry Jones" is usual and correct. Of greatest importance is the exaction that if his Christian name be unknown to you, he must be addressed as The Rev. Mr. Jones. "The Reverend Jones" is very bad form.

DEAR MRS. POST: Is it correct to wear a tailored suit to a semi-public tea?

Answer: Yes.

'Worst Enemy Of Marriage Is Boredom'

By Elsie Robinson

BLASE husbands, bored wives—what's the matter?

"We love each other," they say, "and there isn't anyone else. But somehow the interest seems to have gone out of everything."

They love—but they're no longer "in love."

There's a line in a play, "The Silver Cord," that stresses that important distinction.

"It isn't loving each other that's the important thing between husbands and wives," cries Christine, "it's being in love!"

LOVE CAN BE as remote as the morning star.

Or as near as the pulse of your leaping heart.

You can "love" the martyrs of Armenia.

Or St. Francis of Assisi.

Or Abraham Lincoln.

Or even your mother-in-law.

You can love multitudes of people with tenderness and tolerance and gratitude and generosity and good nature and other nice, moderate virtues.

And such love will sustain you through every relationship in life save that of marriage.

But you can't just "love" your husband or your wife and experience real marriage.

You must be "in love."

And to be "in love" you must love a perpetual adventure.

You must manage to retain your curiosity about each other.

Otherwise your marriage is going to go as flat on your hands as last week's waffle.

THE WORST ENEMY of marriage is boredom.

Loving without being in love.

If you are about to marry, decide to keep yourself "in love."

If you are already married, and beginning to go a bit stale, make every effort to get back to that happy condition.

Take vacations from each other.

Spring surprises on each other.

Be a person once more, and not just a husband or wife.

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

LONDON.

IT is extremely difficult for us in the United States to conceive of the conditions confronting the people in the countries of Europe today, and even here in Great Britain.

For instance, it has been announced that the British government will not be able to buy any more powdered eggs from us, and that means, of course, that the people will no longer be able to buy them. We in the United States are not very fond of powdered eggs, but this announcement caused consternation among the British.

IN MY MAIL is a letter which tells me in no uncertain terms what this will mean to the average British home. I quote from it here:

"I wonder if your 'folks at home' know what it means to us to be deprived of the dried eggs they have been sending us. This deprivation is almost certainly one of the worst we have been called upon to face.

"We can now have no scrambled eggs for breakfast (already reserved for men and children only in most households). We can never give the children Yorkshire pudding and gravy on the many non-meat days. We can never serve pancakes for pudding, and there is only enough milk for one milk pudding a week. We can never make any sort of cake. What confectioners will do seems impossible to surmise.

"WE LOVED your boys especially for their wonderful kindness to our children. What they will think of this, I don't know. They know of our struggle to get fed."

I think this letter illustrates as well as anything else the little things which affect some nations greatly and leave us completely untouched at home. Though the war is over, the people here and in Europe are hardly as well able as we are to settle down to a normal life.

Use floured scissors to cut dried fruits, marshmallows and raisins.

Be Kind, Considerate

By Angelo Patri

THE happiness of each day rests with each of us. If we are kind and considerate those who meet us are sent on their way with lighter hearts, lighter steps, and brighter faces. The happiness shed by one is spread to hosts.

Being kind does not seem to be much of a task but somehow there is never enough of it to go all the way round. The supervisor who enters a classroom and says to the teacher, "This is absolutely useless work. You owe the taxpayers money," is not kind, is not helping at all. The already burdened teacher is weighted to earth, she is in tears of the spirit. What good is that?

THE VISITING RELATIVE who says to a weary mother, one who is not a very good executive, "My goodness, why don't you put some order into this mess? You make me sick," is not helping. She is adding to the cause of the mess, a troubled tired spirit, when she should have said or done something to lift that weary soul.

There are many things in this world, many things in your life and mine that need correction and adjustment. We would all do better if we could. I have known many teachers and never did I meet one who was not anxious to do all that he could do to make things come out right. Some of them made mistakes but not willfully, and they needed no harsh words. They needed a friendly word, a hand up, a little simple kindness. It is help that is wanted.

It would help mightily if some of the superior workers known as supervisors of schools, social work, factories, anywhere that people are working—it would help if some of these upper folk would take off their coats and show how. Practical work, work with the material, the people, the children, soon removes any haughty spirit of superiority and brings out understanding and kindness.

WHEN A PERSONAL CRITICISM of a poor job must be made, study to be kind. Make friends with the one who needs your help before you offer it in terms of harsh words and looks. You cannot help anybody while filled with scorn or anger or hate. You have to fill your heart and mind with love, love of the work, love of the people doing that work, and you must know how to do it yourself in the stead of the worker. Kindness is the oil of life's machinery and it is an essential to successful work and happy living.

Oatmeal Muffins

Add one cup rolled oats to one cup buttermilk and soak for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, sift flour, measure one cup all purpose flour, and resift three times with half teaspoon salt, one and a half teaspoons baking powder, half teaspoon soda, and two tablespoons sugar. Beat one egg and combine with buttermilk and oat mixture; add one-fourth cup melted shortening and pour all at once into center of dry ingredients. Beat vigorously until dry ingredients are just dampened; then give four or five more quick stirs. Batter should not be smooth. Dip quickly into buttered muffin pans, filling them two-thirds full. Bake in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve piping hot, with butter or margarine. Makes 12 medium sized muffins.

Keep powdered sugar in tightly covered glass or tin containers to prevent lumping.

BIRTHS RECORDED.

Important to parents of children born in Greater St. Louis: If your names do not appear in the birth column within two weeks after the birth of your child, call the physician or midwife and insist that a record be sent to the Board of Vital Statistics, Room No. 10 Municipal Courts Building.

TRUMAN FORMALLY NAMES GREGORY WAR SURPLUS CHIEF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman formally nominated Lt. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory today to be War Assets Administrator under a planned reorganization of surplus property activities.

The Gregory nomination was sent to the Senate following last week's executive order calling for liquidation of the Surplus Property Administration.

Under the order, the current War Assets Corporation, which Gen. Gregory now heads, will carry on surplus property disposal work pending establishment of the War Assets Administration, effective March 25, also under Gen. Gregory's direction. The President has directed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to dissolve the War Assets Corporation as soon after March 25 as practicable.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM 20 years old and engaged to a boy, 19. While he was overseas, I started dating a nice boy four years my senior. He is much in love with me and I find myself in love with him. He is out of the service and wants to marry me. His parents are very fond of me, whereas the first boy's parents never write to me. I know this second boy and I will do well together, but I don't know what to tell the first boy. Should I marry the second one or keep my promise?

PUZZLED.

• Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

It would be unfair to the first boy to marry him just because you promised to do so. If you are quite sure the second boy is the one you want, the only honorable thing you can do is to write your fiance and tell him of your change of heart and mind rather than letting him go on being deceived. But be sure you do know your mind this time and that the old flame won't be revived when your original fiance returns.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

So many people complain about children who come into their homes and destroy furniture. Yet did anyone ever look at it from the other side? A few nights ago my husband and I were up quite late when a couple dropped in uninvited. They came in after a drinking party and our little girl's doll was sitting on the dresser and this woman put a lighted cigarette in her hand and forgot about it. When we discovered it, it had burned the doll's hand, dress and dresser scarf. A few minutes later her 250-pound husband came riding into the front room on the baby's tricycle, bending the seat and pedals. Well, I wish some of these adults could have seen this heartbroken little girl, when she saw her treasured possessions ruined. She is still crying about it.

I never have trouble getting children to mind me because I step into their world and think as if I were a child that age. They have to be guided along gently the right way, and I'll bet a lot of them think what a terrible, cruel, heartless thing an adult is. When I read an ad saying, "Adults only," I think if it were a child writing it, it would read, "Children only, adults are too destructive and haven't brains to live with children."

MOTHER.

No doubt you are possessed of a patient spirit but most of us react more sharply to broken furniture and general destruction. Destructive adults or child are a menace and it may well be that the destructive adults are those who were not led gently—or firmly—along the right way, in childhood. If your friends did not offer to make restitution for the damage, I think I'd be inclined to be "out" on the occasion of their next visit, just as you would be justified in failing to invite back the parents of children who leave havoc in their wake. Incidentally and in passing, if your little girl indulged in several days of crying over broken toys, this would be an excellent opportunity to teach her that a sense of humor and sense of proportion rather than too much self pity will stand her in better stead through life's unavoidable calamities.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM 17 and in high school. About a year and a half ago I went with a boy five or six times within two months. I never thought any more of him than any other boy until the last couple of times. My girl friend and her boy friend broke up at this time, and since he and my friend went around together, we drifted apart. I have gone out with other boys only to become dissatisfied, and then I have to hurt their feelings. By his actions toward me and by other things, I am sure he feels the same way about me, but he seems so shy as if he thinks I will refuse him. I know I'm young to have serious thoughts, but I would like so much to find a way to bring us together. How can I go about this? LONELY.

Are you sure you're not indulging in a little wishful thinking concerning this boy? Most boys, even the shy type, can find some way to ask a girl for a date if they're very anxious to see her again, especially if they've gone out with her in the past. Aside from being friendly when you meet, there's no way you can get him to renew the acquaintance, although, if you can do so without being too obvious, you might have your girl friend or some other mutual friend invite the two of you to a party. But after this one attempt, let him make the advances.

IN ANSWER TO "Just Deeply in Love": Wait for at least three years until you are old enough to marry. You are much too young now to know your own mind, and if it is the real thing it will stand the test of time.

Appropriate Coiffure

By Patricia Lindsay

A GIRL on a ranch would look silly with her hair dressed high in a bird's nest of soft puffs and curls, wouldn't she? Yet, fashion promoted such a coiffure this winter.

That proves that you should wear the coiffure that is appropriate for you, the locality, the occasion, your age. Then you will be showing good taste and establishing a personality.

New coiffures which are thought up by a few hairdressers in a handful of cities are usually extreme. They are the ultra. You must adapt the part of the trend which most flatters you. If the trend in no way flatters, simply ignore it.

I know women who have followed hair fashions so long that they have ruined their hair. They have cut it very short, curled it gamin fashion, then let it grow long and used artificial buns and braids while it was growing out. They have bleached it or tinted it or permanented it to a lifeless mass. They have snarled it in dressing it and broken it wretchedly.

Far better to ignore fashion completely than to ruin your hair. Two permanents a year is all hair should be asked to stand and if you can get along with one, do so. Be scientific in the care of your scalp and hair. Do not bleach and burn it in the sun. Do not let your scalp get dry and scaly during the winter months when you are confined to overheated homes and offices. Select scalp aids as intelligently as you select your face creams and use them regularly.

Then determine the coiffure which suits you best and cling to it for several years with little variations. My hat is off to the young things who have held to the modified page boy and the simple ribbon band. That is youthful, the hair can be kept healthy, the style is appropriate for activities of that age group. Mature women should be as sensible!

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

COOKS the world around generally believe the souffle is one of the trickiest or most temperamental of foods to prepare. Once they learn how to bake one successfully, they wonder why they ever had any fears of failure. The ingredients are the simplest possible—butter, flour, milk, eggs and one additional such as cheese, corn, ham, chicken. The first three are made into a medium thick white sauce. Then egg yolks are generally beaten into the hot sauce along with the extra ingredient. Then egg whites beaten stiff are folded in so carefully that the whole mass is just about as puffy as the whites themselves.

When this fluffy mixture is baked, the air within is bound to expand and the result is souffle. But in baking, it is important to cook egg whites at a low enough temperature and for long enough time to stand alone and hold their shape. This low temperature does not mean that the oven has to be really set at 325 degrees F. A wonderful souffle can be baked at 375 degrees F., provided the casserole is set in a pan of water to bake. The temperature of the water around the souffle never gets any hotter than boiling. This permits one to bake other foods that cook best at a higher temperature right in the same oven.

Another controversial point about the making of souffles is the greasing of the casserole. A greased one produces a side and bottom crust that is browner than one that is not greased and the crust comes loose from the sides easily. In an ungreased one, the souffle sticks to the sides and it rises somewhat higher. This attachment makes it more difficult for the soufle to fall down. When the souffle is baked in a pan of water, the sides and bottom do not brown. But if the foods that are cooked in the oven can be removed a short time before the souffle has finished baking, it can be removed from the water to finish baking on the oven rack and only a few minutes of extra baking will enable the souffle to acquire a beautiful crust on the sides and bottom.

Corn Souffle.

Three tablespoons butter, one-fourth cup flour, half teaspoon salt, one cup milk, four eggs, separated; one teaspoon chopped onion, one-fourth cup chopped celery, three-fourths cup drained whole kernel corn, one tablespoon green pepper, finely chopped; one tablespoon chopped parsley.

Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt and milk on top of double boiler over boiling water. Beat the egg yolks. Gradually add the hot white sauce stirring to keep smooth. Return to double boiler and cook for two minutes. Add remaining ingredients except egg whites and mix well. Partially cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a greased six-cup casserole and bake at 325 degrees F. for one hour or until golden brown and tests done. Serve immediately. Four generous servings.

MENUS FOR WEDNESDAY.

Breakfast — Sliced oranges, scrambled eggs, oatmeal muffins.

Luncheon—Cream corn souffle, green pepper and lettuce salad, whipped cherry flavored gelatin, remainder chocolate cake.

Dinner — Meat loaf, escalloped potatoes, buttered spinach, cabbage and carrot salad, sour cream prune pie.

Scallions a la King

If your family and friends rebel at eating spring onions, or scallions, raw, try making an "a la king" dish out of them, that is tasty as it is easy on the digestive apparatus.

Cut the roots and tops from two bunches of scallions and wash them well. Cook them in boiling salted water for about 15 minutes, or until they are tender. Then drain them.

Wash and peel a cup of mushrooms, cut them in half and saute them in butter until browned and tender. Add them to a cup of medium white sauce, stir all well, check for seasoning and pour over the scallions, which have been placed on slices of hot buttered toast.

A quick and easy version of this can be made with canned cream of mushrooms soup—just jazz it up with extra seasoning, heat it through and pour over the scallions.

He Sings of the Gasconade

Herb Duncan Has Written of This Stream as Has No Other Poet

By F. A. Behymer

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

ROLLA, Mo., Feb. 4.

HERB DUNCAN . . . AFTER BEING AWAY TO THE WARS FOR FIVE YEARS, HE'S BACK NEAR HIS BELOVED RIVER.

FOLKS who live along the Gasconade say it's singin' again, now that Herb Duncan is back. For five years he was away at the wars and it seemed like, the old-timers say, the river missed him and its singin' was stilled. Now its voice is raised as it was before he went away. And there's singin', too, in the heart of Herb Duncan because he is back on the Gasconade.

Folks call Herb Duncan the Poet of the Gasconade because he has written of it as no other poet has. Time was when the Gasconade was not known as other Ozarks rivers were. Seemed like all the poets had missed it. They had lined their lyrics about the other streams that are the Ozarks' glory but the Gasconade had gone its way, singing its song with nobody to listen. Nobody, that is, with ears to hear and a heart to understand.

Then, one day, Herb Duncan came along and stood there under the castle rocks, and listened and heard the voice that seemed mortal to him, or perhaps more than mortal. "Why, it's singing," he said, lifted up, and he named it the Singing Gasconade. And because of the poems that he wrote about it they called him the Poet of the Gasconade. Now, though he has been away for years, it is still as the Poet of the Gasconade that he is known, remembered as such even where his true name has been forgotten.

It seemed to Herb Duncan when he listened that the singing he heard was—more than the voice of the river—the voice of all nature and the singing of nature's creatures. He put it into homely words:

"Hear that old cow mooin',
Listen to that rooster crow,
An' hear that old hen cackle,
Feel the March wind swish and blow—"

But a man who lived there and had listened long said no, the sounds that came up from the river were not the mooin' of cows and sich as that—

"Son, that cow ain't mooin',
An' that rooster never crows,
The old hen, she ain't cacklin',
Most ever'body knows;
The March wind ain't a-blowin'
'Long the river by the glade,
Shucks, no, they're all a-singin',
Singin' Gasconade!"

Herb Duncan belonged to the river and it belonged to him because it flowed in the veins of his people. Along both banks they had been born, lulled by its lullaby, and there they had lived and died and had been laid away in Bloomgarden cemetery, with the waters intoning their requiem. He had gone away to the town where the factories were, but above the crash of the steel mills he had heard the river's murmur and always he answered its call with the poems that rose above the grinding gears and the grime.

It was duty that held the poet in the town where the factories were, the duty of making a home for the mother who was "as much a part of the Ozark hills as the flowers, the sun and the rain."

On the Gasconade, hard by the tiny town of Iberia, Herb Duncan lived when he was a boy and the river claimed him for its own long before he knew of the claim or acknowledged it. In high school here at Rolla, away from the river, he felt the spell as he had not felt it when he was near it and wrote about it in words of simple beauty because he missed it and longed for it, putting forth the poetry that had been the river's gift to him.

Something else, though, the river had given him, a kinship with its vagrant mood. As it wandered through the hills, heedless of where it went, he would wander through the world. He wandered far, knowing himself for what he was, a hobo, and learning about life the hard hobo way.

He stood in the bread line in a winter rain that drenched the thin shirt on his back. He walked the streets all night when it was too cold to sleep on a park bench. He worked on a section gang in the blazing sun of Arizona and on a sheep ranch in New Mexico. He got 30 days on a prison gang down in Mississippi for riding the blind baggage, but the judge let him off. He saw hunger and knew hunger himself. He shared his grub with those who needed it more than he, dissembling his own craving.

That was the way folks did down on the Gasconade when there was need and he wouldn't dishonor his upbringing.

HE learned the evil, but, better, he learned the good. Best remembered, he learned that shared hardships made human hearts wondrous kind. He learned that from the western Kansas woman who shared her family's food with him. When he knew that it was relief food he refused to eat, but the woman said: "You eat that grub, son. If my husband ever heard that I turned a hungry man from my door he'd kick hell out of me."

Things like that Herb Duncan, hoboing, learned and when he ended his wanderings he was wiser than he would have been if he had stayed on the Gasconade. Besides, the Gasconade was more beautiful to him now that he knew something of the ugliness of the world beyond the hills. So he wrote of the Singing Gasconade as one who had done with discord and had been washed, as it were, in its waters.

Back to the Gasconade he would have gone, but there was a duty that called, to make a home for his mother where wages were to be won. So into the mills he went, giving his toil and sweat to them but leaving his heart in the Gasconade's keeping. He dreamed of it and sang of it and somehow, in the strange way that things happen among the hill people, it was narrated among the elect down here that up at Granite City toiling in the mills was a poet who knew and loved the Gasconade as nobody else did or could.

Something that he had written came to the notice of Hazel Heavin, who is a friend to the men and women of the Ozarks who write. She hailed as something the precious talent of Herb Duncan and gave him the name of the Poet of the Gasconade which has been his ever since.

May Kennedy McCord, sometimes called the Queen of the Hillbillies, right royally reigning over all the hillbilly poets, touched Herb Duncan with her wand and gave him prominence. A volume of his writings, called Singing Gasconade, won acclaim and if it had not been for the war Herb Duncan, Poet of the Gasconade, might well have gone on to high places. But duty called when the war came and it sent him overseas. There, in the crash of conflict, the voice of the poet was hushed. He couldn't sing the old songs or summon the new. Once in the Bavarian Alps he saw a river that looked like the Gasconade and he would have written about it, but the words wouldn't come. After all, it wasn't the Gasconade.

One day, though hurt with longing, the soldier wrote:

Oh, friend, be not afraid,
For your heart will find its healing,
Down by the Gasconade.
"Down by her cooling waters,
Down on her lovely shore,
You cannot want for better,
God cannot give you more."

ALL that he asked of God was to let him live and come again to the Gasconade's lovely shore. "I am young and I want to live," he wrote from over there. "I don't fear death as greatly as some, because I have my own clear aspect of death and in my eyes it is not so terrible. But God keep me from spilling my blood on the battlefields of Europe."

He was kept from spilling his blood on the battlefields of Europe and the other day he came back to his America and to his Gasconade. Years had gone out of his life and his place in the world was yet to be won, but as he had once written, the air was his, the flowers were his, God was his, though he wasn't as religious as he should be, he could think as he pleased and dream of things to be, even if the dream never came true. But it would come true. He would make it come true. He would not go back to the mills. He would write what was in his heart, the simple songs of home and hill and running waters. He would stay close to the Gasconade and tell its story.

There will be struggle and perhaps, sometimes, the heartache of unrewarded endeavor but—

"Someday I know I'll wander
With my fortune lost or made,
To a fireside way down yonder
On the banks of the Gasconade."

And when his work on earth is done there'll be no need of going away, for once, in fancy, he asked a hillman the way to heaven and the hillman answered proudly-like it was just about a mile. And sure enough—

"I thanked him and went my way
Across a hill and glade,
And lo! When I had walked a mile
I found the Gasconade."

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW.

Sun in Aquarius.

General Tendencies — You will have livelier tendencies tomorrow than were noticeable earlier in the week, but somehow I believe you should watch out for mistakes. Probably your hunches are good —outside conditions are against their fulfillment at this time. One of the best trends for the present 24 hours is that which includes travel, electrical work, invention, and politics. These things can be very progressive if they affect your daily activities. If you try to enter the field of romance, you are apt to be disappointed, however.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

Notice March, July and next November for special activities. Your coming year jumps from pillar to post in interests, with these months most prominent. It seems quite evident that a change of surroundings or work lies ahead of you. You may, of course, turn this down if you like, but it will be hard to avoid some new details and interests. By the way, take friends as they come and go this Spring—if you find that they do the latter, do not harbor any regrets about the fact.

Sometimes grated carrot can be used as a substitute for pineapple in a recipe and the substitution is hardly noticeable.

When making a dry stuffing, do not add milk or water to the breadcrumbs.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

IT is an excellent idea, on defense, to stop and figure what the declarer must hold for the bids he made, but any estimate of this sort must take second place to the far more reliable guide of the cards played, high or low, by one's own partner. Consider today's deal:

South, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	Pass
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
6 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

South was fully aware, when he jumped to two no trump over his partner's one heart, that he would be misleading North as to the honor-trick strength of the South hand. However, South's playing strength at no trump was so great that no lesser bid seemed to fit the case. When North, reading the South hand as replete with aces and kings, jumped all the way to six hearts, South took the contract back to no trump because it was inconceivable that if six hearts could be made, six no trump would not be equally good, and there was the important consideration of not allowing the opening lead to go through either of South's black kings.

It was well for the fortunes of the North-South pair that South took this final action, because six hearts would not have had the ghost of a chance, whereas six no trump—but that's the story!

West laid down the spade ace, then carefully studied the dummy while he thought about South's super-strong bidding. No second lead looked very propitious, but West finally concluded that while South might have lacked the spade king, he certainly could not have bid so much without the club ace. Hence, West led another spade. The king won, dummy was entered with a heart, and declarer discarded a club on the spade queen. He then ran every diamond—and East was squeezed! Six no trump, bid and made!

All of West's figuring didn't alter the fact that East's play of the lowest spade "missing" to West demanded a shift, which could only be to clubs.
